Quo Warranto Proceedings Against Lake Street Road.

IN THE PEOPLE'S NAME.

Attorneys Allege Surface Road Officials Are Responsible.

CHARGES OF ILLEGALITY.

Petitions Said Not to Represent Sufficient Property Frontage.

STATEMENTS OF BOTH SIDES.

Quo warranto proceedings against the Lake Street Elevated Railroad company were begun yesterday by State's Attorney Kern before Judge Brentano. There are many unusual things about the procedure. Attorneys for the company state without qualification that Charles T. Yerkes and the West Division company are behind the attack. They point out that such lawyers as Judge Moran, Julius S. Grinnell, Judge Green, and Dexter, Herrick & Allen have written opinions sustaining the ordinances, the validity of which is attacked, and ask why the State's Attorney should see fit to take the matter up at this late date, particularly when it comes more nearly under the province of the Attorney-General to institute such proceedings. As stated yesterday in THE TRIBUNE the report that quo warranto proceedings were to be begun broke the price of Lake street stock several points on the stock exchange and the friends of the company profess to see also a bear stock jobbing movement in the deal. Mr. Yerkes is prompt to deny any connection with the proceedings and State's Attorney Kern says he is simply doing his duty as he sees it.

The information on which Judge Brentano yesterday ordered processes to issue is an extremely bulky document. In it is recited at length the stormy history of the Lake Street L from the time of the passage of the original ordinance down to the present time. Beginning with that ordinance and going on step by step the information charges illegality and invalidity against almost every action of the company. Mile by mile the petitions of property-owners on which the ordinances were granted are taken up, and it is charged that not in any single mile were the signatures of a legal majority of the property-owners obtained. To back these charges are the affidavits and plats of surveyors.

Ex-Judge Richard Prendergast appears in the case as the attorney for certain aggrieved property-holders, and he states that his clients are behind the entire proceedings. Meanwhile there is a lively exchange of recrimination between the opposing interests and a bitter fight seems certain.

Ten days ago the officials of the Lake Street L heard incidentally that quo warranto proceedings would be instituted, but up to last evening no notice had been served upon them.

Confidential Information.

Over a week ago a letter was received by one of the contractors of the Lake Street Elevated railway company. It was dated at Philadelphia and was from a bank in that city interested in Mr. Yerkes and his projects. This letter was turned over yesterday to President Roche and is as follows:

I have direct, authentic information that steps will soon be taken to prevent the Lake Street Elevated road from operating its trains. The parties who will apply for an injunction are the owners of the West Side surface road. For some time past they have been at work collecting evidence and testimony which will give them a proper footing in court, and I understand that they have unearthed in their investigations a number of fraudulent signatures to the petition papers and other illegal actions done by the "McDonald" crowd in obtaining their franchise. Knowing how much you were interested in this matter, I send you this information with the request that you will regard the source of it as confidential.

Statement of the Road's Attorney.

Clarence A. Knight, of the firm of Knight & Brown, attorneys for the Lake Street road, said yesterday:

Provided the court granted the quo warranto, one of two things could be done. They could either prevent us from operating on the street and carrying on business, although they could not stop the construction of the road or the running of trains. They could fine us any amount from $1 to $25,000 for illegally using the street—that is, providing Mr. Yerkes' view of the case is taken. Since 1889 Mr. Yerkes has had a bill in the Circuit Court on the very same grounds given in that letter, but he has never yet been able to obtain judgment. State's Attorney Kern has had the bill under advisement over a week without letting any one know anything about it. He has never allowed his name to be used before in a quo warranto proceeding attacking the public. At the time of the fight between the Chicago West Division railroad and the Adams street line Judge Beckwith, representing the West Division road, asked Judge Grinnell, then State's-Attorney, to allow the use of his name to commence proceedings against the Adams street line. He declined to do so on the ground that it was a fight between two street railway corporations, and if any interference was required on the part of the people it should come through the Attorney-General and not through the State's-Attorney.

We applied to Attorney Kern this morning and asked him to hold the papers until he could hear our case. If, after hearing it, he thought it should be done we would make no complaint. He declined to give us a hearing. Every time we have got ready for some important move on the road Yerkes rehashes his old charges in a bill in chancery or some other form.

If the State's-Attorney really wants to accomplish some good for the public why doesn't he ask Mr. Yerkes to show by what authority, under the name of the West Chicago Street railway company, he is using the property of the Chicago West Division railway company, and also why the North Chicago Street railway company is using the property and exercising the franchise of the North Chicago railroad company? He has the same or even greater basis for attacking those two organizations than for attacking the Lake street road. Our road is being pushed as fast as men and money will allow. The iron is all bought and paid for, and the road is completed to Garfield Park. The Market street line was completed from Madison street to Lake street in two weeks. We expect to have the line in operation by November 1.

Grounds of the Proceedings.

The information filed yesterday before Judge Brentano purports to have been brought in the interest of property-owners along the line and the necessary formal order for the institution of proceedings was entered without debate. The broad ground on which the legality of the company's franchise is attacked is that the petitions on which the original and subsequent ordinances were granted by the City Council did not represent the required amount of property frontage along the line. Valentine C. Brahm, No. 294 Walnut street, and William H. Sullivan, No. 1092 West Lake street, affirmed themselves property-owners interested.

Describing in detail the intentions of the company, the bill continues to charge that the transfer of the Lake Street Elevated railway company to the Lake Street Elevated railroad company, and the attempt to confirm the franchise by extending the time for the road not completed is void. The information declares that whatever rights might have been granted by the ordinance of 1890 expired by limitation in two years from that date owing to the incompleted state of the road from Canal street to Crawford avenue.

In support of the petition an affidavit by Gustaf H. Carlson, a surveyor, and an officer of the Greely-Carlson company was filed. He avers that he has made careful examination of the certified copies of petitions signed by owners of property on Lake street. As a result of such surveys, compared with frontage petitions, the affidavit declares that such petitions are not signed by persons owning a majority of the lot frontage on Lake street. One of the petitions referred to is signed by the Fraser & Chalmers company. Carlson, the affiant, declares that Thomas Chalmers, President of the company, has stated under oath that he did not know the signature and knew of no authority for it.

Alleged Shortages.

In summing up his researches Carlson says that lawful signatures upon the petitions on the first mile from Canal street represent 2,473.40 feet frontage, while 4,235 feet are required. In the second mile he alleges that 1,399.63 feet purporting to have been signed for were represented by persons not at the time of the passage of the ordinances owners of the particular frontage. According to this calculation the affidavit declares that in the second mile from Canal street 2,622.07 feet have been signed for legally, which is 1,049.83 feet less than the required one-half. The shortage alleged in the third section is said to be 1,379.09 feet. In the fourth mile, at 193,057.

Attorney for Property-Owners.

Ex-Judge Prendergast, who represents nearly 100 property-owners interested in the legal proceedings, said yesterday:

My clients claim that they have been deprived of their rights and insist that the "L" company has no authority to operate its road on Lake street. They claim that they have been subjected to a loss in business and a damage to their property, and it is purposed to find out if possible by what authority the road proposes to go ahead. We have no action for damages in which we can secure judgment against the company until the engines and cars are put on and trains are regularly running. Then there will be no doubt but what the property will be further damaged by the falling of soot and cinders. We claim that the statutes provide that before an ordinance is passed giving a franchise and existence to a corporation of this nature the consent of the property-owners owning a majority of the frontage in each consecutive mile must be first obtained. We assert that this was not done and that, therefore, constituted one of the legal reasons which we cite in objection to the completion and operation of the road. Then again, as stated, the two years' time prescribed in the ordinance for the completion of the road has expired and it is not finished. A blunder was made in incorporating the concern and not remedied until a number of months had passed. We consider that all these reasons go to prove our claim and establish the grounds for our procedure.

The Lake Street "L" road, which is thus tied up at least temporarily extends from Market and Madison streets, as its down-town terminal, to Garfield Park at the west. The overhead structure as far as California avenue is completed, the rolling stock on hand, and it was expected that regular trains would be running within a few weeks. Arrangements had been made to send out eight trains every ten minutes if the travel warrants, and, as the wards traversed by the road and tributary to it contain 20 per cent of the total population of the city, there is little doubt that the capacity of the road will be taxed.

The present officers of the company are: John A. Roche, President; and G. B. Shaw, C. H. Deere, J. H. Witbeck, D. W. Campbell, H. B. Thompson, and C. A. Knight of Chicago, and William Ziegler and John Moffatt of New York, directors.

What the State's-Attorney Says.

State's-Attorney Kern was seen last night at his residence, No. 100 Johnson street. He said, with reference to the Lake Street Elevated road case, that he had been considering the matter for ten days past and had decided that proof had been submitted to him that the company was working without warranty and in violation of its own charter. When asked whether the Attorney-General was a party to the case he said not so far as he knew. "Either the Attorney-General or the State's-Attorney for the proper county can bring quo warranto proceedings," he said. "If I refused or failed to act the Attorney-General would; but as a matter of fact I had no option when the facts were brought to my knowledge."

"Who are the prime movers in this matter?" he was asked.

"Mr. Keep first called my attention to it. He was retained by certain owners of land fronting on the railway."

"Will this litigation involve heavy expense to the county?"

"No. Nothing worth speaking of. The owners are chiefly interested and the burden of expense will fall on them."

"Does the fact that the company is pushing forward the completion of the railway make any difference in the issue raised?"

"No. That fact gives no security to the public that the work they are going on with is of public service. The company is working without a valid ordinance and in violation of the law."

"In the event of a decision that the present company have no valid ordinance they could act in virtue of an absolutely new ordinance, and to get that they would have to comply with the statutes by getting the consent of the owners of more than half the frontages along each mile of the railway.

"That would necessarily be a matter of bargain with the individuals concerned. The company would not lose their interest in any of the structure already erected, but they might be obliged to tear it down or the city might remove it."

"Can you say how many property-owners are interested in these proceedings?"

"No. I heard several names mentioned, but I have no recollection how many there were altogether. I had no occasion to note them, as I was only concerned with the evidence submitted in support of the charges."

CHICAGO DRUMMER SECURES A BRIDE.

Is Baptized in the Roman Catholic Faith Before He Can Be Married.

QUEBEC, Oct. 5.—[Special.]—A romantic story ended in a wedding at the Basilica this morning amid general rejoicing. The persons most interested were a handsome and accomplished young woman from the eastern townships, daughter of Mr. Frechette, member of the Dominion Parliament, a French Catholic, and a commercial drummer named Hipwell from Chicago. They met a few weeks ago and straightway fell in love, but the Roman Catholic clergy refused to marry them until Mr. Hipwell had renounced Protestantism. He was baptized in the Roman Catholic faith in the Basilica two hours before he was married.

PUT HIS HEAD INTO THE FURNACE.

Strange Suicide of a Graduate of the Harvard Divinity School.

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—Joseph Cornelius, of aristocratic connections in North Carolina, graduated from the Harvard Divinity School last year. He was continuing a course of special studies at the university when two weeks ago he was stricken with typhoid fever and was taken to the Massachusetts General Hospital. Last week Monday night he arose from his bed and eluding the attendants went down-stairs to the boiler-room and ended his life by putting his head into the furnace under the boiler. He was 25 years old and a bright scholar. The story of his suicide has just become known.

IN A DRIFTING MATCH.

VALKYRIE, BETTER HANDLED, CLEARLY OUTSAILS VIGILANT.

Both Yachts Retire After Four Hours' Maneuvering, with No Chance to Finish Within the Limit—Skipper Hansen Makes Two Costly Blunders—One Cost the Vigilant the Lead and Valkyrie Shares the Other—Experts Select the English Cutter as the Winner.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The greatest fleet of boats that ever passed through the Narrows passed through on its way to the Hook this morning to accompany the great racers, Valkyrie and Vigilant, in their international race from the Sandy Hook lightship for the America's cup. Almost every place within 500 miles of New York was represented by one or more boats, and every one had aboard all it could hold comfortably. Thousands of enthusiastic persons had a delightful day's outing, but the first effort to pull off the international race was a failure. This was mainly due to a lack of wind; but Americans saw Lord Dunraven's Valkyrie, the pride of Great Britain, sail past Vigilant, the pride of America, and were compelled to acknowledge that the English boat had out-generaled the American at every point. When the wind held steadily the Vigilant held her own, but when it became a drifting match the Valkyrie gained the advantage. Throughout the contest it was more of a drifting match than a race. The wind at no time reached the dignity of a sailing breeze. The details of the race follow: By 11 o'clock the variable wind had settled down to an apparently steady breeze from the north, and the heavy fog bank slowly drifted away to leeward. Both yachts were sailing around the lightship, maneuvering for a position of vantage under main sail and club and jib topsails.

The Vigilant had her forestaysail and the Valkyrie her jib up in stops ready to be driven out at a moment's notice.

At 11:10 the signal D. F. B., steer a south course, fluttered from the foremast head of the flagship May. This told the yachtsmen that the first log of the course was to be a fifteen mile run before the wind and a beat back to the lightship.

Vigilant Takes an Early Lead.

Scarcely had the flags of the May given this bit of information before spinnaker booms were lowered on both yachts and sails run up. The Vigilant mast-headed her great balloon jib top sail, but the Englishman, believing that this sail would be becalmed by the spinnaker, decided to hold on to his medium jib topsail.

Promptly at 11:15 a gun boomed from the May and a red ball was hoisted. It was the preparatory signal and the yachts had just ten minutes to cross the line, as the start was to be by a signal gun.

At 11:25, when the gun sounded, the Vigilant was leading the Valkyrie about two lengths. Before the echo had died away both boats broke out their spinnakers and the Vigilant her balloon jib topsail, hauling down the other at the same time. Booms were broad off to port and spinnakers to starboard when the yachts crossed, and it looked then as if they would make a speedy run to the first mark.

The wind, however, had scarcely started them on their fifteen-mile journey before it died away almost to a calm. Now it became a mere drifting match, for the sails of both yachts hung limp and lifeless and the great snow-white spinnaker of the Englishman almost dragged in the water. Whatever air there was could not reach either yacht, owing to the numberless excursion boats which crowded upon the racers. The Valkyrie was first to hang out a signal "keep further astern," followed by the Vigilant with a more emphatic demand to "keep off." These requests had the desired effect, and as the crafts stood off the racers seemed to forge ahead a trifle faster. For the first hour of the race there was scarcely any perceptible change in the relative positions of the two yachts. The Englishman did his best to crawl up in the weather quarter of the American and thus steal away his wind. He was not speedy enough, however, and, though he steered a course a little to windward, failed to close the gap, but gradually fell farther astern until at the end of the hour and a half he was at least twice as far behind the American as he was at the start. The Valkyrie seemed to have made a wise move in not setting her balloon jib top-sail, for the Vigilant's was doing little or no good, being apparently becalmed by her spinnaker. The Englishman's game, however, was "to blanket" the American, and this he was endeavoring to do with all his might and main.

Blunders on Board the Vigilant.

At 1:15 o'clock the wind began to haul to the south and west, and the Vigilant took in her spinnaker and jib top-sail, and seemed to lay to right in the wind's eye. The Valkyrie hung onto her spinnaker and rapidly overtook the Vigilant, passing her at 1:25, just two hours after the start. While the Vigilant seemed to be dead on the water the Valkyrie, hauled by the wind on the starboard tack, set her jib and stay sail and shot ahead, steering to the southward and westward. The Vigilant, for some unknown reason, made no effort to haul by the wind, but retained all of her head sails, while she eased her main sheet until every one believed that she had met with an accident and had decided to give up the race. There was evidently a strong tide under her weather bow, for it threw her head off to the eastward and she drifted bodily to leeward. After losing almost a mile the American came up in the wind and headed after her English rival.

This gain of the Valkyrie's was probably the turning point of the race, and the seamanship displayed on the American boat was lamentably poor. If the tide did catch it on the weather side and force its head around to the eastward, as every one seemed to think, there is no reason in the world why Skipper Hansen should not have hauled down his head sails, braced in his main boom, and used every device known to sailors to bring his vessel by the wind. It was this alone, more than any favoring breeze to the Valkyrie, that lost the Vigilant the race. After paying off until she headed almost in the opposite direction, the American managed to haul by the wind on the starboard tack and stood for the mark. The breeze seemed to freshen a trifle, and the Englishman increased his lead at every moment. As the stranger approached the turning mark it was impossible for him to distinguish it, so closely clustered were the excursion craft. Perhaps it was owing to this that the Valkyrie displayed poor judgment in going on the port tack, as it was 3:27 before she was able to weather the mark.

Though the wind was then light, the Englishman was remarkably quick in stays, going about in just twenty seconds.

At 3:35 she went about again, going on the starboard tack, which was in turn changed for the port one minute later. The Valkyrie now stood for the mark close hauled on the port tack, easing away her sheets as she rounded, lowering her spinnaker boom, and breaking out the sail. Now there arose a deafening chorus of whistles and a booming of guns until the atmosphere seemed to vibrate in unison. The Vigilant at this time seemed almost hull down, about five miles astern, and it looked then as though the Valkyrie would make a sorry spectacle of her.

Capt. Hansen's Second Mistake.

As the American boat neared the mark she made also the same error of judgment as the Englishman and went on the port tack at 3:45, remaining thirty seconds in the stays. She was forced to tack again at 3:55 and at 3:59 the outer mark was passed to starboard. As the Vigilant doubled the turning point she broke out her balloon jib top-sail, which had already been run up in stops, and hauled down the medium-sized one. To the surprise of everyone, however, she did not set her spinnaker, for the wind had begun to haul a little forward and there was danger of its becalming the other sails.

The following is the time around the outer mark, fifteen miles from the start:

Valkyrie, 3:37:20. Vigilant, 4:03:40.

As the start was a signal gun, both yachts were timed from 11:25:00 and this is practically their actual crossing time, as they were only a few seconds after the gun. It therefore took the English boat 4 hrs. 12 mins. 20 secs. and the American 4 hrs. 38 mins. 40 secs. to make the run of eight miles, and the close reach of seven—a difference of 26 minutes 20 seconds. This also represents the Valkyrie's actual gain in covering this distance. If the allowance of 1 minute 48 seconds, which the Vigilant must forfeit owing to her greater sailing length, be added to this difference, it will be seen that the English yacht beat the American 28 minutes 8 seconds over the fifteen-mile course from Sandy Hook lightship to the first turn.

After the yachts had doubled the mark and eased away for home the wind became much lighter, and when the Valkyrie took in her spinnaker at 4:15 she seemed to be almost in the doldrums. Two miles astern came the Vigilant with her sails quite full, apparently bringing up a freshening breeze. This gave new hope to her friends, and for a time it looked as though she would actually overtake the English boat before the finish. When the gap had been closed to about one-half the Valkyrie seemed to feel the impulse of the breeze which the Vigilant was bringing up with her and rapidly shot ahead, keeping about one mile away.

Both Yachts Give Up the Contest.

About 4:30 the tug Luckenbach came alongside the Englishman and kept company with her for a half hour. This tells the story of the race. The boats, unable to finish within the time limit of six hours, gave it up before crossing the finish, and the Luckenbach was instructed to tow in the Valkyrie. The Vigilant was the first to announce her intention of giving up the contest, which she did by hauling down her jib topsail and taking a line from the tug Commander. The Valkyrie did likewise, being taken in tow by the tug Luckenbach.

At this time the Englishman was leading the American by one mile, which, added to the allowance of one minute and forty-eight seconds, gave the Valkyrie really a lead of nearly a mile and a half. Had the two boats continued to the starting point there is no doubt that the Valkyrie would have held her advantage barring flukes and shifts of wind and the race resulted in a victory for Lord Dunraven's cutter.

Though the wind was neither steady nor strong enough to test the relative merits of the boats there can be no doubt in the minds of any unprejudiced observer that the English skipper displayed far more skill in handling his craft than did the skipper of the Vigilant. Indeed, it was entirely owing to bad judgment as well as poor seamanship on the part of the American yacht that the Valkyrie gained the great advantage she did and unless Skipper Hansen improves the cup will undoubtedly go back to England.

The next race will be Saturday. It will be over the same course as today and will be the first race postponed from today.

Lord Dunraven said this evening he was greatly disappointed by the failure to make a race. "I cannot hazard any opinion as to the relative work of the boats from today's drifting match," said he. "It was simply valueless as to a basis of comparison. There was neither a trial of speed nor of handling in today's work. Better luck next time I hope."

Several well-known yachtsmen were interviewed tonight on the result of today's races, and all declared that Skipper Hansen made an error of judgment. They believe that with any wind the Vigilant would have won.

FATALLY WOUNDS A BIG FOUR FIREMAN.

Special Railroad Policeman at Indianapolis Fires Into a Mob.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—Another riot in the Big Four yards at the Indianola shops across the river from this city this evening resulted in the fatal shooting of Fireman James Pitts of the Peoria Big Four division. Special Detective John Stokes did the shooting, firing into a crowd of several hundred men and boys who were jeering and throwing stones at the locomotive and single coach which were about to pull out for this city with the officers who had been on duty during the day. General Superintendent Riley with the men had entered the car, but Stokes who did the shooting yesterday and this morning, lingered behind and shot. There were a few of the strikers, but many more employés in the crowd, taking no part in the riot. After the shooting Stokes darted in the car. Pitts fell with a ball through the groin. The crowd at once charged with a howling mob; a number drew revolvers and began to fire. The engineer opened the throttle and lay down with his fireman to avoid being killed by the fusillade of iron pins, stones, and bullets. In the coach with Riley were eight special officers and six non-union boilermakers whose presence at the shops have caused the trouble. Before the special could get under headway not a sound window remained in the coach and the sides were filled with lead. A dozen men followed it up the track and emptied their revolvers through the windows. The officers made no attempt to return the fire. Hardly a man escaped without scratches, but no one was seriously hurt. No city policemen have been on the grounds since the riot and threats of burning the shops before morning are now being made. This morning a boy, Ben Stamm, was shot through the hand by a special officer.

LOSS OF HAND WORTH TO HIM A FORTUNE

Shooting Accident Reveals Insurance Policies That Look Suspicious.

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—Z. A. Hubley of Worcester, Mass., while gunning shot himself in the left hand, losing a finger. He was alone at the time and asserted that the trigger of his gun caught in a branch of the tree. L. G. Blossom of Chicago, representing the Star Accident company, who is an insurance expert and inspector has been investigating and finds that Hubley had accident policies in the Star and other American and English companies amounting to $130,000 and life policies for $100,000. The accident gives him about $700 weekly, and if the hand is amputated he gets $64,000. Blossom has obtained considerable data and leaves for home shortly. Further developments are anxiously awaited by insurance agents in Halifax, Boston and New York.

LAST OF THE TRAIN ROBBERS CAUGHT.

Entire Gang That Held Up a Northern Pacific Train Now in Jail.

TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 5.—The leader of the gang of train robbers who held up the Northern Pacific train last Tuesday was captured at 11 o'clock this morning near Kalispell, Mont., by a posse under command of Deputy Marshal Curtis and Sheriff Jackson. The entire gang is now in jail. The posse also captured Charles Brown and another of the gang whose name is unknown, besides killing John Chipman. In the battle Charles Jones, alias Charles Kincade, was wounded and Ben Hall, alias Mattocks, was shot in the thigh and is not expected to live.

WILL BE CHANCELLOR

JUDGE TUTHILL MOVES INTO JUDGE COLLINS' OLD ROOM.

Despite the Fact That Judge Tuley, Who Is Chief Justice, Issues a Call for a Meeting of Judges to Choose a Chancellor, Judge Tuthill Has the Call of Calendar Continued for Criminal Business, His Desk Moved Down-Stairs, and Will Be On Hand for Business.

The Judges of the Circuit Court have been called to meet this afternoon at 3:15 o'clock for the purpose of designating some one to call Judge Collins' calendar. But before the other Judges are assembled Judge Tuthill will be seated in Judge Collins' old chair and hearing the chancery business on that calendar where Judge Collins left off when he resigned. All this will be regarded by the assembled Judges as an unusual occurrence, but Judge Tuthill says he will go right on hearing chancery business for two or three years, or at least until he gets tired of it.

Judge Tuley said he did not think Judge Tuthill would do a thing like that, while Judge Tuthill was confident that he would not do anything else unless something unforseen should happen.

Judge Lorin C. Collins, one of the three Chancellors of the Circuit Court, resigned last week to resume the practice of law. This left a vacancy in the chancery courts to be filled by one of the other Judges. The way of filling this vacancy, Judge Tuley said, was by calling a meeting of the Judges, who would select one of their number as a Chancellor. Judge Tuthill held a different view of the matter, so yesterday morning he notified Minute Clerk Perkins to make out a call for this morning from Judge Collins' old calendar and to move his desk from his old room on the third floor to the chambers formerly occupied by Judge Collins, as he would hereafter hear chancery business. The Clerk made out the call and had the desk moved.

Judge Tuley Takes Action.

Judge Tuley, who is the Chief Justice of the Circuit Court, heard of this and issued a call for the meeting of the Judges. The call says that the meeting is for the purpose of designating one of the Circuit Court Judges to call Judge Collins' calendar and to choose a fourth Chancellor of the Circuit Court.

Judge Tuley was asked the meaning of the call in view of the action taken by Judge Tuthill. "I suppose Judges convened en banc control matters like this," he said. "The Judges combined are stronger than one Judge. I think I am following the practice in calling this meeting. I am not officially advised in the matter. I do not care to report what I have heard of it. I told Judge Tuthill this morning that I would call the Judges together to act in the matter. I suppose what action he has taken was before that conversation. I presume of course he will wait for the action of his colleagues."

When Judge McConnell was asked about it he said he thought it was unusual, not to say extraordinary, for a Judge to assign himself when it was the practice to leave the assignment to an agreement of the Judges.

Judge Dunne would not discuss the matter further than to say that Judge Tuthill was entitled under the law to do just what he did.

Judge Tuthill did not hold court yesterday afternoon, but he was seen at his home, No. 532 West Jackson street. "You may say that I will hear motions in Judge Collins' old room tomorrow morning, and that I shall sit in chancery business until I get ready to go back to common law. I have not seen the call for the meeting of the Judges to appoint a Chancellor to succeed Judge Collins. I have instructed his old minute clerk to publish a call for tomorrow and to move my desk into that room. I am therefore Judge Collins' successor on the chancery side and shall go right on hearing chancery business. I have possession, and possession is nine points of the law. I may attend the meeting if I am not too busy hearing criminal business."

Tired of Common Law Business.

"I am following the usual practice. Other Judges who are Chancellors simply assumed the places as I have done. All the Judges have the same jurisdiction and any one of them has a right to hear chancery business. I am the oldest Judge in the Circuit Court, next to Judge Tuley. I want to take a turn at chancery business. I have been hearing common law since 1887 and I am getting tired of the same thing. I want a little variation in my judicial experience, and this being a favorable opportunity I simply took advantage of it. I have been wanting to do this some time and told the County Commissioners to fix up a smaller court room for me and I would move into it and sit as a Chancellor. My old room is too large and I would surrender it to one of the new Judges for a common law room. The Commissioners were at work remodeling the chancery record writer's room for me on the fourth floor when Judge Collins resigned. As that left a small room suitable for chancery vacant, and at the same time a vacant chancellorship, I just moved in and took possession. If the Judges decide to arrange to sit as Chancellors alternately I will agree to it, but if they do not I go on with chancery business while it suits me to do so. I want to vary my experience on the bench, as I may go back to the practice of law again."

The call for the Judges' meeting is specific, and Judge Tuthill has made his position quite plain. It has been rumored that Judges Clifford and McConnell were favored for the chancellorships to be filled. The position of Chancellor is regarded as a place of honor on the bench.

FAIR VISITOR DIES STARTING FOR HOME.

Iral Forshee Succumbs to Heart Disease Bidding Friends Good-By on a Train.

Iral Forshee, a druggist of Florence, Ontario, dropped dead in a sleeper attached to a Wabash train at the Polk Street Depot at 10:20 o'clock last night. Mr. Forshee left his home in Canada one week ago today to visit the Fair. He stopped while in the city with friends at No. 6715 Prairie avenue. He arranged to depart for home last evening. A berth in the sleeper was obtained and Mr. Forshee boarded the train at 10 o'clock. He was accompanied in the car by a number of friends, who bade him good-by as the train was about to start. Suddenly as his friends were preparing to leave him he turned pale and fell over in the car. When lifted into an upright position it was found that life was extinct. Death is supposed to have been due to heart disease. The remains were removed to Klaner's undertaking establishment at Wabash avenue and Jackson street, where a post mortem will be held today.

YELLOW-FEVER SPREADS AT BRUNSWICK

Nine New Cases Reported Yesterday—Favorable Reports from Jesup, Ga.

BRUNSWICK, Ga., Oct. 5.—Nine new cases of yellow-fever were officially reported today.

WAY CROSS, Ga., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—No new or suspicious cases of yellow fever have been reported at Jesup today. Dr. Lincoln, yellow fever expert, has charge of the six who are sick. The government put on a special train between Jesup and Camp Dennison today. Dr. A. P. English has been placed between Way Cross and Jesup as Government Quarantine Inspector. No trains are permitted to stop at Jesup, and it is practically shut off from the world. Dr. Carter, the celebrated yellow-fever expert, is expected to arrive tonight and will take command of the situation.

Two Men Struck by an Engine.

As Andrew Huzola and his brother, Martin Huzola, were walking on the Illinois Central tracks near Ninety-fifth street last evening they were struck by an engine. Andrew's legs were both cut off and Martin's head was badly cut. They were removed to St. Luke's Hospital, where the physicians say that Andrew will probably die. The men are both laborers and have no fixed place of abode.

Methodist Minister Will Have to Explain.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 5.—The Rev. Thomas McClary, pastor of the Methodist Church on Dayton street, went to Chicago, and while there saw "America." Upon his return he wrote a letter to the Methodist Herald, in which he descanted upon the ballet. The matter was today called to the attention of the annual conference, and the preacher will have a chance to explain.

Chinese Buildings at Midwinter Fair.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 5.—A new plan for the Chinese buildings at the Midwinter Exposition has been prepared. It will be two stories high and contain several bazaars and a Chinese theater. Old Vienna Prater was incorporated this morning. It has secured large space for the erection of buildings at the fair.

WHAT JUDGE TULEY HAS TO SAY.

For Judges—
JOSEPH E. GARY,
JOHN GIBBONS,
HENRY V. FREEMAN,
EDMUND W. BURKE,
ABNER SMITH,
ELBRIDGE HANECY,
N. C. SEARS,
GEORGE W. BLANKE,
T. HENRY KRAFT,

For County Commissioners—
H. I. RITTER,
GUS LUNDBURG,
DAVID KALLISH,
RICHARD PEACOCK,
J. N. CUNNING,
THOMAS M'NICHOLS,
F. ZUTTERMEISTER,
WILLIAM EISFELDT.

For President of the County Board,
GEORGE STRUCKMANN.

At a caucus of representative delegates selected yesterday held at the Commercial Hotel last night the ticket given above was practically agreed upon, and it is believed will be put through the county convention today. The Chairmen of nearly all the ward delegations were present. The naming of the tenth Judge will be left to the country towns. They have three candidates—C. G. Neeley, who was the Republican candidate for State's-Attorney last fall; H. H. C. Miller of Evanston, and E. J. Whitehead of Cicero. The Evanston delegation is pledged to the support of Mr. Miller, but Mr. Neeley has a stronger backing in the other country towns than Mr. Miller. The indications are, however, that Mr. Miller will be nominated.

There was no opposition in the caucus to the nomination of Judge Gary, or to the nomination of Messrs. Gibbons, Smith, Hanecy, Sears, Burke, and Freeman. There was opposition to Mr. Kraft, but no other candidate was suggested to take his place, and the nomination went through. The North Side delegation, through William T. Ball, presented the name of Justice Hamburgher for one of the Judgeships. There was a vigorous protest. Henry Wulff then presented the name of Mr. George Blanke. Mr. Blanke was nominated. The North Side delegates threatened to withdraw, but thought better of it.

The North Side delegation also submitted the name of John A. Linn of the Twenty-third Ward for County Commissioner. There was objection. It was said he would not be acceptable to the Swedish voters in whose name he was put forward. His name was scratched and the North Side people were asked to submit another name. George Lundborg of the Thirtieth Ward, nominated for the South Division, is a Swede.

The convention will meet this morning in the North Side Turner Hall. John M. Smyth will be named as Temporary Chairman and elected. Mr. Van Cleave will act as Secretary and will be assisted by George Woods, Robert J. McDonnell, and O. W. Nash. The nomination of Judge Gary will be made by acclamation. There will not be a vote in opposition. There will be no opposition either to the nomination of the three Republican lawyers named by the Bar Association, Messrs. Freeman, Gibbons, and Burke. There will be some opposition to the others. It is possible, also, that there may be some change in the make-up of the Commissioners slate. Nicholas Petrie is talked of from the North Side, and Addison Ballard will be urged as one of the candidates from the South Side instead of Ritter, who was named to please Mr. Vancleave.

The present Republican Commissioners from the country towns will be renominated.

Judge Tuley will vote for Judge Gary and will get as many more votes for him as he can. "I do not hesitate to say that the Democratic convention made a mistake yesterday in not nominating Judge Gary," he said. "I certainly will vote for him and lend him what aid I can in securing his reëlection. He should be reëlected by all means. I think I will not be the only Democrat who will vote for Judge Gary. I might name many, but I speak only for myself."

VOTING IS CONDUCTED QUIETLY.

There Will Be Only a Few Contests in the Convention—Trouble in the Fifth.

Though much interest was evinced in the Republican primaries yesterday and a comparatively large vote was polled, there were no rows or fights such as those at the Democratic primaries Tuesday. The voting was conducted in strict accordance with the Crawford law. Only registered voters were permitted to cast ballots. The count was for the most part honestly and fairly conducted. There will be few contests therefore. Policemen attended at all the polling places, but there was little for them to do, except in the Fifth Ward, where some tough Democrats tried to interfere with the progress of the balloting. There will be the usual contest from this ward in the convention today.

There were contests in nearly every precinct of the Twelfth Ward, the fight being between J. N. Cunning and John S. Varley. Cunning won, working a combination with Hudson Smith.

All through the Fifteenth Ward there was a fight on the Central committeeman. The crowd opposed to Henry Hertz and his following wore "anti machine" badges and worked in the interest of Ferdinand Smith as against the regular candidate, Henry Freese. The antis triumphed in the Second Primary District by a margin of forty-one votes. In the Fifth District the "regulars" were winners by 185 votes to 36, and in the First by 93 to 21. In the Third the Smith ticket won.

In the Sixteenth Ward an effort was made to defeat the delegate tickets of the Hertz faction. The latter won, however, and the full delegation from the Sixteenth will be of men friendly to the ex-Coroner.

In the Second District of the Twenty-third Ward there was a fight between the regular club and a delegation headed by Henry T. Carr. Carr says he will contest the seats in the convention.

In the Twenty-sixth Ward the contest was between the regular Republican club and the Linnæus Republican club, the Swedish organization. The regular ticket won.

An unexpected element of disruption showed itself in the Twenty-fifth Ward and resulted in contests in five out of the six primary districts. The large number of Swedes voting n the ward did not believe they were getting adequate recognition on the regular tickets and at the last moment came out with tickets of their own. The regulars were defeated in the Fourth and Fifth Districts.

There was a contest in the Seventh District of the Thirtieth Ward in which Ald. Utesch won and in the First of the Thirty-first Ward Ald. Noble's candidates were defeated.

There was bitter opposition to Ald. Kerr for county committeeman in the Thirty-second Ward. The Kerr delegates won by a large majority.

In the other wards there were no contests, the voting being quite uneventful.

FIVE ARE MARKED FOR SLAUGHTER.

"Anti" Wing of the Democratic Party Bitter Over Result of Convention.

At the City Hall yesterday the successful leaders in the convention of the day before were rather jubilant. They were freely predicting the success of the entire ticket. Among those who were ousted from the convention, however, a bitter feeling prevailed, and the special candidates of the quartet—Browning, Boyle, Kersten, Brown, and Trumbull—have been selected for slaughter. The feeling is especially bitter against Browning and Boyle because they were forced on the ticket by the young Harrisons and Street Superintendent McCarthy. The treatment accorded to Judge Moran in the convention was resented bitterly also. A police officer of high rank said Judge Moran's treatment was disgraceful, and that 90 per cent of the Democratic police officers and firemen would vote for Judge Gary, and that Judge Moran only expressed the opinion of thoughtful Democrats when he said that Judge Gary ought to be indorsed as he was on three other occasions by Democratic conventions. It is understood that Judge Moran is preparing a statement for publication later on why Judge Gary should be elected.

It is rumored around the City Hall that Adolph Kraus will soon retire from the office of Corporation Counsel because of the way in which his friend Zeisler was treated, and that Mr. Zeisler may also retire. This will make way for John Mayo Palmer as Corporation Counsel, and the Mayor is said to be quite willing that Mr. Kraus should resume private practice.

An analysis of the new committeemen selected Wednesday in the interest of Harrison's Senatorial candidacy shows the following list of city employés:

MacCarthy in the Second Ward; Reilly, Third; Flanagan, Fifth; Maguire, Sixth; Mulbrandon, Seventh; Curran, Tenth; Long, Twelfth; Schwab, Fourteenth; Brewer, Fifteenth; Powers, Seventeenth; McCarthy, Nineteenth; Donovan, Twentieth; Brandecker, Twenty-first; Wardell, Twenty-second; Heavey, Twenty-fourth; Sugg, Twenty-fifth; Kennedy, Twenty-seventh; McIlroy, Twenty-eighth; O'Neill, Thirty-first; Hanrahan, Thirty-second; Ryan, Thirty-fourth; being a total of twenty-one out of thirty-four.

Of the others three—McAllen, Kenna, and Moriarty—are saloonkeepers. The only administration committeeman who is not a City Hall employé or a saloonkeeper is Ald. Loeffler.

It is understood that Henry Donovan, who led the tight and marshaled the forces for the City Hall men in the convention, is slated for Chairman of the new County Central committee. The old committee will meet next Tuesday evening to arrange the plan of campaign.

DELEGATES ELECTED AT EVANSTON.

No Opposition to Primary Ticket and Light Vote Polled.

The election of delegates at Evanston yesterday to the county Republican convention passed off quietly, there being but 425 votes cast. There was no opposition to the tickets chosen either in Evanston or South Evanston. The delegates from Evanston are Dr. O. H. Mann, W. N. Brainard, E. S. Taylor, George S. Baker, R. N. Freeman, and John A. Childs. They go instructed for William E. Suhr of Evanston for County Commissioner. The delegates from South Evanston are Nicholas Morper and Thomas D. Breese and go uninstructed.

Political Notes.

The Bohemian Republican League, which was recently organized, has decided to start a Bohemian paper of the Republican faith which shall be the organ of all Bohemian Republicans in the United States.

Members of the Socialistic Labor party to the number of 200 met in Pulaski Hall, Eighteenth street and Ashland avenue, last night to ratify the party ticket. Anton Schulavski was made Chairman of the mass-meeting, and he and Matt Waranko, candidate for County Commissioner, delivered addresses in Polish. The meeting closed with a unanimous vote in favor of a resolution indorsing the candidates.

TICKET OF NEBRASKA DEMOCRATS.

Favor Immediate Repeal of Obnoxious Sherman Silver Law.

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 5.—After the adoption of the platform this morning the Democratic convention completed its work with a rush. The Hon. Frank J. Irvine of Omaha, present Supreme Court Commissioner, was nominated unanimously for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court. Milton Doolittle, J. M. Pyle, and Charles Kloman were named for Regents of the State University. The platform indorses President Cleveland's administration, demands the immediate repeal of the Sherman silver law, favors tariff reduction and purging of the pension list, opposes union of Church and State, and favors constitutional amendment providing for State Railroad Commissioners.

Congressman Bryan made a lengthy speech against the financial plank and concluded as follows:

I want to say to you that if the delegates who came here properly reflect the sentiments of the Democratic party, which sent them here; if the resolutions which you have proposed here and which you will adopt if they reflect the sentiments of the Democratic party of this State, and this party declares in favor of a gold standard, as it will if it passes this resolution; if you declare in favor of the impoverishment of the people of Nebraska; if you intend to make more galling than the slavery of the black the slavery of the debtors of this country; if the Democratic party after you go home indorses your action and this becomes your sentiment, I want to promise you that I will go out and serve my country and my God under some other name if I go alone.

NOMINEES OF NEBRASKA REPUBLICANS.

Candidates for Supreme Court Judge and University Regents.

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—The Republican State convention met at 11 o'clock. Maxwell led in the race for Judge of the Supreme Court, but there was a strong opposition to him. This field soon united and Judge T. O. C. Harrison of Grand Island was nominated on the fourth ballot. E. Rosewater of the Omaha Bee, who was Maxwell's principal supporter, was asked what would be his course in the campaign. He said:

"I am a Republican, but that does not prevent me from exposing the means by which this result was brought about. I have my remedy and I shall not hesitate to use it."

To another interviewer he said:

"I shall support the ticket, but under a protest as to the means by which Maxwell was defeated."

C. W. Kaley, Henry D. Estabrook, and Charles Weston were nominated for Regents of the State University. The platform as reported by the Committee on Resolutions charged the present financial depression upon the Democratic party; charged the Populists with sectionalism in attempting to array the West and the South against the East and the center. It reiterated the Minneapolis platform of bimetallism and declared for protection of home industry.

Gov. Jones' Message.

TUSKAHOMA, I. T., Oct. 5.—[United Press Dispatch.]—Gov. Jones' message was delivered to the Choctaw Council this afternoon. He congratulated the members on the condition of the country, declaring peace, plenty, and prosperity prevailed among the people. He deplored the greed of the white man for Indian lands and urged his people to stand firmly by what they had. He recommended the appointment of one or more delegates to Washington to watch Congress and protect the interest of the Choctaws. He declared the finances of the nation were in good shape.

BY RHODE ISLANDERS.

STATE CELEBRATION IS HELD AT THE COLUMBIAN FAIR.

Gov. Brown Makes an Address of Welcome and Prof. Alonzo Williams Delivers an Oration—Splendid Appearance of the Newport Artillery—Poles Are to Have Their Turn Tomorrow—Chances for Settling the Beer Award War Today—Other News from the White City.

While Gov. D. Russell Brown presides over the destinies of the most diminutive Commonwealth in Uncle Sam's great constellation of States "Rhode Island day" at the Fair yesterday by no means was the least important in patriotism, enthusiasm, and display. The Board of Commissioners, the Chief Executive and his staff, several prominent men, and 500 loyal citizens demonstrated their ability to celebrate with as much pomp and circumstance as any of the larger and more pretensious sections of the Union have shown. The little building nestling in a nook under the shadow of Massachusetts' big house was decked out in flags and bunting, a white pennant bearing the coat-of-arms floated from the flagpole, and military men in gay uniforms mingled with the throng inside.

Besides Gov. Brown and his staff, composed of Charles R. Dennis, John P. Budlong, Charles A. Wilson, Hunter C. White, W. Howard Walker, George H. Kenyon, Walter R. Stiness, H. Martin Brown, Frank Harris, Walter H. Stearns, Raymond G. Mowry, William B. Waterman, John H. Wetherell, Frederick Wooley, and Robert Jennings, there were present as representatives appointed by the General Assembly Lieut.-Gov. Melville Bull, Speaker of the House, Franklin P. Owen, and Charles H. Page. Among the visitors were:

Mr. and Mrs. Warren O. Arnold, Mrs. Brown, Miss Brown, and Miss Isabel R. Brown, Mrs. H. Martin Brown, Miss Loraine Bucklin, Mrs. John C. Budlong, Mrs. C. M. Bull, Charles H. Burdick, S. M. Knowles of Providence; Charles H. Burdick, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Capron, Mrs. Irving Champlin, Joseph C. Church, Mrs. Lucius B. Darling, Gen. Hiram Kendall and Mrs. Kendall, Miss Francis P. Kendall, Miss Jane W. Kendall, Mrs. James S. Kenyon, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Lapham, Mrs. George A. Mumford, Mrs. John H. Wetherell, Mrs. Frederick Wooley, Mr. and Mrs. Frank F. Olney; State Commissioners—E. Benj. Andrews, Arthur H. Watson, Hiram Howard, Walter A. Peck, Daniel B. Pond, Richard Thornley, Marsden J. Perry, John P. Sanborn; and National Commissioners Lyman B. Goff, Gardiner C. Sims, Mrs. Amey M. Starkweather, Miss Charlotte F. Dailey, and Col. John C. Wyman.

Gov. Brown's Address.

At 12 o'clock the Newport artillery and band met Gov. Brown and staff at the Sixty-second street entrance and escorted them to the building, where the Governor held a short reception and partook of luncheon. Then the party marched to Music Hall, where the formal exercises were held. E. Benjamin Andrews, President of the board, introduced Gov. Brown, who said in part:

We know this is the greeting of a State whose area is insignificant compared with the almost boundless expanse of other States, but we ask you today to overlook that familiar fact and take a broader view of Rhode Island, which her age and her history unfold, for that is the mental picture which Rhode-Islanders always bear of their beloved Commonwealth, an image stimulating a strong feeling of loyalty and exalted local pride which, perhaps, seems somewhat peculiar to others. The history of our State is a birthright which neither lands nor gold can buy, for full as it is of stirring and passionate events there is not an incident in our annals that can bring the scarlet of shame to the cheek of civilized man. Roger Williams, the first settler, the thrice exiled friend of the weak and oppressed, baptized Rhode Island's early days with glory sufficient for any State by his revolt against Puritan intolerance and his sacrifices for soul liberty.

To you, sons and daughters of Rhode Island, who have sought in these glorious Western lands a wider sphere for your ability and energy I extend to you that large-hearted welcome with which you were familiar in your early days. Right welcome, indeed, are you, our friends, from other States, children with us of a common country. Our acquaintance must not cease with today. Come to us when the summer sun is shining and the soft breezes are blowing from the ocean and we will unveil to you a landscape of bay and shore, of field and grove, whose beauties shall enrapture and drive from your brow the clouds of care. We will fascinate you with the charms, the comforts and pleasures of our summer homes. Or, if you are of a more practical turn of mind, we will take you to the most populous hive of industry this nation knows; we will show you large and comfortable factories; we will show you prosperous homes of artisans "cunning to work in gold, and in silver, and in brass, and in iron, and in purple, and crimson, and blue, and that can skill to grave." We will welcome you to a community animated with a spirit of push and enterprise that will delight even the active city under whose genial guardianship we are gathered today.

Prof. Williams' Oration.

A descendant of the first settler of "Little Rhody," Prof. Alonzo Williams of Brown University, was the chief orator of the occasion. He said in part:

It makes an epoch in the history of a State when it pauses for a day to conquer forgetfulness. A man who has arrived at full maturity, at a clear conception of his relations, his duties, his mission, pauses to retrace the arduous steps, the struggles, the defeats, the triumphs, which have brought him to the threshold of his desires, that he may pluck inspiration from the past and gird himself for the future that invites him. Thus pauses today our State and runs back the checkered centuries to gather up the scattered rays of her glory, that they may illumine the path she is destined henceforth to tread. Weak winged are words, indeed, to climb the height of such a theme, to do justice to such a lay. Every hour has been an hour of splendid destiny. Rhode Island formally enacted and declared its independence of Great Britain two months before the Declaration of Independence by Congress. It is therefore the oldest independent sovereign government in the Western World. It was first to establish a naval armament in America and fired the first cannon at the royal navy. It captured the first prize. In the field Nathaniel Greene was second only to Washington. In the councils of the Nation Stephen Hopkins was second to none. "We have met the enemy and they are ours" was the watchword from Rhode Island in 1812. Twenty-four thousand loyal sons, led by that ideal soldier, Ambrose E. Burnside, was Rhode Island's contribution to the Nation in 1861. The year 1893 witnesses in our land a rebirth of patriotism, a renaissance of nationality. This is our golden jubilee, and we invite our kin of all the earth to celebrate with us our festival and behold how the God of the nations has blessed this people. On this 400th anniversary we raise our national heroes in marble, in silver, in gold, to the pedestal in the national pantheon beside the immortals of the Columbian race—Columbus, the discoverer; Washington, the father; Lincoln, the savior of his country.

Addresses were also made by Col. William A. James of Chicago and Col. John C. Wyman. The latter also read an original poem by Caroline Hazard, a daughter of Rowland Hazard. After the speechmaking the Newport Artillery and its fine band gave an exhibition drill and dress parade on the plaza north of Administration Building.

Last evening from 7 to 10 the Governor held a reception at the State Building.

Ancient Newport Artillery.

The Newport Artillery in camp at Camp Lincoln, on the lake shore just south of the park, was organized in 1741, during the reign of George II. It is the oldest active military organization in the country. "The Ancient and Honorables" of Boston, is a little older, but for many years has been only a social organization. The Newport Artillery is still in the field, having participated in every war this country has seen since its organization. It drills only as infantry and as such was connected with the First Rhode Island Infantry in the rebellion, during which it had first and last no less than 1,000 members.

The organization exists now as a battalion of three companies of 112 members and has two artillery pieces at Newport, which it never uses. It is commanded by Lieut.-Col. A. A. Barker and Maj. George C. Shaw. Company A is commanded by Capt. A. Herbert Bliss, Company B by Lieut. J. D. Richardson, and Company C by Lieut. H. C. Stevens. The uniform is black helmets with red plumes, dark blue coat, and light blue trousers with red stripes. The band numbers twenty-eight and is uniformed in blue with white cording. The company is independent of the National Guard and has escorted the Governors of Rhode Island on every State occasion, including inauguration, ever since 1792.

POLES CELEBRATE TOMORROW.

Big Parade Down-Town and a Platform Meeting at Jackson Park.

Tomorrow will be Poland day. It was intended to hold the celebration Sept. 12, which was the anniversary of John Sobieski's victory over the Turks at the seige of Vienna in 1683, but it was found impracticable to secure that day, and then Oct. 7 was chosen. Poland, like Ireland, is not a nation in fact, though as much so in feeling and sentiment as it was before it was partitioned between Germany, Russia, and Austria. As a prominent Polish-American said yesterday, Poland dismembered contains 20,000,000 inhabitants, which is more than any second-rate country in Europe. In Chicago alone, distributed mostly on the West Side, are 120,000 Poles; and they intend to make Poland day a day long to be remembered. There is to be in the morning a procession of Polish civic and military societies. One branch of it will be started from the Southwest Side, and another from the Northwest Side; and the two will come together at Wood street and Jackson boulevard. From that point the line of march will be along West Jackson street to Michigan boulevard, thence to Twelfth street, and then back again by the same boulevard to Van Buren street, where the people will take the express trains for Jackson Park. There will be eighty civil and religious societies and twenty military organizations in the line. There will be a platform meeting at Festival Hall, which will be appropriately decorated for the occasion. Justice M. A. La Buy will preside and make an opening address. He will be followed by Mayor Harrison. The main addresses will be by Dr. M. C. Midowicz, in Polish, and by Bishop Spalding of Peoria. The exercises will be interspersed with singing by a Polish children's choir.

Poland has no separate building and no separate exhibit, but the Poles are well represented in the exhibits. Some of the finest paintings in the Austrian section of the Fine Arts Building are by Polish artists; and there is hardly a building on the ground in which Polish exhibiters have not made highly creditable displays.

Minnesota day is to be celebrated Oct. 13. The militia, 500 strong, will be here and parade. The building will be gay with flags and bunting and it is expected the cheap rates will bring an immense crowd here from Minnesota. At Festival Hall there will be speaking by National Commissioner Touseley, Gov. Nelson, Charles A. Towne of Duluth, and Prof. Northrup of the State University, all the speeches being on the topic, "The State of Minnesota." A reception will be held at the State building in the afternoon by invitation.

North Dakota is to celebrate its day Oct. 10, the day after Chicago, with quite an elaborate program, which will be announced later. The decorations for both North and South Dakota Buildings will be put up Sunday, so as to be in place for Chicago day.

BEER WAR TO BE SETTLED TODAY.

Mr. Thacher Decides to Have the Judging Done Openly—Eiboeck Will Not Serve.

The trouble between the beer judges, the Committee on Awards, and a special committee of the National Commission will probably be adjusted today. John Boyd Thacher didn't wholly approve of either the open or the secret plan proposed respectively by the judges and the committee of the commission. He decided to formulate rules himself of a compromise character, and as a result the beer will be judged openly. Each judge will be given the liquid properly labeled with the name of the manufacturer. The points allotted to the chemical test will be increased from 20 to 25, and the judges will begin their work within a day or two. Commissioner Eiboeck will refuse to serve on the commission's Supervising committee because he believes the blindfold method of judging was the best to pursue.

TO EXTERMINATE THE WEEVIL PEST.

Chief Buchanan Issues a Circular and G. V. Calhoun Sends Telegrams.

G. V. Calhoun of Washington, Chairman of the committee appointed to take steps concerning the weevil pest in the Agricultural Building, said yesterday there was not much for the committee to do, as it had been anticipated by the following circular issued by Chief Buchanan to the exhibiters in his department:

In order that there may be no possible danger of the introduction into this and other countries of the insect that has been found in the grains of several countries and States in the Agricultural Building you are urgently requested to promptly carry out the following: First—Take immediate steps to have destroyed in the garbage crematory all grain in which the insect is found. Janitors will be instructed to take the grain you designate to the crematory if you so desire. Second—Stop at once giving away or receiving samples of wheat, corn, oats, and other grains in which the insect works. Printed notices will be placed in the building, cautioning visitors against taking away any samples of such grains. Third—Seal all jars that contain wheat or other grain that attracts the insect. Fourth—Make daily examination of your exhibit and in every instance where the insect is found follow instructions in paragraph No. 1. It is highly important that this be given your immediate attention.

Mr. Calhoun said he had telegraphed to all the newspapers in his State to publish warnings for the burning of all samples of cereals sent from the Exposition. It is a mistake to suppose that the black or rice weevil, which is the insect found in the Agricultural Building, is a stranger in this country. The entomologists at Washington, D. C., say it is common in the Southern States of this country.

HE SAYS ILLINOIS IS NEGLECTED.

Secretary Garrard Explains Why Architect Boyington Received No Award.

"The reason why W. W. Boyington, the architect of the Illinois Building, did not get a mention of any kind from the judges of award when the architects of so many other State buildings were remembered is plain enough," said Secretary Garrard of the Illinois Commission yesterday. "We went outside of the architects' ring to get the plans for our building and ignored them entirely. They have never treated us decently since. It is a noticeable fact that among the list of those to whom awards are made are Burnham, Millet, and Atwood, all in the employ of the Fair and consequently not overlooked by John Boyd Thacher, also in the pay of the Fair. It has been the disposition of everybody connected with the Fair management except George R. Davis to belittle, hinder, and interfere with everything that Illinois has tried to do, simply because we refused to be a part and parcel of any of their rings or combinations and wanted to do what we thought was for the best interest of the State. When we refused to go into the Hygeia combination and showed a disposition to give the people pure drinking water filtered through the Pasteur filters they came back at us with a charge of $750 for water furnished to Sept. 1, and nearly all of it has been used by the general public for drinking purposes free of charge. We have no special interest in Boyington, but at the same time the plans he made for this building were approved by Mr. Burnham before they were adopted and would probably get an award were we in the ring."

MITCHELL COMING TO INVESTIGATE.

He Wants to Know the Status of Florida as an Exhibiting State.

Gov. Mitchell of Florida is expected to arrive here today or tomorrow and will appear before the National Commission, provided it is in session, regarding the position of Florida as an exhibiting State. National Commissioner Arthur C. Jackson and Gov. Mitchell differ radically regarding the Florida exhibit, the Florida Building, and pretty much everything else connected with State affairs at the Exposition. Mrs. Jackson, wife of the Commissioner, said: "Why, the State of Florida really has nothing to do with this building. The Governor opposed any appropriation, and it was built and is run by individal exhibiters. The original of this building, Old Fort Marion at St. Augustine, was never taken, and this won't be," and she compressed her lips and looked as defiant as if she thought the Governor were coming with an armed force to attack the building and oust the holders. "It never will be taken now, either," she went on, "while a descendant of old Andrew Jackson occupies it."

Odd Bedouin Races.

Three thousand people witnessed the races given by the Wild East Bedouins yesterday at the west end of Midway. The first race, between four fleet-footed natives, was won by Mulheim in 43 seconds. The donkey race was won by Saliman, a clown, who rode a trick donkey, and after being purposely dismounted several times, won easily in 123 seconds. Mazboul, who had the smallest dromedary, won the dromedary race in 45 seconds. Prince Mir Aly, riding Abaye, won the horse race by half a length in 31 seconds. The track is a short quarter mile. The races will be repeated Saturday at 5 p. m. and are open to all.

Plaster Falls in Woman's Building.

From the arch of the west entrance to the Woman's Building a large piece of plastering fell yesterday at 4 p. m. and knocked a small boy down, besides frightening a hundred women out of their wits for a few minutes. The piece of plaster was about six feet square and came down with a crash. The consternation it created had not been quieted when another piece equally as large came down. Women ran screaming and men crowded back upon them in getting away from the dangerous spot. The boy was the 10-year-old son of G. S. Booker of Mount Carroll, Ill. The boy was almost buried in the débris, but his injuries are not serious.

Close of Carriage Builders' Convention.

The Carriage Builders' National Association held its third day's session yesterday in Agricultural Assembly Hall. Saratoga was selected as the place for the next meeting. A resolution was adopted, after a stormy debate, censuring the Senate on its delay in passing the repeal bill. The roster of members who have died during the year was read and resolutions were adopted in their memory. The Classification committee reported its failure to secure a universal freight classification all over the United States. The convention soon after adjourned.

Putnam Likely to Be Curator.

Prof. F. W. Putnam, Chief of the Department of Ethnology, probably will be Curator of the Chicago Memorial Museum. Prof. Putnam for twenty years has been the Curator of Peabody Museum of Harvard University, and the people of Boston have through all that time generously supported him in his investigations, which have resulted in building up a great museum there. The professor is the real originator of the idea of having a permanent memorial museum in Chicago.

Northwest Coast Fair.

TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 5.—There will be held in this city next year during August, September, and October the "Northwest Coast Fair." All of the coast States, including Idaho, Nevada, Montana, and Alaska, will be invited to participate. The buildings of the Western Washington Exposition will be used, with important additions. The stock show will be the feature.

Big Attendance "Chicago Day."

Supt. Tucker said last night he expected the attendance Chicago day to exceed 400,000. "If the Chicago business-men keep their promises," he said, "there will be more than 400,000 people here. The souvenir tickets for that day are now selling at the rate of 15,000 to 20,000 a day."

World's Fair Notes.

George E. Foster, Minister of Finance, and A. R. Angers, Minister of Agriculture for the Dominion of Canada were at the Fair yesterday.

The New Haven Horse Guards, organized more than a century ago, arrived at the Kirkland Hotel yesterday for a two weeks' visit to the Exposition.

The ladies in charge of the Michigan Building gave a pork and beans dinner at the Michigan logging camp yesterday for Gov. and Mrs. John T. Rich.

Chief Barrett of the Department of Electricity and Frank D. Millet, Director of Decorations, "made" up yesterday. The relations between the two have been strained over the Irish flag incident.

The Council of Administration does not favor the plan of giving Exposition tickets to each $10 stockholder in the Exposition company as was proposed at the last meeting of the Board of Directors.

The Carlisle Indian School Band gave a concert yesterday morning in front of the Pennsylvania Building. At 5 p. m. the cadets went through a number of military evolutions on the plaza in front of the Terminal Station.

President Palmer of the National Commission gave a reception and luncheon yesterday afternoon between 2 and 4 o'clock to foreign Commissioners, members of the National Commission, and chiefs of the various departments.

Exhibiters in the Mines and Mining Building last night presented Chief Frederick J. V. Skiff a silver tea-set, five pieces, valued at $2,035. In addition to this, several of the exhibiters, representing different countries, collected a dozen jewels for him, which are to be set into appropriate jewelry. The presentation was in the New York State Building.

The dairy interests of Canada will be represented in this month's competition by a fine lot of butter and cheese sent out by that country. Three cars in charge of J. A. Ruddick of Ottawa, maker of the big cheese in the Agricultural Building, arrived yesterday, bringing 424 cheeses from 400 factories, the majority in Ontario, and 167 packages of butter from Ontario, Quebec, and Manitoba.

The loudest-mouthed runners in Chicago stood on the viaduct at Van Buren street yesterday and made life miserable for the people going to the Fair. The treaty of peace between the Illinois Central people and the Henry syndicate running the steamers seemed to have gone to pieces. The railroad people are said to have planted a string of men on the viaduct, who said never a word, but with the most expressive looks and waving their hands toward the south side of the viaduct attracted passengers after the manner on Midway. The steamboat men caught on in a few hours, and Manager Cochrane engaged several runners whose voices would give a steamboat whistle cards and spades. Then the band played.

WISCONSIN BAPTISTS PASS RESOLUTIONS.

Negro Lynchings and the Geary Chinese Law Demanded—Milwaukee News.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—The Wisconsin Baptist State convention to-day passed resolutions denouncing negro lynchings in the South, declaring the Geary Chinese deportation law to be unworthy of a civilized nation, urging Baptists to help all temperance associations and praising the work of the Baptist Boy's Brigade. The Rev. F. C. Dinsmore, treasurer, of Delavan, submitted his report for the year ending Oct. 4. The receipts for general work amounted to $6,217.64; for students' missionary work, $247.70; for chapel fund, $35.76. The cash on hand Jan. 7 was $359.10, making the grand total of receipts $6,860.20. The disbursements amounted to $4,467.20, leaving a balance of $2,384.

The Cigarmakers' International Union spent another half day discussing the practice of referring all matters to a popular vote of the members of the unions throughout the country. It was finally decided to submit two propositions to the unions. One proposition is to continue the practice of submitting all questions to and having the election of officers by a popular vote as heretofore, and the other is to modify this system by electing officers at the annual conventions and leaving the referring of questions to a popular vote as heretofore.

John B. Koetting, cashier of the defunct South Side Savings Bank, did not put in an appearance at the Municipal Court this morning. W. C. Williams, his attorney, had stated that perhaps Koetting had thought Oct. 5 instead of Oct. 2 was the date set for the preliminary examination.

APPARENT HARMONY IN NEW YORK.

Democratic Convention Gets Through the Routine Without Striking a Snag.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Oct. 5.—The Cleveland delegates in Schenectady County and the State machine delegates in Franklin County were admitted to the Democratic State convention today. Daniel N. Lockwood of Buffalo was made Temporary Chairman. He congratulated the country on its administration at Washington and promised that the repeal of the Sherman law would be accomplished in response to President Cleveland's message. The Democratic party would repeal the Republican election law iniquity, and all the pledges of the party would be fulfilled. He praised particularly the two Democratic Senators at Washington. After the roll-call and the announcement of committees the convention adjourned until today.

New Rate on Grain Risks.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—J. A. Brant of the Minneapolis inspection office has issued a new rating card on elevator and grain risks outside of the Twin Cities. The new rates apply to the elevator and grain risks of Iowa, Wisconsin, North and South Dakota, and Minnesota. It is based on the idea embodied in the universal mercantile system, and according to the construction of the building, fire department facilities, etc., the rate of insurance depends. The average increase in rate throughout the card is 25 per cent, and it is already in effect.

Heinz Held Under Suspicion.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 5.—J. B. McFadden, Fire Marshal; Roger O'Mara, Superintendent of Police; and County Detective Beltzhoover spent the whole of today in investigating the fire which this morning almost entirely destroyed Heinz Bros. & Co.'s pickle establishment at No. 145 First avenue. While the fire was in progress J. C. Heinz, said to be a member of the firm, was arrested. He admitted being in the place when the fire started. He is held by the police pending a further investigation.

To Recover Oakland Water-Front.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 5.—A bill in equity will shortly be filed in the United States Supreme Court by Attorney-General Hart on behalf of the State of California against the Southern Pacific company for the recovery of the Oakland water-front. Another suit will be filed in the Superior Court of Alameda County on behalf of the State against the Oakland Water-Front company, the City of Oakland, or any persons asserting claim to the water-front.

FOR GERMANY'S ARMY

EXAMINATIONS IN AMERICA WHICH LOOK LIKE RECRUITING.

Subjects of Emperor William Required to Appear at the German Consulate in New York and Pass Muster of Physicians—Custom Once Declared a Violation of Neutrality Laws—How the Fatherland Looks After Absentees Subject to Military Duty—Advice and Penalties.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—[Special.]—At a time like this, when international relations in Europe are strained and a conflict involving the five stronger governments of the continent is not unlooked for, the system of military examinations held at the German Consulate in this city to determine the fitness or unfitness of Germans to serve in the Emperor's army is viewed with interest. The question as to whether the German Government is maintaining a recruiting station in this city is one which has been frequently asked lately.

Every male child born in Germany is considered amenable to the law of military service. The day of his birth, the names of his parents, and other data for identification are kept on the government books. With practiced eyes the officials watch the records of the smallest hamlet, and when they show that even one male inhabitant has reaced the age of 21 and has not served his term in the army he is notified to appear at the nearest recruiting place. If he has left the country he is counted a deserter, and when apprehended must not only serve the stated term but must also discharge a fine for desertion either with additional time or with a money equivalent.

There is one exception to this rule. That is when a lad less than 17 years old becomes officially an emigrant. He must then deny all allegiance to the German Emperor by oath and is considered an outcast. Should he neglect to go through this form he will still be considered bound to serve when 21 years of age, no matter how far he may have strayed from the Fatherland.

Arrest Follows Return.

He may have become a citizen of this country, but the edict of the Emperor still hangs over him. His appearance in Germany invites arrest and impressment into the army with the various penalties that have accumulated for not answering calls.

This is where the examinations held the first Saturday of each month in the office of Herr August Feigel are supposed to begin and end their function. There it is to be determined whether a German is fit or unfit for military duty. If physically incapable he receives papers which clear him of further obligations to the military regulations. If declared in good condition the Consular or his assistant "advises" him to return to Germany and there to submit to the law. He is told that his portion of his father's estate will otherwise be confiscated and he will be arrested when he puts a foot on German territory. Germans who are here on furlough and others who, having put in the required time in the garrisons, are on the reserve list to be called at the will of the Emperor must submit to the examinations. They will also be classed in the same category as deserters if they do not submit to the test.

Through this system the German Government knows just where to find any of its subjects, and in case of impending war can notify each one of the duty he is called upon to perform.

What Officials Say.

Dr. Barnim Scharlam, one of the three medical examiners attached to the German Consulate, was seen today in his house, No. 66 West Thirty-fifth street.

"This examination," said the doctor, "is a courtesy extended by the German Government to German residents here. It saves its subject a possible unnecessary trip to Europe, for if he is found physically unsound here he is relieved from duty by the Consul. The Consul takes no steps whatever in sending such as are fit for service back to Europe. They take their chances in escaping the tentacles of the German law."

Herr Feigel refused to discuss the subject with the correspondent when asked at the consulate, No. 2 Bowling Green, today, "Has a foreign nation the right to conduct so-called examination offices for foreign military service in this country? Do not these examinations, accompanied by 'advice' and a statement of penalities, resemble recruiting?"

The English Government has decided that such a system is not in conformity with the spirit of American laws. At the English Consulate it was thought that such examinations were preliminary steps to recruiting, and for that reason they were abandoned many years ago. A British Minister was recalled from this country for trifling with America's neutrality laws. That affair was supposed to have decided once for all the question of recruiting here.

NEWS FROM THE METROPOLIS.

Arrival of Joseph Chamberlain, the Liberal Unionist Leader.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—[Special.]—The Rt.-Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, the Liberal Unionists' leader in the British House of Commons, his wife, and two sons arrived here today on the White Star steamship Majestic. He said the stories that he would reply to Mr. Gladstone's Edinburg speech as soon as he reached these shores were utterly absurd. "I don't think there is the slightest danger of an abolishment of the House of Lords," he said. "I believe that at the next general election the Gladstonians will be swept out of sight by a greater majority than that which lifted them into power." He will remain in this country about three weeks.

THE ILLINOIS PRESS.

Lincoln Courier: The people are opposed to giving the railroads only what they have to give. The day is coming when law will exact a two-cent fare and say that a ticket is good until used. Speed the day.

Danville Commercial: How can John Charles Black make such a vigorous speech when he is drawing a pension of $100 a month for "total disability"?

Springfield News: Congressman Black of Illinois declares that Chicago elections are unfair. We always thought that there was something wrong with that 35,000 majority last fall which sent him to Washington.

Springfield Journal: If the Chicago workingmen who are out of employment really expect Gov. Altgeld to furnish them with work they should get into the penitentiary; then the Governor will take some interest in them.

Joliet Republican: Gen. Black of this State is taking a prominent part in Congress in favor of repealing the Federal election laws. The gallant General stands fast by his party in favor of giving the ballot-box rascals full sway on election day.

Alton Telegraph: The Governor is one of those men who is not a theorist simply. He believes in practicing what he preaches, and he, therefore, is depopulating the penitentiaries as rapidly as he can sign pardons for the "rascals" inside the walls.

Morris Herald: Gov. Altgeld is probably the only public official in the country whose almost every public act since he has been in office has been condemned throughout the country as pernicious to public morals if not absolutely disreputable of itself.

Peoria Transcript: There are a great many Anarchists in this country, more's the pity, and their numbers have been largely increased since the ill-advised action of the Governor of Illinois in coupling with their pardon a savage attack upon the officers of law and justice.

Quincy Whig: Unfortunately there are more than fifty Anarchists in Illinois, not counting Altgeld, and the knowledge that they have a friend in the executive office ready to pardon them if they should get into trouble has emboldened them more than even he is willing to confess.

Springfield Journal: Gov. Altgeld pardons numerous convicts for the reason that some other fellow who was equally or more guilty escaped punishment. If he adheres closely to that rule he will soon solve the contract convict labor problems that are involved in the confinement of criminals.

Decatur Review (Dem.): Last year some papers professed to be much disturbed at the prospect of wildcat currency. Since we have heard from Stewart, Teller, Cameron, and Dubois the wildcat has become a comparatively harmless animal. The country is now asking to be delivered from wild Senator currency.

Champaign Gazette: Altgeld's new custodian of the Lincoln homestead at Springfield has undertaken to embellish the house. He has hung up a portrait of Grover Cleveland and one of Wilkes Booth and a campaign banner with a picture of Senator Palmer on it. As relics of the great emancipator these are touching things.

Harvard Herald: If the present Democratic "reform" Congress would take the coal trusts by the neck, and the oil trust, the sugar trust, and all other trusts in sight and wring their necks bodily, physically, spiritually, and actually, the country might forgive any amount of its tomfoolery with the silver question and the Federal election law.

Joliet Republican: If Gov. Altgeld wants to help free labor why doesn't he stop this convict labor and turn the work which convict labor is now doing over to free labor? There are lots of idle men in Joliet who can make horse collars, can perform a full day's work in a broom, chair, or knitting factory, or can earn fair wages in a machine shop. Why should not these men be allowed to do this work and why should not Gov. Altgeld give them the privilege of doing it?

GIVE IT TO THE CITY.

ROSENBERG FOUNTAIN IS FORMALLY PRESENTED.

Surmounted by a Bronze Statue of Hebe It Stands at Park Row and Michigan Avenue—Cassius Belden Is Brought Into Court and His Relatives Advised to Take Him Before Insane Board—Chicago's Notable Record in the Production and Sale of Malt Liquors.

The Rosenberg fountain, donated by the late Joseph Rosenberg to the City of Chicago, has been formally presented to the city by Jacob and Bernhard Rosenberg, the executers of the estate. The fountain is located at Park Row and Michigan avenue. It is a statue of Hebe made in Munich at a cost of $12,000. No arrangements have been made for a public and formal dedication nor has Mayor Harrison, to whom the executors yesterday forwarded a presentation letter, made formal response to the same. Efforts were made to complete the fountain before the close of the World's Fair. It is of bronze. There is a circular subbase 15 feet 9 inches in diameter and 10 inches high. This supports the basin of the fountain. From the rim of this rise six columns 6 feet 6 inches in height and on these is the subbase of the statue. The stone work is of colored granite, the material used in the Drake fountain. The fountain pedestal to the base of the statue is 14 feet 8½ inches and the figure is 11 feet high. This figure is Hebe in a graceful pose. The letter sent to Mayor Harrison follows:

To the Honorable the Mayor and Common Council of the City of Chicago: We have heretofore notified you that Joseph Rosenberg, formerly of our city, died July 26, 1891, resident of San Francisco, Cal., provided in his will among other things:

In the City of Chicago, State of Illinois, I want a drinking fountain erected for the purpose of supplying the thirsty with pure water. I wish my executors to consult with the Aldermen for some prominent corner in the heart of the city, on the South Side of the river, and set aside the sum of $10,000 and wish an appropriate inscription on the fountain.

PRESENTED BY JOSEPH ROSENBERG OF SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

In compliance with this direction we, as executors of said will, upon consultation with the Aldermen of this city and with their consent and approval selected the northeast corner of Park row and Michigan avenue as a suitable corner for the site of a drinking fountain.

The fountain is now erected in the manner required by the will, and we are ready to deliver it to you as the representatives of the people of Chicago at such time as you may appoint. Its cost exceeded the sum of $10,000 appropriated by the will. The bronze statue of Hebe was designed by the sculptor, Franz Machtl of Munich, Bavaria, and the base was constructed by the architects, Messrs. Bauer & Hill of this city. In handing over the monument to you we desire to express the wish that the same be properly taken care of by the city, so that the benevolent object of the testator be carried out in the same spirit which dictated the bequest.

JACOB ROSENBERG,
BERNARD ROSENBERG,
Executors of the last will and testament of Joseph Rosenberg, deceased.

The original design of the figure was rejected out of deference to public taste. It was nude save for slight drapery over the left arm.

BELDEN IS BROUGHT INTO COURT.

Judge Brentano Advises the His Brother to Take Him Before Insane Board.

Cassius Belden will be sent to the insane asylum as soon as the Insane Board can adjudge him of unsound mind. Belden is the person who fired a revolver in the Board of Trade Sept. 27, seriously wounding Amri Bennet, Telegraph Operator Roswold, and Mrs. Lewis of St. Louis. In Justice Bradwell's court yesterday evidence was introduced showing that Belden did the shooting. Theodore Belden of No. 305 La Salle avenue told of his brother's life. Five years ago his relatives placed Cassius in the insane asylum at Kankakee. He was liberated three years ago, not as cured, but as being harmless. Mrs. A. Williams, a sister of Belden, said that her unfortunate brother had told her that they were trying to buy and sell his soul on the Board of Trade. Justice Bradwell bound him to the Criminal Court in the sum of $3,000. His brother was advised to take steps to have him brought before the Insane Court, which he promised to do at once.

STANDS SECOND IN THE SALE OF BEER.

Chicago's Record in the Malt Liquor Industry an Imposing One.

Another achievement is added to those by which Chicago has made the Columbian year memorable in its history. The figures just given out by the Internal Revenue Bureau show that Chicago stands second only to New York in the production and sale of malt liquors. During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1893, the brewers of the entire United States produced and disposed of a grand total of 33,822,872 barrels, a net increase over the previous year of 2,176,396 barrels. Of that grand total Chicago breweries contributed 2,761,714 barrels, 126,854 barrels more than in 1892. New York during the same time produced 4,838,960 barrels, an increase of 265,941.

The beer statistics for the year also show that of the States in which there has been an increase in the production of malt liquors Illinois is easily in the lead. The State is credited with 3,392,912 barrels, an increase of 457,044 barrels over the preceding year. Only two States, New York and Pennsylvania, make more. The six cities which show the greatest increase in the production of malt liquors are, in the order of their increase, as follows: New York, St. Louis, Pittsburg, Louisville, Chicago, and Philadelphia. The inhabitants of St. Louis drink more beer in proportion to their number than those of Chicago. The Missouri town must be content with the third place in total production, however, for New York and Chicago easily lead in that particular.

FREE-THINKERS ELECT OFFICERS.

Nebraska Delegate Proposes to Found Free Thought University at Kearney.

Yesterday morning's session of the International Congress of Freethinkers was devoted to the affairs of the American Secular Union. The following officers were elected: President, C. B. Waite; Vice-Presidents, T. B. Wakeman, Dr. Juliet H. Severance, Dr. J. H. Green; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. W. A. Freeman; Field Secretary, Dr. J. L. York; Treasurer, Otto Wittstein.

C. W. Goff offered to subscribe forty acres of land and pledged himself to raise $20,000 for the purpose of founding a free thought university at Kearney, Neb. The proposition was accepted.

Addresses were made by C. B. Waite, Dr. J. L. York, J. D. Shaw, B. Wakeman, Dr. Paul Carsus, Isaac A. Hourwich, Madam Josephine Kodis, Capt. Robert C. Adams, and Clarence S. Darrow. Today the members of the Congress will visit the Fair in a body.

CHILD SWALLOWS CARBOLIC ACID.

Little Boy Drinks from a Bottle Found in an Alley.

Samuel Lindenreth, 3 years and 6 months old, met with a peculiar accident Wednesday that will disfigure him for life and also affect his speech. With a 5-year-old sister he was playing in the alley in the rear of No. 5950 Wallace street when they found a bottle. The girl extracted the cork and gave it to her brother, who took a long drink from it. He dropped it with a scream and fell unconscious to the ground. His little sister after vainly trying to awaken him called her mother. A physician was sent for and it was found that he had drank carbolic acid. The acid had run over his chin and neck, disfiguring him, while his throat was also badly burned. No one knows how the bottle of acid was thrown into the alley.

JEWELRY AND DRY GOODS THIEVES.

They Carry Away Their Plunder in a Wagon.

Thieves coolly backed a wagon up to the rear of C. H. Engels' jewelry store at No. 812 Forty-third street early yesterday morning and loading jewelry and dry goods to the value of $700 to $1,000 drove away. They first went to the front and removed a pane of glass. They were just driving away when they were seen by a private watchman, who fired several shots at them without effect.

Assaulted and Robbed by Crowd of Boys.

Willie Klose, 14 years of age, who lives at No. 189 North Paulina street, was assaulted by a crowd of boys at State and Monroe streets yesterday afternoon and his silver watch was taken. He was walking along State street and at Monroe met a crowd of boys, who surrounded him and demanded his watch. He refused to give it and was knocked down by one in the crowd. After taking his watch and 15 cents in money the boys scattered. Officer Kline caught one of the boys, who gave his name as Israel Mackaw. The watch was found in his pocket and he will be arraigned today on the charge of larceny.

Ex-Judge Collins as an Advocate.

Ex-Judge Collins appeared as a lawyer yesterday in a case on trial before Judge Ewing, it being the first case argued by him since leaving the bench. He represented J. A. Barkley in his suit against the Superior Savings, Loan, and Building Association, in which Judge Ewing removed the Receiver Wednesday. Ex-Judge Collins insisted that Judge Ewing had jurisdiction in the appointment of the receiver and asked for an order making a new appointment. The court will hear more of the case Monday.

Baron Fava, Italian Ambassador, Arrives.

Baron Fava, the Italian Ambassador, arrived in Chicago yesterday evening and drove immediately to the Metropole, where a suite of rooms had been engaged for him. Only the Baroness Fava accompanied the historic Ambassador, who once withdrew from Washington when relations were strained between this country and Italy. Outside of saying that he had come to see the big Fair the Ambassador would not talk. The object of Baron Fava's visit, it is said, is to assist in the celebration of Oct. 12, Spanish and Italian societies' day at the World's Fair.

Modest Price on His Injuries.

Only $25 damages were asked for in a suit brought yesterday by Herman Matsche against the North Chicago Street railroad company. July 23 the plaintiff was run over by a Clybourn avenue grip car and had several bones broken. As a consequence he was compelled, according to the declaration filed with the suit, to remain in bed for three weaks, expending $25 for the services of a physician. Matsche says he does not want anything for the injuries received.

Sues Siegel, Cooper & Co.

A precipæ has been filed in the Superior Court, wherein Madge W. Gesinger brings suit against Siegel, Cooper & Co. for $25,000 damages. The plaintiff is a handsome young woman 20 years of age, and is employed in the law offices of Story, Westover & Story, her attorneys in the case. Both the plaintiff and attorneys decline to talk of the nature of the suit, saying a declaration will be filed in a few days. Miss Gesinger has never been in the employ of the defendants.

Nellie Haley Discharged.

Nellie Haley, charged with abducting Kittie Morris, a 15-year-old girl, was dismissed by Justice Bradwell yesterday on a showing that the younger girl was dissolute. The Justice remarked, "I shall have to dismiss the case, but if I had the power I would hang that woman," pointing to Nellie Haley.

Items.

The Superior Savings, Loan, and Building Association voluntarily assigned yesterday in favor of the Chicago Title and Trust company.

The Illinois Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons closed its fifty-fourth annual conclave yesterday morning in Central Music Hall.

Miss Phœbe Couzins is reported by physicians to be recovering from an attack of pneumonia which Wednesday threatened to be fatal. She is at the Isabella Hotel.

James Garman of No. 215 Larrabee street was fined $25 yesterday on a charge of disorderly conduct preferred by his wife. She said her husband had threatened to kill her.

The Northwestern University Dental School dedicated its new home at Nos. 2421-2431 Dearborn street yesterday with appropriate exercises. President Rogers and Dean Edgar D. Swain delivered addresses.

Eleven men were taken to the Joliet Penitiary yesterday from the County Jail. Among them was William Williams, to serve a life sentence for murder. Eleven boys were taken to the reformatory at Pontiac.

The government immigration officers here have communicated with the New York office with regard to the alleged infringement of the alien labor contract law by the management of the London Lyceum Company.

Officer Patrick Casey of the Desplaines Street Station was discharged from the force yesterday by Chief Brennan for drunkenness. He is said to have shot Joseph Coughlin in the foot while on a spree Wednesday night.

Mr. Boughen of Cincinnati, who has been in the city for several days in search of his son Joseph E. Boughen, who disappeared Sept. 20 while on a visit to the Fair, offers a reward of $50 for any information concerning him.

Deputy Coroner McNally conducted an inquest yesterday in the case of Charles McMullen, who was shot on the morning of Sept. 21. Officers P. J. Rowan and John Fitzmorris, who did the shooting, were exonerated from all blame.

Officer James Wheelan of the Stock-Yards Station, who shot Michael Fanning at the polls Tuesday last, was suspended by Inspector Hunt last night on instructions from Chief Brennan until the investigation into the affair is complete.

After an examination of over 100 men summoned to serve as jurors the twelfth juror was secured to try Serar Ortell for murder in Judge Brentano's court yesterday afternoon. The taking of testimony will begin at 10 o'clock this morning.

Attorney Moses abandoned all claim to the illegality of the County Court's proceedings yesterday. Judges Scales and Donnelly informed him that they had examined the common law records and found the placita entered in full and legal form.

James Fitzgerald, who the police say is a well-known confidence man, was locked up at the Cottage Grove Avenue Station last night on a charge of larceny of $400. Charles Fraatz, a saloonkeeper at No. 1832 Michigan avenue is the complainant.

Yesterday Judge Horton was asked to dissolve the injunction restraining Frank Sheldon from constructing a livery stable at No. 211 Evanston avenue. Sheldon said he had secured a permit from Building Inspector Toolen. The Judge reserved his decision.

A force of clerks from Washington will arrive her Monday to assist Mr. Tanner in the Subtreasury here. This office now has to shoulder the work entailed by the payment of all pensions drawn at Detroit, Des Moines, and Milwaukee agencies. This means an increase of 35,000 separate payments.

Ignatz Belowitz, a paper carrier living at No. 1787 Milwaukee avenue, was assaulted and robbed yesterday morning by three men at Milwaukee and North avenues. The police arrested three men who gave their names as John Burke, John Long, and Daniel O'Day. The cases against them were continued until Oct. 7, in $1,000 bonds.

Robert Kaiser, a prisoner at the East Chicago Avenue Station, confessed to Inspector Schaack yesterday that he had been a petty thief for a long time. He said he had stolen articles to the value of $300. A large quantity of clothing was found at a house where he had lived. Kaiser was fined $50, and, being ill, was sent to the County Hospital.

Judge Tuley acted as auctioneer yesterday morning. Sealed bids were opened in court for the sale of the property of Charles A. Weisenbach, an insolvent boot and shoe dealer at Eighteenth and Halsted streets. The highest sealed bid received was $7,500. The court allowed other bids, the purchaser being Benjamin Rothschild, who offered $8,500 for the concern.

Dr. Menor Bell was in Justice Bradwell's court yesterday charged with robbing Eva Le Gall of jewelry valued at $1,000. He was bound over to the Criminal Court in bonds of $1,500. He confessed yesterday that he had drugged Miss Le Gall and had committed the robbery. He was identified by Alice Meyer as the man who robbed her of a diamond two months ago.

M. Heinemann, a druggist at No. 211 Webster avenue, appeared in Justice Glennon's court yesterday charged with carelessness in selling poisonous drugs. It was claimed by Frank L. Monte, a minor, that Heinemann's daughter sold him a quantity of carbolic acid, the sale under the circumstances being a violation of a State statute. Mr. Heinemann was fined $5.

Affair Informal in All Its Details and Pervaded Throughout by Good Humor—Bright Speeches the Climax of the Function—Ex-Secretary Noble Refers to His Experience with Patents—Mr. and Mrs. Potter Palmer's First October Reception—Banquet of Carriage Builders.

Members of the Patent Bar Association held a banquet last evening at the Union League club. It was the annual meeting and the informal celebration of the tenth anniversary of the founding of the association. The informal dinner was a pleasing prelude to the more serious business of the meeting. The table was set in the small banquet-room of the Union League club, and was placed in the form of a Y. At the head were seated the speakers and invited guests. To the right of J. H. Pierce, President of the Patent Bar Association, at the head of the main table, were ex-Secretary of the Interior, J. W. Noble, Judge H. W. Blodgett, and Judge William H. Woods. To the left of the Chairman were the Hon. J. R. Pope, the Canadian Commissioner of Patents; Judge Grosscup, the United States Commissioner of Patents; J. S. Seymour, Judge James S. Jenkins, and Secretary C. E. Pickard. There were no menu cards, or aught else that might betoken a formal banquet, but the dinner in appointment and excellence was a banquet and a royal one at that.

After the cigars had been lighted Chairman J. H. Pierce informally inaugurated the post prandial exercises by calling for Judge Blodgett's unofficial opinion of patent lawyers. Judge Blodgett commended them for "a fairness that you rarely see in any other class of litigation." And moreover he had "found ever and always that broad and liberal desire that justice should be done, and that right for the sake of right alone transcended oftentimes personal interests."

J. R. Pope, the Canadian Commissioner of Patents, had something to say of interest on the subject of international patent law and the impetus that had been given invention by the additional safeguards vouchsafed a patentee.

Judge Woods said a few nice things about patent lawyers and ex-Secretary Noble told what in his late official capacity he had to attend to besides Indians. He said:

As Secretary of the Interior, besides Indians, and Census, and Pensions, the Bureau of Education, subsidized railroads, general land office, national parks, national institutions for the deaf, the dumb, the blind, an asylum for imbecile children, and other things, I also had the privilege of superintending the issuing of some 40,000 patents a year. When the application comes to the Secretary only a small space is left for his signature, but the smaller the space the better he likes it.

Judge Jenkins believed that the members of the association deserved a patent upon the kindly manner in which they received their guests, and then he told some of the trials of a patent lawyer under the old-time régime. Judge Grosscup, in the course of a few brief remarks, referred to the patent lawyers as men who one day would tell you there was nothing new under the sun and the next day everything under the sun was new. But the District Judge explained he had listened to a case about a dust-collecting apparatus all day and he could therefore not eleminate the centrifugal force prayed for by the plaintiff. Commissioner of Patents J. S. Seymour made a few brief remarks and the formal speaking ended.

Among those present were:

Ex-Secretary J. W. Noble, Judge William A. Woods, Judge H. W. Blodgett, J. H. Pierce (President, Chicago), the Hon. J. R. Pope of Canada, J. S. Seymour, Judge James S. Jenkins, Judge Grosscup, C. E. Pickard (Secretary), James Buchanan, J. M. Thacher, Jesse Baldwin, William Redding, J. H. Raymond, J. R. Tyron, C. H. Adams, J. L. Jackson, C. A. Brown, George P. Barlon, J. Dyrenforth, C. T. BANQUET TO CARRIAGE BUILDERS.

Six Hundred Guests Around the Festive Board at the Auditorium.

A banquet was given to the members of the Carriage Builders' National Association at the Auditorium Hotel last night. There were 600 guests, among them:

President Thomas W. Palmer of the National Commission, Lord Mayor Shanks of Dublin, Carter H. Harrison, C. F. Kimball; H. C. Staver and M. H. Lane, Kalamazoo, Mich.; Henry Timken, St. Louis, Mo.; John Colyer, Newark, N. J.; N. Robertson, Denver, Col.; Henry C. McLear, Wilmington, Del.; Lowe Emerson, Cincinnati, O.; W. E. Biddle, Amesbury, Mass.; William T. Haydock, St. Louis; G. H. Babcock, Watertown, N. Y.; F. B. Judkins, Merrimac, Mass.; Millard F. Lane, Philadelphia; G. L. Summers, Barnesville, Ga.; C. O. Wrean, Norfolk, Va.; C. D. Firestone, Columbus, O.

At 8:45 Dr. McPherson invoked the divine blessing and the banquet began. C. F. Kimball, President of the Carriagemakers' National Association, acted as toast master. The speakers were President Palmer, Carter H. Harrison, Commissioner George V. Massey, the Rev. Simon J. McPherson, Willard A. Smith and Ludwig Lohner of Paris. The carriagemakers were eulogized and patted on the back by Mayor Harrison. He gave his characteristic address, and, for the fiftieth time during the World's Fair season, declared Chicago is the most cosmopolitan city in the world. Ludwig Lohner of Paris expressed his thanks for the courtesies shown him by the association, and said he conveyed the best wishes of the carriage-builders of France. At 12:30 this morning the banquet was over, and a plan was arranged for the members of the association to take a launch excursion today on the lake.

MR. AND MRS. PALMER RECEIVE.

First of a Series of October Gatherings—Distinguished Persons Present.

Mr. and Mrs. Potter Palmer gave an informal reception last evening from 9 until 12 o'clock at their residence on the Lake-Shore drive. The affair was the first of a series which Mrs. Palmer will give Thursday evenings during October, the invitations to which have been extended to some of the distinguished foreigners who are guests in the city, as well as to Mrs. Palmer's personal friends. The reception last evening was of the simplest nature, nothing in the way of decorations being attempted. The rooms on the main floor were all thrown open, however, and the new art gallery was lighted for the first time. In the new dining-room, which is all in white and gold, light refreshments were served and an orchestra played. Mrs. Palmer received in the French drawing-room and wore a gown of black satin and lace made with a low bodice, finished with large puffed sleeves of pale heliotrope satin. Her ornaments were of pearls. Among the few guests present were:

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henrotin, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hosmer, Mrs. Wirt Dexter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCormick, the Misses Isham, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Goodwin, Charles Norman Fay, Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Eddy, W. Braweart, Maj. and Mrs. Joseph Kirkland, Mrs. Eagle, Adrian Honoré, Edward Henrotin, Mr. and Mrs. Greenough, Charles Page Bryan, Mrs. Mulligan, Miss Mulligan, Ex-Gov. and Mrs. Oglesby, Miss Oglesby, Miss Gillette.

MISS PRENTISS WEDS J. D. COUFFER.

Ceremony at Home of Bride's Parents—Redington-Knowlton Marriage.

The marriage of Miss Mary Jewett Prentiss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis M. Prentiss, to John Dubois Couffer was celebrated last evening at the residence of the bride's parents, No. 292 Ashland boulevard. The ceremony took place at 8 o'clock and was performed by the Rev. J. S. Withrow. The bridal party stood under a bower of palms and ferns in the front of the drawing room. The attendants were Lewis Prentiss and George Davis as ushers, Miss Couffer and Miss Scales as bridemaids, Miss Louise Clark as the maid of honor, and Clinton Couffer as best man. The bride wore a heavy white silk gown trimmed with duchesse lace and a tulle veil. Her ornaments were diamonds, and she carried white roses. The maid of honor wore pink silk and carried white roses, and the bridemaids were dressed in white silk gowns and carried pink roses. A reception was held and a supper was served after the ceremony. Mrs. Prentiss received in a black satin gown, combined with old rose and trimmed with lace. Late in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Couffer left for a trip East. They will be at home Wednesdays in November at No. 292 Ashland boulevard.

Miss Mary L. Knowlton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Knowlton, was married last evening at 7:30 o'clock to Frank R. Redington at the home of her parents, No. 112 Loomis street. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. T. P. Goodwin. There were no attendants. The bride wore a gown of white crêpe, combined with chiffon, and a tulle veil. She carried a large bouquet of white roses. A supper was served after the ceremony, twenty-five guests being present. After a wedding trip West Mr. and Mrs. Redington will be at home Nov. 2 at No. 831 Washington boulevard.

WOOL GROWERS OBJECT TO THE TARIFF.

National Organization to Argue Before Congress for Changes.

Gov. John T. Rich of Michigan, in calling the convention of the National Wool Growers' Association to order in the Agricultural Assembly Hall yesterday, said he believed the time had come for the wool growers to declare their views and wishes in unmistakable terms regarding the present tariff. The association instructed the new President and Secretary to publish an address giving the members' views on what should be done and to employ experts to make arguments with them before Congress. Gov. Rich said:

So far as the fine wool interests are concerned what is known as the skirting clause has proven to be the weakest part of the tariff fence. Sec. 383 carefully provides against the sorting of wool to avoid the duty, but after having done this a proviso is inserted "that skirted wools, as now imported, are hereby excepted." The effect of this proviso is to let in wool worth quite as much as Ohio washed fleece at a duty of only 11 cents a pound, when if it came in whole fleeces washed it would pay 22 cents a pound. The result is that on fine wool there is little, if any, more than one-half the protection provided by law. I have seen in Philadelphia Australian skirted wool, which paid only 11 cents a pound, sell for from 40 to 42 cents, when the best unwashed full-blood Merino wool would only bring 18 to 20 cents. Ohio fleece wool, washed, has an actual protection of 11 8-10 cents a pound, though the law provides that washed wool shall pay a duty of 22 cents a pound. It is useless to expect, during the present Congress, any amendment to the law of 1890 which will help our case at all. On the contrary, there is a well grounded fear that such changes are liable to be made in the law that what little protection we have may be wiped out. It is generally understood that the majority in Congress proposes to put wool on the free list and remove the compensating duty on manufacturers. Now, if placing wool on the free list did not entirely destroy wool raising in the United States, protection on manufactured woolens would be better than nothing, as it would make it possible to have a market for our wool in this country instead of selling it in a foreign country to be returned to us manufactured. It is evident that these people, who are at heart just as much in favor of free woolen manufactures as of free wool, recognize the fact that the combined wool interests of this country are too strong to be attacked at once and are appealing to the cupidity and selfishness of the manufacturers for their aid to place wool on the free list. With this accomplished they will then ask the injured and indignant wool-grower to get even with the manufacturer by helping to put the manufactured article on the free list. If this plan can be made to work in the first instance it can in the second. It seems to me the course to be pursued is to take the opposite course and endeavor to unite all the wool interests and insist that we shall stand or fall together. If we do this, even the present congress will hardly dare to attack this industry, especially in the present condition of the revenues of the government. Some prompt and efficient action must be taken if we would avert disaster.

The Nominating committee made the following report, which was adopted:

President, Judge William Lawrence of Bellefontaine, O.; Vice-President, Gov. John T. Rich of Elba, Mich.; Treasurer and Secretary, William G. Markham of Avon, N. Y.; Directors, W. A. Herriot of Federal, Pa.; J. H. Kirkpatrick of Stockton, Cal.; Capt. A. E. Shephard of Austin, Tex.; Albert Chapman of Middlebury, Vt.; F. W. Gooding of Toponis, Idaho; S. H. Todd of Ohio; George McKerrow of Sussex, Mo.

President Lawrence said:

The importers and manufacturers keep a salaried man at Washington to appear before committees and interpret the tariff laws. Because the wool-growers who represent the only absolutely national industry in the United States do not do the same thing we often get the worst of it. As a people we consumed 614,000,000 pounds of wool last year, whereas we produced only 300,000,000 pounds. We have only 45,000,000 sheep where it requires 105,000,000 to supply the wool demand of this country. We have greater facilities for wool raising than any other people and the annual consumption of wool is three pounds per capita more than in any other country. Our tariff law keeps out South American wool, but it does not keep out the Australian wool, for some of which the importer's price is only nine cents a pounds. I believe, as the representatives of 1,000,000 wool-growers, we should not rest until an absolutely prohibitive tariff is adopted. We cannot expect it from this administration, but perhaps we may from the next.

Gov. Rich wanted the President and Secretary to prepare and publish an address which should represent the views of the association and the interests of the wool-growers of the United States. He also wanted them to have authority to call in experts to aid them in arguments before committees in Congress. His wishes were formulated in a motion which was adopted. The association adjourned.

This body meets only when matters of grave importance need attention.

UNIVERSITY IN LINE WITH BAPTISTS.

Prof. Hewitt Says It Does Not Uphold Drummond's Darwinian Views.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—Prof. C. E. Hewitt of the Chicago University at the convention of the State Baptist Society today denied the statement sent out from Chicago that the Chicago University was teaching and defending the Darwinian theory of evolution. Prof. Hewitt said:

It is true that Prof. Henry Drummond, a follower of Darwin, is lecturing at the university on evolution, but the university does not in any manner approve of his beliefs or in any way uphold his sayings. Prof. Drummond has no connection with the university whatever. He is simply a chance lecturer, and is merely giving an exposition of his views, but it does not follow that the university by allowing him to talk on the subject in any way indorses or sanctions his teachings. Not a week ago the President of the university and myself discussed Prof. Drummond's lectures before we decided to allow him to speak, and we then knew that by so doing there would be a fire of criticism. We decided, however, that there could be no harm in giving our students an opportunity to become informed upon the Darwin theories.

In his address to the convention Prof. Hewitt stated that the university faculty was not in any trouble, and he assured the convention that so long as the present teachers were engaged there need be no fear that anything but the pure Baptist teachings would be taught. The directors had decided, however, to ask each of the State societies to appoint a visitor who should spend a week at the university every year, go into the classes, ask questions, and report to the State conventions. He afterwards made a motion to this effect.

As to the finances of the institution, Prof. Hewitt said that the university had been fortunate this year. It had rented several of the dormitories to World's Fair people and would realize about $10,000. This would pay the expenses of the year and leave a balance for next year. There was needed, however, $2,000 for furnishing the dormitories.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—[Special.]—Gen. Thomas J. Morgan, ex-Indian Commissioner and at present Secretary of the Baptist Home Mission Society at Temple Court, when he read the report of the Drummond incident at the university today said:

The views of Prof. Drummond on this subject are not indorsed by the Baptists. He was taken to task recently for some of his statements at St. Paul by the Rev. Dr. Lemuel Moss, who answered him vigorously. In his statements then Prof. Drummond said that there was a greater difference between some men than between man and monkeys. Of course the Baptists will not accept such a statement, for it is within the observation of every man that men of the lowest stages of degradation have been transformed under the influences of Christianity.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1893.

THE sun is welcome.

LET us have more Rhode Island days.

SMASHING a political slate does not rub out the old scores.

ACCORDING to its latest kangaroo census Australia has a population of 11,000,000 of the animals, taking them as they jump.

THE attempt to slaughter St. Louis' Veiled Prophets to make a Chicago holiday has ended in ignominious failure, begad, sir!

THE Senate may confirm him and Italy may not object to him, but in his own country Mr. J. J. Van Alen is clearly persona non grata.

WE trust Mayor Harrison will not be too busy Manhattan day to exhibit his strawberry mark and proclaim himself a long-lost son of Father Knickerbocker.

THE sagacious visitor at the World's Fair next Monday night will not wait till the last pyrotechnic flower pot has blossomed and faded before he starts for home.

A QUESTION that agitates the Eastern papers is this: "Has a man with a camera the right to photograph another man against his will?" If he will concede to the other man the right to knock him down for doing it he has.

THE number of officeholders and saloonkeepers on the Democratic County committee was increased Wednesday. Wherever the City Hall quartet made a gain the new committeeman is either an officeholder or a groggerykeeper. These are the only sort of men on whose allegiance the City Hall men seem to count, and yet they are not always reliable. The highest bidder sometimes gets them.

REPUBLICANS today must be careful to nominate no small-bore police court lawyers for Judges, no salary-grabbers or jobbers for County Commissioners. It will not do to depend on the weakness of the Democratic candidates. The Republican voters will not turn out unless there are good men of their own party on the Republican ticket. They do not like to be put to the necessity of making a choice of evils.

COL. DONOVAN, who appears to be Mayor Harrison's deputy boss and City Hall factotum, thundered against the idea of the Democrats indorsing a Republican like Judge Gary in the convention of Wednesday. A few minutes after the same Donovan and his ragged regiment of City Hall heelers were shouting for the indorsement of five Republican County Commissioners because their drillmaster instructed them to do so. This is the consistency of Donovan and his fellows. They talk about principle. They have none. They talk about independence. They have to do as their paymaster and drillmaster directs.

TODAY the Republican county convention should select ten well-known business-men of good character and standing for County Commissioners to oppose the salary-grabbing incompetents who threaten to hold office for the next year whether they are elected or not. The impudent assumption of the ten office-grabbers should be rebuked. They were elected for one year only. They insist on having two years. This is quite in accord with their conduct in voting themselves salaries for this year double those of their predecessors. The candidates of the Republicans should be pledged to opposition to such methods and to a vigorous fight to obtain the offices for which they may be elected.

THE New York stock market was fairly firm. The feature of the local stock market was heavy selling of West Side street railroad stock and a moderate decline in quotations. Sterling rates were firmer. New York exchange sold at 75 cents premium. The statements of the national banks show them to be running remarkably strong in cash reserve.—The leading produce markets were rather dull till toward the close, when a decline in corn reacted on other grains, and liquidation was general. As compared with the latest prices of the previous day December wheat was ⅜@½ cent lower, May corn 1 cent lower, oats ¼@½ cent lower, cash rye steady, barley firmer, flaxseed firm, January pork 22½ cents higher, lard 10 cents higher, and ribs 12½ cents higher.

IN an attempt to excuse the scandalous circumstances of Van Alen's nomination the New York Sun asked the following question:

> Will Mr. Whitelaw Reid or Mr. Levi P. Morton conscientiously inform the public the amount of their respective contributions to the campaign fund of their party in the Presidential elections before they received their appointments as Minister to France?

In reply to this insinuating question Mr. Reid says that he three times has been offered first-class foreign missions by successive Republican administrations; that his total money contributions in all three of the elections before these offers did not equal one-fifth of the sum Van Alen paid last year into the Democratic campaign fund; and that he never has promised a penny in advance for a nomination or claimed a nomination afterward on account of what he had given. In conclusion Mr. Reid says he will gladly promote a Congressional investigation of the whole business and unreservedly give a proper Congressional committee full replies as to himself, adding that he—

> Cordially invites Mr. Cleveland now to seize the present admirable opportunity to give his judicious sentiments practical form. His party is in full power. Will he not promptly recommend and endeavor to secure the appointment of a fair committee to make a sweeping and thorough investigation of the campaign funds raised by the National and State committees of both parties in the late Presidential election, with power to send for persons and papers?

This is a fair challenge, in which Mr. Morton unquestionably will join. Will the Democrats accept it? Mr. Cleveland, in his speech at the Lenox Lyceum last November, said: "A little reflection, it seems to me, cannot fail to arouse the American conscience to the wickedness as well as the peril of a debauched suffrage." Mr. Reid has given him an opportunity to arouse the American conscience. Will he improve it?

JUDGE GARY AND THE DEMOCRACY.

The Democratic convention of 1893, made up largely of City Hall officeholders and ruled absolutely by them, has, in obedience to the will of one man who was actuated solely by his ambition for another and a higher office, repudiated and censured the action of four of its predecessors, and put on record its opinion that the men who composed the conventions of 1869, 1875, 1881, and 1887 were bad Democrats.

It is probable that personally Mayor Harrison would have liked to renominate Judge Gary. To do so, however, would be to antagonize the Pardon Governor and his anarchistic and socialistic following, and thus to endanger the Mayor's Senatorial hopes by weakening him in Cook County, where he must look for most of his support. But in order not to seem to censure Altgeld and rather to indorse him and his pardon message attacking the Supreme Court and the trial Judge, Judge Gary, with thirty years of service and four Democratic indorsements behind him, was thrown overboard to be replaced by Mr. Brown, who is acceptable to Altgeld because he maintained from the beginning that the Anarchists were innocent lambs who were illegally and unjustly tried and executed, and who has consequently been a warm supporter of Altgeld's action and of the doctrines laid down in his message. And as Mr. Brown has traveled as far as Georgeism on the road to the socialistic demand for the confiscation of all property, and not the rental value of land alone, it was assumed that the votes of all the cranks would be cast for him.

There are other men as good Democrats as the Mayor who disapprove of and denounce his course. One of them is Judge Moran, who, having just resigned a judicial office while the Mayor is seeking another office, may be assumed to be the least influenced by personal considerations of the two. Said Judge Moran in his speech in the convention:

> I desire to have nominated by this convention a man who has been nominated in Democratic conventions every six years for the last twenty-four years. He has adorned the bench of this county for thirty years. He stands without a peer among the Judges of this county for learning, industry, and judicial impartiality. No man you can name by this convention will be his equal, and——

But here the uproar arose and the Judge was cut short. Turning to those around him he said:

> Gentlemen, you can choke me off in a Democratic convention, not because you yourselves desire to do it, but because you are faithfully obedient to your drill-masters.

He spoke nothing but the truth. Elected originally by the Republicans in 1863, Judge Gary has been kept on the bench by Democrats as well as Republicans since then. Of the four indorsements received by him the most important was that given by the Democratic convention of 1887, for that convention was held after the Anarchists' trial, and its action was not merely a general approval of his course for the preceding six years but a special indorsement of him as the presiding Judge in the Anarchists' cases. Whoever opposed his nomination that year, or voted against him, said that they disapproved of his course on that occasion. That was the sole issue, and on it Judge Gary was triumphantly reëlected by an immense majority.

Now the Democrats, or rather the City Hall officeholders of 1893, declare that the Democrats did very wrong six years ago when they said that Judge Gary was right in the Anarchists' trial—that they and he and the Supreme Court and the State's-Attorney and the voters of Cook County were all wrong and that Altgeld and the Anarchists alone are in the right, and that Judge Gary must be removed from the bench to make room for Mr. Brown, not because the latter is the best lawyer or has the most experience or is looked on with the most confidence by the community, but because it is necessary to throw a sop to Altgeld—to give him as a candidate for Judge on the ticket a man after his own heart—and because it is felt necessary for the Democratic organization to get down on its knees and apologize to those Socialists and Anarchists whom it defied and voted down in 1887. The Democratic party must meet in convention and humbly ask Messrs. Fielden and Schwab and their friends to pardon it for supporting Judge Gary in 1887.

This is humiliating. It is no wonder that self-respecting Democrats like Judge Moran feel it to be so. The duty of the Republican convention is plain. It should put Judge Gary's name at the head of a ticket made up of able lawyers. Then it should leave the rest to the voters. If they have changed their opinions since 1887 they will vote Judge Gary out and Mr. Brown in—not because Judge Gary is a less experienced or less learned Judge than he was six years ago, but simply because the citizens of Cook County have changed their minds and now hold that the use of dynamite bombs and the murder and maiming of policemen are within the rights and privileges of their estimable anarchistic fellow-citizens which should not be prevented by a Mayor or punished by a Judge.

If the people have not altered their views since 1887 they will reëlect Judge Gary and notify this Pardon Governor and this Mayor who is willing to sacrifice to him a public judicial servant of thirty years' faithful service and the servile feeders at the municipal crib who make up Democratic conventions that they are not the bosses of Cook County or of the honest part of the Democracy.

THE COUNTY COMMISSIONERS TICKET.

The Democratic County convention has renominated the ten Democratic city Commissioners and the five Republican country ones. The latter was not much of a concession, as the Democrats cannot carry the outside district. The chief reason for putting the ten city men on the ticket again was that the Attorney-General, who knows very little law, has given an opinion to the effect that they hold over under a law passed at the last session. By reëlecting them no dispute can arise as to their tenure of office.

Many better lawyers than the Attorney-General have stated that the Legislature has no power to extend the terms of the present Commissioners. Therefore the Republicans should pay no attention to Moloney's opinion, but, while renominating the country Commissioners, should put in the field for the suffrages of the city voters the ten best men they can find willing to accept nominations. They should not indorse one of the present city members, because they are salary grabbers, one of their first acts being to put their hands in the public treasury and add largely to their pay. Then they went to Springfield and lobbied through a law which they intended should keep them in office for an additional year longer than they were elected for. Their administration of county affairs has been wasteful and marked by gross incompetency. They have handled nothing which they have not mismanaged, and one of the last suggestions made by them was that the county add a million to its bonded indebtedness so that they might have a chance to spend that large sum of money for the benefit of their henchmen and bums.

The Republican convention should nominate ten first-class men and the Republican voters and those Democrats who disapprove of salary-grabbing, office-extension, and general maladministration should vote for them. If they get the majority and the ten present incumbents say that they have a right to hold over the courts—not Mr. Moloney—will decide between them.

THE CAUSE OF THE PANIC.

Senator Blackburn of Kentucky told his colleagues Wednesday how the panic of last summer might have been averted. He said:

> I regretted to hear it intimated that the administration was a party to the conspiracy that brought these troubles on the public. That is not true. If the President and Secretary of the Treasury had yielded to the demand for an issue of $150,000,000 in bonds the panic never would have come.

This statement is true, though not true in the sense in which Senator Blackburn intended it to be understood. He meant to imply that the panic was created by the banks, merchants, and manufacturers for the purpose of urging the repeal of the purchasing clause in the Sherman act, which is absurd, for those classes were the greatest sufferers by the panic, and they well knew in advance what would be the effect of such a panic if it occurred. But it is true that if immediately after taking hold of the reins of office President Cleveland and Secretary Carlisle had believed that authority was vested in them to sell 150 million dollars of 4 per cent gold bonds, and if that amount of gold had been placed in the Treasury, there would have been no panic, nor possibility of one, because no one would have deemed it necessary to repeal the purchasing clause in the Sherman law in order to maintain all the currency at par with gold. The presence of that 150 millions of additional gold in the Treasury would have banished all fears of a slump. Knowing that plenty of the yellow metal was there the people would have felt there was no possible danger of a drop to a silver standard. They would have viewed with indifference the continuing purchase of 4,500,000 ounces of silver per month. They would have felt that years must elapse before the sustaining, buoying qualities of that immense amount of gold in addition to the 100 millions reserve would be overtaxed by the weight of silver to be held up by it. With that increased reserve in hand there would have been no hoarding of gold; foreign holders of American securities would not have sent them here in large amounts to be realized on, banks would not have been cramped, and mills and workshops would not have closed for lack of bank loans, and there would have been none of the paralysis of production that has afflicted the working and the employing classes for several months past. It would not then have been necessary for Senator Blackburn to speak of the sufferings of American citizens in the following language used by him:

> Standing in the midst of the desolation which surrounds them, with their trade stagnating, with their labor unemployed, with enterprise paralyzed, with two millions of men tramping our highways and streets begging, not for bread but for labor with which to earn it, the people demand that action shall be taken by the Senate and it ought to be taken.

THE TERRIBLE GULF STORM.

On the 28th of August last a terrible hurricane devastated the South Atlantic coast. It swept from Florida to the Virginias, extending, also, far inland, and traces of its violence were observed even in New York and New England. The worst destruction was occasioned in the vicinity of Charleston and Savannah, and among the fertile Sea Islands. At least 1,500 lives were lost and millions of property destroyed. Now another and even more disastrous hurricane, sweeping down from the North and West, has passed over New Orleans and the country between that port and Mobile, dissipating at last in the gulf. The area covered by it was comparatively narrow, but its violence was so terrific that the losses in that area, both of life and property, were exceptionally large. At New Orleans the wind blew sixty miles an hour, but in Plaquemines Parish and at other points it reached the extreme velocity of 125 miles In many respects it resembled the August storm. In the latter case the sea invaded the City of Charleston and two or three islands were covered by a tidal wave; so in this storm the waters of the bay were forced into the City of Mobile and at least two gulf islands disappeared entirely, with all their inhabitants.

The loss of life, which is over 2,000, far exceeds that in the first storm, and it is probable the loss of property also will be greater, since in addition to the vessels wrecked, and the telegraph, railroad, and residence property destroyed, the orange and other fruit crops in Louisiana are ruined. Fortunately the storm hardly touched the sugar districts. Like the first disaster also, contrary to the usual record in such cases, the first reports fell far short of giving an accurate account of the havoc wrought. Day by day the death list grows larger, and from 200 at first reported the list of fatalities now reaches over 2,000. Let us hope that in another respect the people of the afflicted district may be as fortunate as those of Charleston under similar circumstances. The latter city showed remarkable recuperative powers, and within a few days was on its feet again repairing the losses. Though the Governors of South Carolina and Georgia made appeals for help to the other States they did not wait for relief to come before doing something themselves, and their rapid recovery from the effects of the disaster largely was due to their own courageous and public spirited efforts. It is possible that the people of Plaquemines and other places, where the storm raged worst, are less able to help themselves. Should such be the case and should it be necessary to make an appeal for help there is no reason to believe that the response will not be prompt and generous. In the presence of such phenomenal disasters as these all sectional feelings, if they exist, are swept away, and only the feelings of common humanity remain. There is no North or South in a time of calamity. We are all brothers then, not knowing how soon calamity may prostrate us also. Chicago especially knows by an unprecedented experience what this means, and should New Orleans or Mobile ask for help will do its part.

ANOTHER NEW STATE IN SIGHT.

The Inter-Territorial convention held at Purcell, I. T., Monday last took a step in the right direction when its delegates, representing three parties and three races, united in an appeal to Congress for the union of the two Territories, the Indian and Oklahoma, and their admission into the Union as one State. In addition to this request the resolutions call for the opening to settlement of the Wichita, Kiowa, and Comanche Reservations and the abolition of the holding of lands in common by the Indian tribes, so that all parts of the new State may be thrown open to all persons alike.

The two Territories united would make a great and magnificent State. They would start with a joint population of over 300,000, and in a few years this population would be increased greatly. In the western part of the two Territories there is some bad land, but the central and eastern sections have the same rich black soil as Kansas and Arkansas. If the Indians could be prevailed upon to citizenize themselves and take up lands in severalty, selling to the government whatever of their lands was needed for white settlement, there would be a million of population soon after the next census. It is not likely that the government would be able to sell the lands at the lowest figures, for the Indians have learned the value of their lands and have become sharp bargainers, but the slightly advanced cost would attract a better class of buyers, who would purchase for permanent settlement. The rich mineral resources of the new State would be developed speedily. The opening up process also would prove of great benefit to Kansas City, St. Louis, and Memphis by giving them a growing and prosperous back country as a market for their goods. It would be better for the Indians from every point of view and it would offer new homes for thousands of whites. The government has no more arable public land. With the exception of some of the Sioux reservations in the Northwest no land is left except that in the Indian Territory. The opening up of this land and its settlement by thrifty, industrious white farmers would start the new State on a career of wonderful prosperity. At the same time it would go far toward solving the troublesome Indian question and it would be of the highest advantage to the Indians themselves, who would become citizens, own and cultivate their own farms, and gradually adopt white customs and habits by daily association with and contiguity to the whites. There is no good reason why the two Territories should not be united and admitted without unnecesary delay, especially as they have the requisite population to entitle them to representation and amply are qualified to sustain the duties and burdens of Statehood.

PROPOSED LATIN-AMERICAN SILVER CONVENTION.

Notice has been given in the Senate of several amendments to the repeal bill which are to be offered. Among them is one by Senator Call of Florida—

> Providing for a convention of North and South American States to consider and decide upon a common standard or ratio upon which gold and silver shall be maintained and admitted to free coinage.

The first and vital point is for the United States to retain the gold standard. Whatever helps in that direction is desirable. But what can States like Mexico, Peru, Brazil, Chile, Bolivia, Argentina, and Colombia, not one of which has the gold standard or any gold, some of which, like Argentina and Brazil, have neither gold nor silver, but a depreciated paper currency, and which are tormented by constant insurrections and revolutions, do to aid the United States to maintain the gold standard? They would be more likely to pull the United States down to their own level than this country would be to raise them to its plane. Certainly they would pull this country down if it went into a free coinage arrangement with them. The United States must make no such monetary arrangements with Latin-America. All nations which have free silver coinage have slumped to the silver 58-cent dollar standard.

If the object of Call's proposed convention is to raise the price of silver by increasing the amount of it in use as money then the convention should be held not with South American States, which use nothing but silver and paper depreciated below silver, but with European States, which could employ more silver if they saw fit. The Latin-American States can contribute nothing to an advance in the price of silver—except by ceasing to mine it. If any one of those States—Mexico, for instance—wishes to adopt the gold standard let it do so and there will be no need of any convention about it.

If the United States, Canada, and the Central and South American States were to go in for free coinage of silver on some ratio which was not the commercial one the result would be that gold would be expelled from the United States and Canada, as adherence to free coinage has driven it from all the Latin-American States. This country would descend to the silver standard to which those other States have already descended.

Senator Call assumes that while the United States probably could raise the price of silver if it went in single-handed for free coinage there could be no question of its ability if it had the coöperation of Greasers, Indians, and the miscellaneous cross-breeds of South America. Coöperation with them would involve a fall to their monetary level, and when our merchants wanted to pay for foreign goods they would have to do what those Latin-American merchants do now, sell enough of their silver currency at its bullion price of, say, 58 per cent to get the gold they needed to pay for their foreign goods.

Senator Call's convention idea means a currency whose sole redeemers would be the gold brokers. Its value would only be that of its bullion, and that seems to be what he is working for.

MR. HARRISON AND HIS COMMITTEE.

More interest attached to the selection of central committeemen in the Democratic county convention Wednesday than to the nomination of the judicial candidates. The nominations were made according to a prearranged, cut and dried program. The action of the convention in reference to them was merely perfunctory and in accordance with the instructions of "the City Hall drill masters," as Judge Moran named them. But there were life and feeling and excitement when it came to the selection of the committeemen. There were rows and fist fights and knocks down. To the initiated this seemed intelligible enough. According to the methods under which the delegates to the recent convention were selected the committeemen control nominations because they appoint the delegates. The committeemen selected Wednesday will appoint the delegates to the conventions next year when Congressmen, State Senators, and Representatives, court clerks, a Sheriff, and a County Treasurer are to be nominated. No wonder there were fights and rows over the selections. A committeeman is an important person—a boss. His office is lucrative. Under the present city administration the Democratic committeeman who wants office can have his wishes gratified. Mr. Harrison wants their allegiance and can pay for it by conferring office. The result is that he controls the full committee. His henchmen succeeded in adding to his majority in that body yesterday, and did not scruple at the methods resorted to in order to win.

The Mayor can control the Senatorial and other conventions next year, and despite all the efforts of the Altgeld men will be able to send to Springfield a delegation instructed to vote for him for Senator—unless the opposition secures the control of the Federal offices here. Then it will be a question of who bids highest for the committeemen. If the Federal officers should be opposed to Mr. Harrison they can obtain control of the committee by offering the committeemen better paying offices than the Mayor has given them. The Federal office is more lasting. The auction for the committeemen will begin when Mr. Cleveland makes his appointments for the Chicago offices. The action of Wednesday's convention is by no means conclusive as to the result next year. Mr. Harrison must obtain the coöperation of President Cleveland to insure his success. His gains Wednesday were not marked. Many of his committeemen are in the market, and if his candidates are defeated next month he would have to revise his organization. He has played a bold game. But it may turn out to be a rash one.

NEW YORK COMING TO THE FAIR.

The Eastern railroads are going to make excursion rates for Manhattan day at the Fair, charging but $15, good to start Oct. 18 or 19 and return Oct. 23 or 24. This leaves no excuse for the New-Yorkers to stay at home. If they do not avail themselves of this opportunity it will be because they have sinned willfully and with their eyes open to the penalty of such an offense, which will be a lifelong regret. THE TRIBUNE now makes a special appeal to Dr. Dana of the Sun not to harden his heart any longer and run the risk of sinning away his day of grace. He has fought the Fair vengefully and wickedly for nearly six months. Now let him come and see the beautiful White City which has been the target of his assaults so long and make amends for his offense by singing a jubilate in its praise. His confession will make ample amends for his wrong-doing. Chicago will receive him tenderly, give him the freedom of the city, and see to it that he has a reserved front seat all over Jackson Park and along the Midway Plaisance. The World's Fair officials should made a special effort to secure his attendance on Manhattan day. Other New-Yorkers have sinned only through their ignorance and their disbelief that anything of this kind could come out of Chicago, but Dr. Dana has been here before. He knows Chicago, and what it can do, and, knowing this, he has sinned maliciously and wickedly. One day among the beauties of Jackson Park or the fascinations of the Midway would convince him of his injustice and all uncharitableness. The Sons of New York in this city also should make a special appeal to him, for Manhattan day without Dr. Dana will not be quite complete. With him the reconciliation will be perfect and the old gentleman will have the biggest and best day in his life, whether he elect to spend it in the New York House, on the Court of Honor, or among the children of Dahomey and the South Sea Islands. Dr. Dana must come and stay a week.

PERHAPS the most commendable article of the new constitution of the local Republican organization is that which excludes appointive public officers from the Central or Managing committee. The provision is aimed to remedy a long standing abuse. For a number of years the committee has been controlled by petty officeholders who have aimed to serve their own interest. The voters of the party naturally and properly became distrustful of the policy which sought to make the paid servants of the people political bosses. The result has been defeat after defeat for the Republican party in this city and county. The obvious remedy has been proposed none too soon. The Democratic local organization is now suffering from what has proved disastrous to the Republicans. The convention yesterday was composed of officeholders and their groggery-keeping connections. The result has been a weak ticket, bickering, faction-fighting, and acrimony. The Democrats can stand official bossing more than the Republicans, however. They may win for a time under the officeholding bosses, but there will be revolt in the end. The Republican party cannot succeed as long as the paid servants of the people try to boss it. Under the circumstances it is a hopeful sign when the would-be official boss is relegated to a back seat in the party councils.

Chicago the Future Capital of the Union.

Lincoln (Neb.) Journal: THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE is not joking but talking in tones of dead earnestness when it says:

> On the day of the fire Chicago had a third of a million of population; now it has five times that number, and it has accumulated more than five times as much wealth as it had when the fire wrought such havoc to its material resources. All this has been done in twenty-two years, in less than a generation. What has been accomplished during the last quarter of a century is an earnest of what may happen in the next quarter. Those who live to the end of that period will see one of the largest and most magnificent cities in the world, and in all human probability the removal of the National Capital from Washington to this, the real national center of influence and power.

We must insist that this question of removal ought not to be sprung upon the people until Chicago purifies its air and sends its municipal government to some good laundry. How would the Goddess of Liberty feel enshrouded in the thick atmosphere that hangs over the windy city? How would the White House look after curing for one season in the Chicago smoke? The monument might reach up into God's sunlight, but they can't move that. The people of the United States have great confidence in their government, but they wouldn't dare send it to Chicago without a guardian.

All those things will be attended to and reformed in due time. Much of the smoke nuisance has been abolished during the last twelve months. More will be in the next twelve. The atmosphere will be cleared of smoke; the drinking water will be rendered pure at all times; the great Drainage Channel for the city's sewage will be completed in a few years; the streets will be well paved and kept clean, and the City Government itself will be greatly reformed; but no municipal government of a great American city has ever been perfect. Vast improvements will be made in Chicago in every direction in the next twenty-five years. All the signs and indications point that way.

The Silver Panic.

First-class Republican testimony as to the real cause of the recent depression is furnished in the following declaration by Mr. Charles S. Smith, President of the Chamber of Commerce, in an article in the current number of the North American Review:

> I deem it proper at the outset to state that the recent panic was not the result of overtrading, undue speculation, or the violation of business principles throughout the country. In my judgment it is to be attributed to unwise legislation with respect to the silver question; it will be known in history as "The Silver Panic," and will constitute a reproach and an accusation against the common sense, if not the common honesty, of our legislators who are responsible for our present monetary laws. Observers abroad and clear-headed financiers at home predicted with absolute certainty the disasters which have overtaken us, and no great prophetic vision was required to anticipate the conditions which have so recently prevailed throughout the United States.

The delay in the Senate is even more a reproach to the "common sense, if not common honesty, of our legislators," for there is no honest excuse or justification for it.

THE Republican party has lost Senator Jones of Nevada, but the loss has been made good. We take pleasure in stating that Mr. Roger M. Jarvis of Richland County, O., a prominent farmer and leading member of a Good Templar's lodge, has abandoned the Populist party and joined the Republicans.

THE cold storage fire fund at last is in process of distribution. The committee having it in charge wisely has decided to make a cash payment of $2,000 to each of the widows entitled to it and to place a like sum in trust for them. The latter sum will include much the larger part of the $105,000 which was contributed, and as the committee expects to secure between 5 and 6 per cent interest on the money it will yield the beneficiaries something towards their annual support, while the cash payment will provide for their immediate wants. The income will continue during life or until remarriage, when the principal will revert to the children. A similar sum also is to be placed in trust for each of the orphans, the interest to be paid annually, and upon the death of one of the children the principal will be divided equally, otherwise each child will receive its $2,000 at majority. No fairer plan of distribution could have been devised. If the entire sum had been divided at once much of it would have been wasted by those unaccustomed to have so much money at their disposal.

IN A MINOR KEY.

A Personal Reflection.

"What has become of the handsome young woman that used to be here?" inquired the regular customer at the dairy lunch establishment.

"Which handsome young woman?" asked the blonde maiden behind the counter haughtily.

No Facilities.

Maud—"Didn't you faint when you got in that terrible crush in the theater lobby?"

Irene—"Faint! No. There wasn't room."

Percival—"Father, I don't want to go to that college. It's a poor concern."

His Father—"Poor, my son? It is an old, wealthy, and famous institution that numbers among its graduates some of the most noted men in the land. What possible objection can you have against it?"

Percival—"I don't like its yell."

PERSONALS.

Senator Stewart's recent speech as printed makes 70,000 words. Seldom have so many words been used and so little said.

Mrs. Samuel Bennett of Tanner, W. Va., has twenty-nine children. She is 46, Mr. Bennett is 53, and the twenty-nine young Bennetts are right peart.

Mr. Ye, the Corean Minister at Washington, and his wife attend the Presbyterian Church, but not in Corean costumes, which they wear only upon state occasions.

Young Mr. Wolcott of Colorado has earned the reputation of being the most expensive eater in Congress, though he hasn't anything like the mouth of either Stewart or Peffer.

Miss Emma Lovering, who has been elected President of the Women's Aid Societies of Maine, is only 21 years old. She is a lineal descendant of Gen. Warren, who fell at Bunker Hill.

Bismarck has sold his memoirs for a large sum, the condition being that they are to be published immediately after his death. This is a bit of intelligence that will make William squirm.

Patti has been admitting her pet weaknesses, which include Dickens among novelists, Longfellow among poets, and entertaining friends as a favorite pastime, but she said not a word about her hobby for farewell tours.

Justice Field will begin his thirty-first year of service on the Supreme bench the coming term. This record has been surpassed but once in the history of the court and equaled but four times. Nothing is heard now of last fall's report that he was soon to retire.

Tolstoi, the Russian novelist, takes the ground that work makes man, as well as the busy ant, cruel. It is, he declares, the characteristic of criminals; and to make a virtue of work such as Zola has attempted to do is as monstrous as to make a virtue of the act of feeding.

M. de Giers, the Prime Minister of Russia, spent some time in Berlin recently. Although not as robust as formerly, which is to be expected at his advanced age, he has recovered his health to a great extent. He was the object of much attention on the part of officials and society in the German capital.

Prof. Jowett of Oxford, whose death has just been announced, has two titles to remembrance. About thirty years ago he contributed, an article to the famous "Essays and Reviews," which advocated a free interpretation of scripture that was thought at the time to be heretical, but which would be considered almost conservative now. His greatest work, however, was his admirable translation of Plato, which has already become a classic.

Strong Papers Editorially.

Louisville Post: The Evening Post believes that every properly conducted newspaper will properly discuss every public question—will discuss it freely, fully, and intelligently, and will faithfully express public opinion and force it on the attention of all concerned.

Then if we turn to New York we find that the most signally successful newspaper of recent years is the World, which makes a special feature of its editorial work, and numbers among its greatest achievements work that has been distinctively editorial work.

Further, it will be found that the newspapers which give most attention to the editorial page have the most perfect and complete news service. Neither the Enquirer nor the Commercial-Gazette of Cincinnati is in any sense a first-class newspaper. You find the best newspapers in Chicago and excellent newspapers in St. Louis. New York has no better newspaper than THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE or the Chicago Herald or the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. These outclass any paper ever published in Cincinnati, and every one of these journals is stronger today than ever in its history in its editorial discussion of current events.

We have still another illustration of the power of the editorial in the progress of the contest for the repeal of the Sherman act. But for the newspaper editorials there would have been no chance for such a repeal. The discussion of the subject has been persistent, thorough, intelligent, convincing. First public opinion has changed; then politicians, recognizing this fact, have changed, and today, if a vote can be had, the repeal will carry by an overwhelming majority.

This is a great triumph for the editorial. The newspapers have been aided by the progress of events, by the courage of Mr. Cleveland, by the tact of Mr. Carlisle, but it is through the editorial columns of the newspaper that this work of educating public opinion has been done.

Today the revolutionary Senators fear only the newspapers. One after another has denounced the press, but only because he fears it; because he knows that by the intelligent discussion of the financial matters, day by day, his own power for harm is destroyed.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

M. Constant Coquelin and his promising and already efficient son Jean, who seems destined to closely follow the father in the walks of low comedy, carried the burden of the acting at Hooley's last night. Of acting, in the sense of incident, however, there was little until the second half of the double bill. Two comedies were given, "Tartufe" and "Les Precieuses Ridicules," both from the pen of Molière, who is fondly regarded in France, if not the father, the guarding genius of the Comédie Française. "Tartufe" is a potent lesson of the triple extract of arch-hypocrisy. Its motive is told in a word. An indiscriminating father takes into his family an obsequious, canting, religious enthusiast, whose religion, like his somber, sanctified garments, is only on the outside to cover a multitude of sins and vices. This father attempts to marry his daughter to his supposedly religious protégé against the wishes of the entire household. No arguments will avail against his choice until by a preconcerted plan the impostor is caught in an attempt to despoil the purity of the confiding Organ's home. Then comes the obvious denouement.

Of course M. Coquelin pere was the Tartufe, and the younger Coquelin the father. Mme. Hading was the Elmire, the wife, who unmasked the impostor by allowing her husband, concealed under a table, to witness his advances. The breadth, the finesse, the all-enveloping unctiousness of the Elder Coquelin's art was brought into play in the enacting of the arch-hypocrite. At the same time the keen development of the younger Coquelin's sense of humor and his ability to give it material manifestation was displayed. One can readily imagine the fate of the play in less able hands. The tiresome, long-drawn-out speeches, the entire lack of incident and dramatic coloring of Molière's comedy would have met a distressing fate had these three unusual players been lacking. They did not attempt to repair the dramatic slowness. They developed to a point beyond the limitation of the dramatist, the pivotal characters of the play. The important incident, that in the third act, might have been vulgarized in less careful hands and by actors of less discrimination. As it was it revealed to the fullest extremity the comic significance of the canting friend, the unbelieving husband, and the upright wife. Nothing was commonplace. The dexterity with which the players unfolded the verse of Molière held attention to the exclusion of the barren scenes and the monotony of the dress.

Mme. Hading revealed herself in a strong light whose ray has hardly been directed upon her since the engagement opened. She lifted a rôle which might well have been commonplace to a dignity and interest. The support was competent and it will be given attention later. Mme. Deroy should have been, apparently, M. Deroy in the bill. Whoever played the rôle of the querulous Mme. Pernelle performed the rather adroit task of feminine impersonation, although it was scarcely distinguishable.

"Les Precieuses Ridicules," a one act play which followed, is a delicate bit of art in low comedy, as fine in its sense of humor as the lace of the counterfeit wit's silken garment. It is a strong thrust delivered with infinite finesse against the fads and affectations both in wit and dress of Molière's age. Mascarelles carries the burden of the amusing story on his shoulders, and where the aim is to amuse who other could the Mascarelles be than Coquelin. Two vulgar, affected women carry to a matter-of-fact home exaggerated ideas of what is comme il faut in polite society. They discard two lovers, to the infinite disgust of their father and the discarded, because of their fancied commonplace natures. These lovers send their lackeys to court the ladies, and, after the latter are entranced by the surface wit of the former, the lovers come in and drive the disguised servants from the house with their canes.

A delicate bit of nonsense, shaded with all the colors of the rainbow of broad humor is the character of Mascarelles as made by Molière—and Coquelin. He is an exquisite in dress, a coxcomb doubly distilled. He is a writer of madrigals—indeed, he is putting the history of Rome into madrigals for the betterment of society. Nothing that he does as he airs his fancied wit invites the confusion that ends the play. A more biting satire against affectation could not be conceived except by a man skilled in the presentation of the ridiculous as is Coquelin. The second lackey, no less observant of the rigid laws of gallantry, is the younger Coquelin, who played the rôle in a manner which made it entirely fitting as the companion piece of Constant Coquelin's character. The two polite rôles in "Les Precieuses Ridicules" combine the unctuousness and discriminating scope of the French comedian with the adroitness in reading above the lines of the text, which has saved many characters in their hands and exalted commonplaceness to importance. The only regret is that the French players saw fit to crowd so much into a single evening.

The week which is approaching, like the week which is just closing, will be rich in dramatic offerings of the highest quality. Anticipations of the first production in Chicago of Tennyson's "Becket" by Mr. Irving and Miss Terry will not be realized immediately, as the great popularity of "The Merchant of Venice" has induced the management to continue the bill another week. The only deviation from this plan will be the revival of "The Bells" Saturday evening, Oct. 14, when Mr. Irving will appear in the rôle of Mathias. The Coquelin-Hading engagement at Hooley's, however, will furnish an abundance of interesting changes, together with a production which may be viewed in the light of a novelty. This will be the French adaptation of "The Taming of the Shrew" under the title of "La Megere Apprivoisée." It is needless to say that Mme. Hading will appear in the part corresponding to Katharine in the English original, while M. Coquelin will be the Petruchio. The play will be given Tuesday, Wednesday, and Friday evenings and at the Saturday matinée. Monday evening "Les Precieuses Ridicules" and "Tartufe," which were presented last night, will be repeated, and Thursday evening three one-act plays will form the bill. These are "La Joie Fait Peur," "Gringoire," and "Les Precieuses Ridicules." Saturday evening "La Dame aux Camilias" ("Camille") will be repeated. Turning from the highest types of the drama to a superior quality of burlesque and the spectacular, "Sindbad," the next but latest production of the American Extravaganza company, will be revived with telling splendor by David Henderson at the Chicago Opera-House. This revival (with entirely new adjuncts) will take place next Thursday evening, and it is anticipated that it will eclipse the most ambitious of any of Manager Henderson's former efforts. The final week of Felix Morris' engagement at the Schiller, which will be of importance and productive of much interest, will introduce the new star in an entirely new comedy by Mrs. Burton Harrison entitled "Evergreen." This will share the bill with "Cousin Joe" until Thursday evening, when "Kerry" and "The Major," an adaptation of "De Boots," will be given. "A Trip to Chinatown," Charles H. Hoyt's musical farce which is running along merrily at the Grand Opera-House to crowded audiences, will remain some time longer. The same is true of William H. Crane in "Brother John," who is experiencing his full meed of prosperity at McVicker's. Lastly among the down-town houses, "America," with the dignity of age and the popularity of majesty, will continue at the Auditorium.

There will be much moving about of attractions among the outlying theaters, particularly those controlled by Manager H. R. Jacobs. Hence the incoming of new plays will be smaller than usual. "The Ensign," one of the best naval melodramas now being offered, will be found at the Haymarket. "The Voodoo," a musical farce which is being given this week on the North Side, removes to the Alhambra, and John L. Sullivan, who has been playing at Havlin's for two weeks, transfers to the Empire. The incoming attraction at Havlin's is Lew Dockstader's Minstrels, who were seen at the same theater earlier in the season. The present stock of pugilistic actors will be increased by the People's Theater, as Charles Mitchell and Jim Hall will show there in a piece called "A Wicked City." At the Windsor Kate Claxton's old play, "The Two Orphans," will be the bill. The Casino will continue with Haverly's Home Minstrels, the Madison Street Opera-House will offer broad burlesque, and Buffalo Bill's performances will go on at the Wild West Pavilion. An entertainment which is not to be classed with ordinary variety shows and which merits serious attention will be found at the Trocadero. Out of the line of amusement and nearer in accord with serious instruction will be the second Stoddard lecture on Japan, which will be given during the entire week at Central Music Hall.

MUSIC AT THE FAIR.

Concerts will be given today by the seven bands now playing at the Fair as follows: Liesegang's Chicago Band, lake-front, 12 to 2 p. m., 4 to 6 p. m.; Brand's Cincinnati Band, Administration Square, 3 to 4:30 p. m., 6:30 to 9 p. m.; Elgin Band, North Stand, Administration Square, 1:30 to 3 p. m., 4 to 6 p. m.; Iowa State Band, Pavilion south of Illinois State Building, 10:30 to 12 noon, 3 to 4:30 p. m., and in stand north of Art Building, 4:30 to 6 p. m.; Pullman Band, lake-front, 10 to 12 noon, 2 to 4 p. m.; Mexican Eighth Cavalry Band, Administration Square, 10 to 12 noon; Carlisle Indian School Band, North Stand, Administration Square, 12 to 1:30 p. m. In Festival Hall, at 3 o'clock p. m., the Lineff Russian choir of thirty, under the direction of Mme. Eugenie Lineff, will repeat its performance of a Russian peasant wedding.

NEWS FROM ABROAD.

PANIC AMONG ALL CLASSES OF PEOPLE IN RIO JANEIRO.

Bombardment Continued and the British Minister Warns the English to Flee from the Town—Federal Troops Committing Outrages—Still Peixoto Believes He Can Crush the Revolt—Anarchist Pallas Receives His Death Sentence—Alarming Report as to Bismarck.

[SPECIAL CABLE.]

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Oct. 5.—[Copyright, 1893, by James Gordon Bennett.]—Word has just been received here from Rio Janeiro, Brazil, that the bombardment of the city by the rebel fleet under Mello, which was begun yesterday, has continued without cessation all day. Shot and shell from the ships are being thrown into the city, while the shore batteries, manned by Peixoto's forces, are returning the fire of the squadron. The greatest alarm prevails in the Brazilian capital, which is in a state of panic. Business has been entirely suspended. Banks have closed and the bourse is utterly deserted, workshops and railways have shut down, proposals have been made to prolong all commercial transactions, and every man, woman, and child who can do so is fleeing from the city. Frightful ravages are being perpetrated by Peixoto's soldiers, who are committing murder and robbery and apparently are beyond all restraint. They have killed many defenseless persons and carried on general plundering raids on stock and private residences. Their excesses, which began several days ago, have increased in ferocity during the panic caused by the bombardment. Neither man, woman, child, nor property is safe from these lawless bands. Opportunities for their crimes were offered by the course pursued by their leaders.

Squads of armed soldiers are scouring the city in search of recruits. Men are being pressed into Peixoto's service on all sides. Artisans, clerks, merchants, everybody on whom these raiders can lay hands is forced into the ranks and hurried to the water front, where he is made to man the batteries and fight for the government. Other detachments of Peixoto's troops under direction of the President's chiefs are seizing prominent persons who are known to be in sympathy with Mello and throwing them into jail. These expeditions abound in chances for the soldiers to indulge unchecked in the most atrocious abuses.

English Residents Warned to Flee.

All of the English residents of the city have been warned by the British Minister to escape from Rio Janeiro, as the fleet has given notice of its intention to continue the bombardment. Postal facilities have been suspended and Peixoto is searching all the post that enters and leaves the city. The sympathies of the entire city are with Mello. Peixoto is blamed for drawing the fire of the fleet upon the town. He opened fire from the shore batteries on the fleet, which replied to his guns. It is argued that by this action the President drew the fire of the squadron on the city, for it is believed had he kept his guns quiet Mello would not have renewed the bombardment.

Commanders of the foreign men-of-war in the harbor remain inactive, as they are undecided what course to pursue. All of them are awaiting instructions from the home governments as to whether they shall interfere to stop the bombardment. Peixoto has mounted new guns along the water front and is preparing to attack the fleet with renewed vigor.

It is said President Peixoto declares he is able to crush the revolt of the insurgent squadron under Mello and restore order throughout the country; also that the diplomatic corps believes he can accomplish this result. This view of the situation is doubted here, as affairs have assumed a serious aspect, not only in Rio Janeiro but also in Rio Grande do Sul, where the revolutionists are now supreme. All the efforts of the latter are now concentrated in an attempt to crush Castilho, Governor of the Province of Rio Grande do Sul. Decisive battles are momentarily expected in the vicinity of the cities of Rio Grande do Sul, Porto Alegra, and Pelotas.

Reports from Rio Janeiro have just been received here giving general information as to the disturbances in that city and of the movements of Mello's rebel fleet and the land forces under President Peixoto. The government troops made a determined effort Sept. 25 to occupy Cobras Island. This island is in the bay about a mile from Rio Janeiro, and is one of the most strongly fortified posts in that vicinity, having been considered one of the chief defenses of the city. It is in the possession of the neutrals, that element in Brazil which includes some officers of the navy who have taken no side in the struggle between Mello and Peixoto. The troops met with a spirited resistance.

Brisk Fire Opened.

As soon as the intention of the land forces became apparent to the fleet the ships opened a brisk fire, which the soldiers were unable to stand. They were repulsed with severe losses, but the number of killed and wounded is concealed. During the firing the city was slightly damaged by some of the shells which fell among buildings and in the streets. The troops renewed the attempt to take the island the next day, but again met with defeat. The neutrals still retain the post.

Peixoto is determined to take Cobras Island and Villegaignon, but the fleet is alert and is well supplied with ammunition and provisions, while the army is short of both and has little prospect of replenishing its stores, as there is a dangerous lack of supplies in the city. The troops have met with severe losses in the recent engagements.

After the adjournment of Congress martial law was declared for fifteen days. Peixoto ordered the shore batteries to fire on every vessel coming within range. This proceeding stirred the diplomatic corps to action and the President was asked if he wished Rio de Janeiro to be considered a fortified city. If not he was told the shore batteries must be removed.

The insurgents made a successful raid on the Gamboa district the night of Sept. 4. They captured several coal barges and obtained possession of munitions of war for Mello's ships. The fleet was already well provided with supplies and with this added stock need have no fear on the score of powder and provisions.

BUENOS AYRES, Oct. 5.—Telegrams received here from Rio Janeiro confirm the report that Admiral Mello is again bombarding the city. All business places in the city are closed. The damage done so far is reported to be trifling. Since President Peixoto has mounted new guns and made preparations to return the fire of the rebel vessels, the commanders of the foreign men-of-war are undecided as to whether or not they would be justified in stopping the bombardment and are awaiting more precise instructions from their respective governments.

PARIS, Oct. 5.—The Temps says Duke Augustus of Saxony, grandson to the late Dom Pedro, the deposed Emperor of Brazil, embarked at Bordeaux today for Rio Janeiro. M. Gerard, French Minister to Brazil, has been transferred to China.

British Bark Seized.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—A Cardiff firm of ship owners has received from Rio a dispatch announcing the rebels have seized the British bark Norma, which arrived at Rio from Cardiff Aug. 28 with 3,500 tons of coal. The coal is supposed to have been transferred to Admiral Mello's squadron. Part of the coal was consigned to the Brazilian Government. The rest was carried for private speculation. Capt. McDonnell of the Norma has protested to the British Minister against the seizure. Another dispatch says:

At 9 o'clock this morning the situation was distinctly more favorable. There are evident signs of an interposition of the powers with the important effect of calming public feeling. Statements that Rio has been virtually destroyed are false. The damage in Nictheroy and its vicinity is serious, but the greater part of Rio has been left untouched by the bombardments. The banks are open and business is transacted actively throughout the city. The rebels in the State of Santa Catarina are showing a desire to come to terms.

The Foreign Office denies the truth of the statement that the Brazilian rebels have seized the British bark Norma.

PENA THANKS HIS ADHERENTS.

President of Argentine Republic Issues a Proclamation to the People.

BUENOS AYRES, Oct. 5.—Gen. Saenz-Pena, President of the Argentine Republic, has issued a proclamation thanking the people for rallying to the support of the government against the insurgents. Bodies of cavalry are still pursuing the retreating rebels. Several hundred colonists were killed during the attack on Santa Fé.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 5.—The Secretary of State has received a cable dispatch from Fishback, Secretary of the United States Legation in the Argentine Republic saying the revolution has ended and the country is in a state of peace. This confirms the dispatches previously received by the Argentine Minister.

PALLAS HEARS HIS DEATH SENTENCE.

Anarchist Maintains a Defiant Air—Wishes to Give the Signal to Fire.

BARCELONA, Oct. 5.—Great military precautions have been taken around the Fortress of Montjuich, in which Pallas is confined. At 9 o'clock Pallas was taken before the military Judge escorted by a strong guard. He looked pale, yet had a firm bearing. By the Judge's order the prisoner knelt while the death sentence was read. Pallas listened quietly, stroking his mustache. On rising the Judge asked him to sign the paper. To this Pallas replied:

"What, sign my death sentence? I would rather sign the death sentence of the Public Prosecutor."

The Judge remonstrated with Pallas, who answered that the law of retaliation was "an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth." The prisoner then signed the paper with a firm hand. While crossing the castle court on his way to the chapel in which he is to remain twenty-four hours, the prisoner repeatedly shouted: "Long live anarchy!" The commander of the escort in vain ordered him to be silent. Pallas entered the chapel singing an Anarchist hymn, and he continued singing it for a long time, shouting at the top of his voice the closing words of each stanza, "Kill! kill!"

The chapel has been converted into an oratory in which masses are continually being said by priests commissioned to minister to Pallas during his last hours. There are two Jesuits among the attendants of the doomed man. When the priests exhorted Pallas to confess his sins and receive the last sacraments he told them he would die an atheist, adding, "I have renounced even my former spiritual inclinations." Before going to the chapel he was allowed to see his wife and children. He kissed and wept over his infant son, and exhorted the members of his family to continue in the path of anarchism.

Pallas wants a secular burial. He has bequeathed his clothes to a museum. He has asked that when he is taken out before the soldiers to be shot he shall have the privilege of giving them the order to fire. Notwithstanding his apparent indifference he has hopes for a respite.

LOOKING FOR BATTLE AT MELILLA.

Moorish Tribes and Spanish Troops Gathering—Spain's Policy Outlined.

MADRID, Oct. 5.—The hussar regiment of the Cadiz garrison was ordered last evening to make ready to embark for Melilla. Captain-General Martinez de Campos has informed the government that he has recovered entirely from the wounds inflicted on him by the Anarchist Pallas, and is able to assume full command of the citadel in case his services be required. The tribes continue to gather near Melilla, and another battle is expected to take place soon. The Europeans of the town are enthusiastic in their praise of the behavior of the Spanish soldiers in the fight with the natives, and hundreds have applied to Gen. Margallo, commander of the citadel, to be enrolled as volunteers. Last evening all the Europeans in the neighborhood gathered at the barracks and cheered the soldiers.

The Spanish Minister of Foreign Affairs received the British, French, German, Italian, and Belgian Ministers to explain to them the policy of Spain in North Africa. While purposing to maintain the status quo in Africa, he said, Spain would push forward vigorously the work on its forts in North Africa, and would chastise severely every attempt of Moorish aggressors to drive it from the coast. Through its Minister Spain has demanded full reparation for the outrage at Melilla. It had sent out to the Moorish coast only the troops and supplies necessary to enforce these demands. Its future course of action would depend upon the attitude of the Moors towards its claims.

Captain-General Martinez de Campos is opposed to any plan of punishment involving a regular military campaign. Such a campaign would not only prevent the proposed decrease of the army, decided upon for reasons of economy, but would cost a large lump sum, besides many lives. The result would undoubtedly greatly aggravate the general discontent, already raised to the danger point by the increase of taxation and the abolition of provincial sinecures.

ALARMING REPORT ABOUT BISMARCK.

It Is Said He Is Steadily Sinking and May Not Leave Kissingen Alive.

BERLIN, Oct. 5.—Dr. Schweninger, Prince Bismarck's physician has arranged for a special through train to convey Prince Bismarck from Kissingen to Friedrichsruhe Saturday.

The Lande-Zeitung says Prince Bismarck is slowly but steadily sinking and that it is improbable that he will ever leave Kissingen alive.

The Vossische-Zeitung of Berlin abstains from publishing the worst news about Prince Bismarck, simply expressing the hope that his iron constitution will enable him to recover from his renewed illness.

The Berlin Tageblatt demands that official bulletins be published regarding Prince Bismarck's illness. It calls to task those responsible for playing with the nation's interest in Bismarck's condition.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—The Telegraph's Berlin correspondent says Prince Bismarck has suffered a stroke of paralysis, and that he is in an apathetic condition.

KISSINGEN, Oct. 5.—[Copyright, 1893, by James Gordon Bennett.]—Constant improvement is noted in the condition of Prince Bismarck.

TWO SCORE SOLDIERS PERISH.

Many Fatalities Attend an Incendiary Fire in Russian Army Barracks.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 5.—The Newsby Infantry barracks at Roslavl, Province of Smolensk, were burned last night. Before all the men could be aroused the flames had spread through most of the building. About 400 men ran out in their night clothes. Of the sixty who were driven to the roof and obliged to jump, eleven were killed and eight injured so severely that they will die. Twenty-three men and five non-commissioned officers were overcome in the halls or rooms by the smoke and heat and were burned to death. Many other soldiers are missing, but it has been impossible to learn whether their bodies are in the ruins or they were merely injured and are being cared for by friends in the town. The fire is believed to have been set by a member of the regiment, as it spread more rapidly than could have been possible under ordinary circumstances.

CHURCH CONGRESS IN AN UPROAR.

Father Ignatius Publicly Denounces the Rev. Charles Gore.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—Father Ignatius, the Episcopal monk who made a tour of the United States three years ago, set the Church Congress at Birmingham in an uproar today by denouncing publicly the Rev. Charles Gore, author of "Lux Mundi." Mr. Gore rose to read a paper as contemplated in the program of the day. Before he began Father Ignatius sprang to his feet and exclaimed, "I protest against this. That man is a denier of Christ. He ought not to be heard here." Cheers and hisses followed. The Bishop of Worcester, who presided, told Mr. Gore to proceed and ordered Father Ignatius to be seated. Amid great disorder Father Ignatius shouted he would not yield unless he received permission to speak later. The Bishop assented. Father Ignatius sat down and Mr. Gore read his paper. Then Father Ignatius rose to reply, but he was ruled out of order. Cheers, hisses, groans, and protests greeted the decision of the Bishop. Every attempt of Father Ignatius to speak caused a renewal of the uproar. He appealed to the Bishop, but the latter ignored him. Eventually Father Ignatius left the congress. The disorder subsided at once and the program of the day was continued.

Welcome to Duke and Duchess of York.

The Duke and Duchess of York were welcomed to the City of York today by the municipal authorities in the presence of thousands of citizens. A service of plate and some fine cutlery were presented to them, and the Duke received the freedom of the city. All the streets of the city are decorated and a general holiday is being observed.

Labor Leader to Take Holy Orders.

The Times says Tom Mann, the associate of John Burns and Kier Hardie in leading the labor movement in Great Britain, is about to take holy orders. Some time during the holidays he will be appointed to the curacy of a populous parish in an industrial district.

Locks Out 7,000 Hands.

The Clyde Shipbuilding Association, owing to a dispute with the joiners in reference to the overtime, has given the employés notice of a general lockout, beginning next Saturday. This will immediately throw 7,000 hands out of work.

Journalistic Enterprise at London.

An "extra" of the Pall Mall Gazette, devoted to the race for the America's cup, appeared on the streets of London at midnight.

CHOLERA SPREADING AT BILBAO.

Forty-two New Cases and Ten Deaths at the Biscayan Port.

MADRID, Oct. 5.—There were forty-two new cases of cholera and ten deaths in Bilbao, the Biscayan port, and the near by cities yesterday.

ROME, Oct. 5.—Three new cases of cholera and five deaths were reported in Leghorn yesterday. In Palermo fourteen deaths were reported, but no new cases. Since Sept. 20 there have been sixty-eight cases of cholera and thirty-eight deaths in a lunatic asylum at Nocera.

Four hundred cases of cholera and 220 deaths were registered in Palermo during the week ending last Tuesday. The Director of Sanitation reports the cause of the outbreak in Palermo is the bad condition and scanty supply of the water.

HAMBURG, Oct. 5.—No fresh case of cholera has developed here in the last twenty-four hours. A man who fell ill of the disease Monday died last night.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—The death of five persons in one family within a week in Bradford, Yorkshire, has revived a suspicion that cholera has appeared in that town. In all the cases death was ascribed to cholerine, but many believe they were really cases of Asiatic cholera. An investigation is being made.

AMERICANS REGISTERED AT PARIS.

Those Who Arrive There Yesterday Find the Weather Dull.

[SPECIAL CABLE.]

PARIS, Oct. 5.—[Copyright, 1893, by James Gordon Bennett.]—Americans registered today are: Alfred Liebmann, the McGregor family, Isaac MacCrum, New York; Mme. Romers, Edwin Kimball, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. Pressley, Georgia.

Rain Falls at Paris.

The weather was dull, rain falling all day. The temperature ranged from 51.8° to 66.2°; barometer, 29.48.

Presidential Campaign in Montevideo.

[SPECIAL CABLE.]

MONTEVIDEO, Oct. 5.—[Copyright, 1893, by James Gordon Bennett.]—The Presidential campaign in Montevideo is becoming more interesting. Tajes, the candidate of the Socialists, is meeting with bitter opposition in this city, where Ellauri is a favorite. Both factions are hostile to the President, who is a supporter of Ellauri.

Burn the Houses of Jews.

VIENNA, Oct. 5.—The populace of Berean, Bohemia, has recently been greatly excited over a report that a murder had been committed there in connection with the Jewish ritual. Today a mob attacked the Jewish quarter of the town and set fire to many houses. The gendarmes were called out to protect the Jews and a severe struggle ensued in which many persons were wounded.

Brevities by Cable.

NEW SOUTH WALES LOAN ISSUED.

The New South Wales loan of £2,500,000 has been successfully issued. The subscriptions amounted to £6,500,000.

BELGIAN MINERS' STRIKE A FAILURE.

The coal miners who struck in the Borinage district of Belgium have resumed work. The whole strike in the Province of Hainaut is a failure.

ARDMORE MINERS WILL NOT STRIKE.

Will Continue with the Hope of Getting Steady Work at the Present Prices.

MACON, Mo., Oct. 4.—The 700 coal miners at Ardmore have decided not to make any demand for an increase in wages this winter until the financial situation improves. The financial depression of the country has caused the demand for coal to be light. The miners want steady work at 50 cents, but the small demand for coal will probably not justify regular work even at that amount at present. At Bevier the 1,000 miners are still on strike.

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 5.—Rumors are coming in regarding the vote on the Rio Grande in relation to accepting or rejecting a proposition for a temporary cut in wages. From Salida it is reported that the employés are divided, and about 75 per cent of them are voting against the proposition. On the remainder of the line the vote, it is claimed, will be almost unanimous for acceptance.

DECATUR, Ill., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—A large number of railroad men, telegraph operators, and others belonging to the different brotherhoods have been in Decatur this week conferring with reference to coming to an agreement about going into the American Federation. The men appear to be in earnest in their purpose to stand out against any possible reduction in salaries, and it is probable the advocates of the federation idea will triumph.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 5.—The Brotherhood committee of the Chesapeake, Ohio and Southwestern road left today to take a vote of the employés in regard to the reduction of wages. The indications are that the men will accept the 10 per cent reduction. There is no change in the strike situation on the Louisville and Nashville.

BLOCK OF STORES IN ALPENA BURNS.

Michigan Town Sustains a Fire Loss—Pacific Coast Elevator Destroyed.

ALPENA, Mich., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—The Alpine Block of wooden stores burned this morning. Loss on building, $3,000; insured. Loss on Shannon's furniture stock, $7,000, with $5,500 insurance. Hanover's harness stock damaged $2,000; insured. Several offices on the second floor were damaged to the extent of $2,000.

LA GRANDE, Ore., Oct. 5.—Fire destroyed the Pacific Coast Elevator last night. The loss to the building and machinery is $30,000; insurance, $15,000.

Missing Mr. Boughlen Recognized.

Joseph E. Boughlen, chief clerk of the East End Gas Works at Cincinnati, O., who has been missing since Sept. 21, and who was supposed by his relatives to have suffered foul play, is now thought to be in Chicago alive and well. He was recognized yesterday afternoon at McVicker's Theater by Arthur Pomeroy and A. H. Roby, the proprietors of the Monroe Avenue Hotel, from Sept. 14 until his disappearance. They say he avoided speaking to them.

World's Fair headaches quickly cured by Bromo-Seltzer. On Fair grounds at soda fountains.

KNOX COLLEGE LEADS

WINS IN BASEBALL AND TENNIS IN ILLINOIS TOURNAMENT.

Inter-Collegiate Athletic Games Begin at Galesburg, Preceding the Annual Contest in Oratory—Reception and Banquet to the Visiting Students—Wisconsin Farmer Beaten by Masked Robbers and Then Saturated for Burning—News of the Northwest.

GALESBURG, Ill., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—Galesburg is given over to college students, and there are here hundreds from outside institutions interested in the outcome of the intercollegiate athletic tournament and oratorical contest. Illinois College of Jacksonville sent a large delegation headed by a band and under the care of Profs. Churchill and Clapp. The Blackburn boys were accompanied by Profs. Duggan and Crowell. Monmouth College is here almost to a man, and, while bringing no band, the students are well supplied with tin horns and other noise-producing instruments.

The tournament opened with the tennis singles, Fred Sanderson of Knox being pitted against A. Benson of Blackburn. Sanderson was the winner in the recent Central Illinois tournament and is regarded as a coming player. His serving today was superb. He won easily by a score of 6—0, 6—0, outplaying his competitor at every point. The doubles between Illinois and Knox followed, D. W. Frackleton and C. F. Fairbank appearing for Illinois and Sanderson and R. C. Smith for Knox. This proved an interesting game, and the spectators were enthusiastic. Smith did brilliant and effective work. Knox won again by a score of 6—3, 6—2. Then followed the ball game between the Monmouth and Blackburn teams. Three innings only were played, at the end of which the score stood, Monmouth 22 and Blackburn 2. Blackburn threw up its hands. Soule of Monmouth and Frackleton of Illinois then played tennis, singles. Frackleton proved an excellent player, winning handily by a score of 6—1, 6—2.

Next came what was anticipated to be the event of the day, the ball game between Knox and Illinois, but it proved even a tamer affair than the first game, the Illinois club being completely outclassed. The strength of the Knox team was in its battery, McDougal and Guild. McDougal struck out sixteen men. The Knox team batted frequently and strong, making twenty-three hits. The score resulted Knox 32, Illinois 2. The first of the game the crowd was demonstrative, but all enthusiasm waned before the nine innings were concluded. Knox and Monmouth are to play the deciding game. Knox is ahead on points thus far. Eureka College has applied for admission to the association and will probably be admitted.

Tonight a reception was tendered the visitors and was a brilliant affair. President John Finley of Knox College presided and was toastmaster. Responses were made by H. H. Bancroft, Illinois College; S. T. Burnett, Wesleyan University; James T. Wasson, Knox College; W. A. Bishop, Lake Forest University; R. H. McCracken, Knox College.

FARMER BEATEN BY ROBBERS.

Wisconsin Man Bound and Gagged by Masked Bandits.

APPLETON, Wis., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—Thomas McGillan, a farmer who lives alone in the Town of Center, was brutally beaten in his own house last night by two masked robbers in an effort to make him disclose the whereabouts of $75, which he had received from the sale of a horse recently and which the robbers thought he had concealed in the house. The robbers knocked him down with a club and beat him with their fists until both eyes were so swollen he could not see. They then muffled his face in a cloth and tying his hands and feet threw him on a bed. Then they demanded to know where the $75 was. He told them he only had $8 in the house, which was true, and handed it over to them. They were unsatisfied and searched the premises. Finding nothing they tortured McGillan by holding the soles of his feet close to a lamp. They then poured kerosene over him and the bed and one of the robbers was about to light it, but was with difficulty persuaded by the other not to add murder to their offense as that was a bigger job than he cared to be concerned in. After a quarrel this was agreed to.

McGillan was brought to Appleton today and received surgical attendance. His injuries, though painful, are not serious. He can give but a meager description of his assailants. He says one of the men was apparently about 18 to 20 years old and spoke correct English, constantly calling him by name and inquiring after James McGillan of Appleton. The older man was larger and spoke in a peculiar nasal tone, which McGillan says he could recognize if he heard again. He could not see their faces on account of the masks. The men seemed familiar with the arrangement of the house and Mr. McGillan's personal habits, and must have been either residents of the neighborhood or of this city.

About 10 o'clock one of the neighbors saw two unknown men walking in the direction of Appleton, and these things are the only clews so far to the robbery. The men staid in the house about an hour and turned everything upside down, but carried away only the $8.

DETROIT INSURANCE MAN ARRESTED

Stonewall J. De France Held on Charges Preferred by Minneapolis Bank.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—Stonewall J. De France, a reputedly wealthy ex-insurance agent who lives in a $20,000 house on Trumbull avenue, was arrested Monday and locked up at an outlying police station. His arrest was made public for the first time this afternon. Supt. Starkweather says De France was arrested on a telegram and is held for extradition, but refuses to say who asked for his arrest or where he is wanted. From sources outside the department, however, it is learned that there are charges against De France at Minneapolis. From the fact that De France is supposed to be on more or less friendly terms with friends of the accused abductors of Joseph Perrien it is reported that his arrest may not be entirely disconnected with the move by the prosecuting attorney to push the case against the alleged abductors. No warrant for him has yet arrived from Minneapolis and an application for his release on a habeas corpus may be made tomorrow. The Flour City National has begun suit by attachment against De France for all the property he owns, said to amount to $50,000. Arthur C. Anderson of Minneapolis is here to push the suits for the complaining bank.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 5.—The story telegraphed from Detroit of the arrest of Stonewall J. de France on the charge of forgery alleged to have been committed here cannot be confirmed. De France is not known. Flour City bank officials say they never heard of him, know nothing of any forgeries, and have not began suit against him or caused his arrest. Arthur C. Anderson, said to be in Detroit to push the suit against De France, is not known here either.

STREETER AGAIN INDICTED.

Vice-President of Northwestern Guaranty Loan Company Charged with Larceny.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 5.—After wrestling with the Northwestern Guaranty Loan company case for nearly a month the grand jury made its final report today. William S. Streeter, Vice-President of the company, was brought from the county jail and arraigned on three new indictments. In two of them he is indicted jointly with L. F. Menage for grand larceny in the first degree and in a third he stands accused by the grand jury of unlawfully declaring a dividend Dec. 26, 1892, when the profits of the concern did not warrant. The bills for grand larceny charge that Menage and Streeter appropriated to their own use $270,322.77, and also, Jan. 25, 1893, the further sum of $723,289.79. To all of the bills W. A. Lancaster, attorney for Mr. Streeter, asked until Monday at 10 o'clock in which to plead. Bail in each was fixed by Judge Canty at $10,000, and on approval of County Attorney Nye, the total amount of bail stands at $30,000 as against $50,000 in the first instance. A nolle was entered by the State in the first indictment found and Mr. Streeter will now have the three new bills to answer.

SUES GANNON FOR TRUST FUNDS.

President of Irish National League Defendant in an Omaha Case.

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—Mrs. Mary McDonald appeared before the Probate Court today and asked that measures be taken to secure $500, of which M. V. Gannon, President of the Irish National League, is the custodian, as attorney fees for her administrator. It was discovered that Gannon had removed to Chicago. An attachment was issued on Gannon's personal effects. When the officer went out to the residence to make the levy he was met by the housekeeper, who showed a bill of sale covering everything in sight and dated several years ago. The Gannon troubles started Bishop & Wheeler, a firm of short time loan brokers, who had a chattel mortgage on Gannon's household goods, to look up the record. They discovered, they claim, that their mortgage, executed by Gannon, was subsequent to the date of the bill of sale and covered the same goods.

Wounds Four Men with One Shot.

DECATUR, Ill., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—Perry Reynolds, proprietor of a saloon at Lovington, south of Decatur, had repeatedly refused to credit a young man named Wadwood for liquor. Tonight the latter came into the crowded saloon with a double-barreled shotgun, which he pulled on Reynolds at a distance of four feet and discharged it. Reynolds fell with one load of the shot in his right side and arm. Ben Dickson, the barkeeper, got part of the other load in the left side, arm, and face, one eye being put out. William Dickson, father of Ben, was shot in the hand. Reynolds is believed to be fatally injured. Wadwood was arrested and taken to the county jail at Sullivan to escape lynchers.

Becomes Grand Lodge Headquarters.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—The election yesterday of J. H. C. Dill of this city as Grand Secretary of the Masonic Grand Lodge of Illinois will result in the removal to Bloomington of the office of the Grand Secretary and his force of clerks. Prof. Delmar Darrah of this city is an aspirant for the position of Grand Lecturer for the Masonic order, which has been for some years held by Mr. Dill. The headquarters of the Woman's Christian Union of Illinois will also be moved here as ordered by the vote taken yesterday at Springfield.

To Investigate Mine Disaster.

CRYSTAL FALLS, Mich., Oct. 5.—Just before adjourning the October term of the Circuit Court for Iron County Judge Stone ordered Prosecuting Attorney Moriarity to conduct an investigation of the Mansfield mine disaster. In his report Mine Inspector Roberts removes all blame for the accident from the operators of the mine, and advanced the theory that the accident was caused by the displacement of certain timbers in the shaft while the timbers for use in the mine were being lowered.

Want Bond from Grain Men.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—Nearly all of the local grain commission firms have recently received a communication from the State Railroad Commission of North Dakota proposing that the grain commission firms in Minneapolis and Duluth shall deposit bonds in the sum of $10,000 with the Commission of North Dakota as surety against loss to shippers from that State. The letter admits that the State has no legal right to demand such instrument. The grain men argue that the scheme is purely political.

Evangelical Lutheran Convention.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—From all parts of the United States today delegates from the various synods of the Evangelical Lutheran Church are here at the first of a four days' convention of the General Council. The opening service was conducted by the Rev. G. C. F. Haas of New York City and G. W. Melching of Lancaster, O. The opening sermon was preached by Prof. Adolph Spaeths, D. D., of the Theological Seminary of Mount Airy, Philadelphia.

Mississippi Valley Medical Men.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—The second day's session of the Mississippi Valley Medical Association packed Plymouth Church to the doors. The principal address of the day was made by the venerable Dr. James F. Hibberd of Richmond, Ind., President of the American Medical Association. President Sutton finished his annual address and then appointed a committee to report a new set of officers at tomorrow's session.

Indiana Farmer Saves a Train.

LA PORTE, Ind., Oct. 5.—The Chicago and West Michigan railroad bridge between this city and New Buffalo collapsed last night, entailing a heavy loss and stopping all traffic. The crash of timbers aroused a farmer who resided near the bridge, and mounting a horse and clad only in his night clothes he dashed down the track to display the danger signal for the passenger train about due. The train was stopped.

Site for Wisconsin Normal School.

WEST SUPERIOR, Wis., Oct. 5.—The Douglas County Board today bought five acres from James Bardon for $12,000, half price, to be donated to the State as a normal school site. It is a half mile from town and overlooks Superior Bay. The City Council voted $65,000 cash bonus for the school and sent the money to the regents. Tomorrow the county will send a deed for the site. Work will begin this fall.

Illinois-Iowa Boundary Case.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 5.—Attorney-General Moloney left for Washington tonight. He goes to appear for Illinois in the Illinois-Iowa State line controversy pending in the Supreme Court. Illinois claims that the line is in the center of the main navigable channel of the Mississippi River, and, not, as contended by Iowa, in the center of the stream as measured from shore to shore.

Production of Michigan Salt.

SAGINAW, Mich., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—The quantity of salt inspected in Michigan this year to Oct. 1, as shown by the reports of the State inspector, is 2,717,580 barrels, being 415,000 barrels less than was inspected during the corresponding period last year. The price is the lowest in the history of the manufacture of salt in this State.

Northwest Notes.

Thomas Boyer was run over by a train at Vincennes, Ind., and killed.

There were three incendiary fires in Beloit, Wis., resulting in small loss.

Survivors of the Nineteenth Iowa Infantry will hold a reunion at Fort Madison, Ia., Oct. 18 and 19.

The directors of the whisky trust held a meeting at Peoria yesterday to consider routine business.

A bridge on the Muscatuck River near Seymour, Ind., was burned by incendiaries. Loss, $10,000.

An attempt was made to poison Sheriff Friederich at Crown Point, Ind., by pouring carbolic acid into the cistern.

Three prisoners in the county jail at Pontiac, Ill., escaped, first knocking down the jailer and taking his gold watch.

Barney Williams, arrested at Detroit, has been identified as one of the Mackinac Island pirates by Deputy Sheriff Jaquett.

Gottfried Greutze, a German farmer living near Goffs, Kas., had his head completely severed from his body in a runaway accident.

The body of Charles Cook, a farmer living near Cairo, Ill., was found in a field close to his farm. He had wandered away six weeks ago.

Frank Collins and Varnum Lufkin, horse thieves, and J. Brown, cigar thief, sawed a hole under the door of the cell in the county jail at Mount Clemens, Mich., and escaped.

Cooking for Children

What is the best food for children is a question worthy of every parent's careful study.

It has been declared that the manner in which children are fed and cared for in the first five years determines what they shall be ever after.

No children are better, and most are worse, for eating lard-cooked food. If, however, their food is prepared with the healthful new vegetable shortening instead of lard, they can eat freely of the best food without injury to their digestive organs.

The same is true as to invalids and delicate persons. The use of Cottolene makes a much larger range of nourishing food available for them.

Give Cottolene a trial. It will delight you. Beware of imitations.

TALK OF COMPROMISE.

NOT YET EFFECTED, BUT IT SEEMS THE INEVITABLE RESULT.

Mr. Cleveland Continues to Insist on Unconditional Repeal, but at the Right Time the Democratic Leaders in the Senate Will Yield and Take What They Can Get—Senate Spends the Day in Executive Session—Congressman Murray's Plea for the Colored Race.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—Progress was made today towards "adjusting" the differences among the Democratic Senators on silver. A premature report was out that the terms of a compromise which would command the support of forty-five Senators had actually been arranged and the necessary votes pledged. The substance of this arrangement was the purchase of 2,500,000 ounces of silver for two years from Nov. 1, with no discretion left to the Treasury Department. Some minor details were on the lines heretofore indicated, but the important thing was that the compromisers would not agree to stop the silver purchases short of two years.

It may be well for those who are most interested to consider whether or not they can get the substance of repeal while yielding the form. Last week when the compromisers outlined their propositions they did so knowing that they would have to yield something. Now if the repeal Senators who are willing to see the silver purchases continue for awhile are also willing that the silver liabilities shall be increased without a proportionate increase in the gold reserve the Southern Senators are quite ready to drop the bond proposition. However, they are still insisting that if the measure is to be a Democratic compromise State bank tax repeal ought to be coupled with it. If Republican votes are to be sought they may have to drop out this scheme for the present, as Don Cameron is the only known Republican who would vote for the repeal of the State bank tax.

Report of Compromise Premature.

However, as already stated, the report that the terms of the compromise had actually been agreed upon by a majority of the Senators is premature. Before that is done Gorman and Voorhees must give the country an imitation of an effort to secure unconditional repeal through a continuous session. If they do not hold the Senate together at least two nights the country may become too suspicious of their readiness to compromise. Blackburn and other Democratic Senators have promised not to filibuster, and they want a chance to be present through one or two night sessions just to show that deliberation is not filibustering, and that they are discouraging filibustering by lending their presence towards making a quorum. Then, when the farce has gone far enough, the time will be ripe for the compromise proposition.

Renewed assurances are given tonight that President Cleveland will accept nothing short of absolute and unconditional repeal. If he does it will be a confession of personal defeat. But the Democratic leaders in Congress are not moved by any such consideration. A good many of them are quite willing to see Mr. Cleveland humiliated. Others, however, are not of this mind, and if these come to the support of the compromise it will be because they are sincerely convinced that no other legislation can be had, and that it is better to secure the ultimate stoppage of silver purchases under some other name than unconditional repeal. It is stated today that Senator McPherson of New Jersey, who is down for a speech in favor of repeal, is preparing the draft of a compromise, which will secure the substance if not the form.

Democrats Violate Home Rule Pledges.

Home rule pledges got a black eye in the Senate this afternoon. The Democratic majority stood right up to the Democratic President in violating them. The Senate spent the day in executive session discussing the President's nominations of Indian Agents and ultimately confirmed them by a party vote. The fight has been going on for some time. Stewart held the balance of power in the Committee on Indian Affairs, and by acting with the Republican members he prevented Chairman Jones from making a fourth report, so that the matter came before the Senate with an adverse recommendation.

It was charged that Stewart's opposition was due to his antagonism to the President's silver views, but it might just as well have been charged that Davis, Washburn, and other Western Senators, who support Mr. Cleveland's financial recommendations, opposed his Indian nominations because of politics. The Western Senators all objected to having carpet-baggers set down in their States.

Three of the nominations were those of men nominated in June last during recess—William L. Hargrove of Indiana to be agent at the Western Shoshone Agency, Nevada; Joseph Robinson of Missouri at the Nez Perces Agency, Idaho; and J. R. Young of Kentucky at the Puma Agency, Arizona. The more recent nominations were Robert M. Allen of Illinois at White Earth Agency, Minnesota; Isaac J. Wootten of Delaware at Nevada Agency, Nevada; and Ralph Hall of North Dakota at Devil's Lake in the same State.

Indian Nominations Confirmed.

The Democratic Senators from Missouri, Mississippi, and the other States which had secured the appointments all supported Chairman Jones of Arkansas in his efforts for confirmation. Walthall, Gray, and half a dozen others made speeches on that side. Senators Davis and Washburn of Minnesota were strong against confirmation. The Democratic Senators defended the ignoring of the party pledges on the ground that it had never been the custom to limit the selection of Indian agents to the States or Territories in which the agencies are located. Senator Palmer put in a word on this line. He was specially interested in securing the confirmation of Allen at White Earth. Allen is a brother of Judge Josh Allen. David B. Hill and one or two other Democrats admitted some disapprobation of the nominations, but they were indifferent rather than antagonistic.

Some difficulty was had in securing a quorum on the roll-call, but the nominations were confirmed by a small margin. Butler of South Carolina joined the Republicans in voting against confirmation.

TEST CASE IN PENSION SUSPENSIONS.

Judge Long of Michigan Denies the Right of Department to Withhold Payments.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 5.—Judge Charles D. Long of Detroit, Mich., member of the Michigan Supreme Court, is contesting the right of the Commissioner of Pensions to suspend the payment of pensions. He is using his own case as a test. He says he was first informed of the suspension by the Pension Agent at Detroit. He denies that he ever received notice of this suspension in any other way. He states he believes this order was not made by the Secretary of the Interior, who is empowered to strike from the pension rolls names put thereon by fraudulent representations. But even this cannot be done, he maintains in his petition, without due notice to the pensioner, who shall have full opportunity to be heard. Judge Long further objects that such a proceeding is in violation of the Constitution, which provides that no citizen shall be deprived of "life, liberty, or property without due process of law." His pension, he claims, is valuable property, of which he has been deprived without such process. Commissioner Lochen says in reply that the rule is an old one, and has been in use in the bureau from the beginning. He states that a pension is not property until the pensioner gets the money. The new privilege of drawing a pension does not constitute property. The case will come up Oct. 19.

SHIFTS THE BURDEN ON CONGRESS.

Carlisle Can Do Nothing Toward Immediate Vacation of Chicago Federal Building.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—Immediate vacation of the Federal Building at Chicago does not seem near at hand, judging from the tenor of the latest communication from the Treasury Department. Members of the Chicago Congressional delegation have urged upon Secretary Carlisle the necessity for this step, as well as the advisability of his making a report and recommendation to Congress. He has contented himself, however, with addressing a communication to each member of the delegation and throwing upon Chicago's Representatives the burden of the work of receiving from Congress an appropriation for a new building.

About three weeks ago a report was made by the Supervising Architect of the Treasury on the condition and needs of the Chicago building, and after receiving this document Gen. Black, Judge Hunter, and Messrs. Aldrich, McGann, Durborow, and Goldzier united in a memorial to the Secretary of the Treasury, in which they suggested and urged that "proper steps be taken for the immediate vacation of the Federal Building." Secretary Carlisle referred the memorial to Supervising Architect O'Rourke with instructions to reëxamine the subject and submit such suggestions and recommendations as he might consider proper. While the Supervising Architect did not believe that there was any immediate danger of a collapse of the public building, yet he thought that for the convenience of the public a new building should be erected, and he said this much to the Secretary of the Treasury in his latest report.

After going over the report carefully Secretary Carlisle called attention to his inability to order a vacation of the building in question. He says:

In the existing state of legislation the Secretary of the Treasury has no power to vacate the building now occupied by the public officers at Chicago, or to secure by rental or otherwise other buildings at that place for the transaction of public business. Congress alone has power to determine what shall be done with the present building and whether or not a new one shall be erected, or necessary accommodation secured for the public officers by renting suitable quarters. I concur, however, with the conclusion reached by the Supervising Architect that it will be necessary to provide at a reasonably early day for the erection of a new and larger building at Chicago. Whether it shall be located on the present site or at some other place in that city is a question upon which I prefer not to express an opinion at this time.

A meeting of the Chicago delegation will be held as soon as practicable to agree upon some plan of action, and Representative McGann will probably have a bill ready for presentation to Congress early next week embodying the suggestions of the Treasury Department officials.

HE PLEADS FOR HIS RACE.

Colored Congressman Scores the Election Bill and Makes a Hit.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—An unusual spectacle was witnessed in the House of Representatives today when a son of Ham from South Carolina was the recipient of marked applause at the hands of his Republican colleagues after an interesting, well-delivered speech on the election bill. George W. Murray, Congressman from the South Carolina constituency formerly represented by Robert Smalls, was the speaker, and, as he declared, the only representative in either branch of the National Legislature of 8,000,000 American citizens. From the beginning to the close of his speech, which was read from manuscript, the colored orator was listened to attentively not only by Congressmen on the floor of the House but by a large contingent of his own race who sat in the public gallery.

In the course of his remarks he paid his respects to Gen. Black of Illinois as follows:

I would commend to the careful consideration of the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. Black) comparisons of votes in the different States and districts, as he, during his remarks upon the bill, boastfully flaunted the great Democratic majority in the late elections in the face of the minority. I earnestly beseech him to put his hand on his troubled heart and go to his God in prayer and ask him what would that majority be if the voters of the South had been allowed the same freedom to vote and honesty in the count as those of the North and West. I certainly admire the Democratic party in one respect.

It has made the road to the ballot-box for all its adherents throughout the length and breadth of this country as free from obstacle as the path to hades, but the way there for the adherent of any other party in sections of this country is as rugged and dangerous as the road to heaven.

Appeals to All Republicans.

I appeal to Republicans from everywhere, standing true to the principles of Sumner, Seward, Lincoln, and Grant, the great saints of the grand old party, to resist this nefarious measure with all their power and resources, and though for the time being the banner of the party, always a bow of promise leading the advancing column of civilization and progress from the dark, gloomy, despondent period of the greatest rebellion of authentic history for thirty years to a position that challenges the admiration of the world, may trail in the dust, as sure as God and truth live the nation witnessing its own stultification, embarrassment, and confusion brought on by the lowering of that banner will triumphantly raise it again and march to its destined haven of freedom, citizenship, prosperity, and victory. I request my people everywhere to take the roll when it shall have been called on the passage of this bill, mark the names of every man casting an affirmative vote and regard him as their perpetual enemy. I hope that broad, sound, and philanthropic man occupying the executive chair is too brave and humane to join in this cowardly onslaught to strike down the walls impaling the last vestige of liberty to a helpless class of people.

Little Interest in the Debate.

Interest in the debate on this bill does not increase and empty benches on both sides of the chamber are the rule and not the exception. At no time today were there more than 100 members present. The speeches, besides that of Mr. Murray, were made by Haines (Rep., Neb.) in the negative and by Russell (Dem., Ga.) and Money (Dem., Miss.) in the affirmative.

At the opening of the session the Speaker laid before the House the communication, published this morning, from the Secretary of the Treasury explaining why the Sherman act was not enforced during July and August. It was referred without comment.

Mr. Oates (Dem., Ala.), from the Committee on the Judiciary, called up a bill repealing so much of the revised statutes as require proof of loyalty during the late War of the Rebellion as a prerequisite to being restored or admitted to the pension roll of any person who otherwise would be entitled and dispensing with proof of loyalty in any application for bounty land.

Mr. Burrows (Rep., Mich.) warned Mr. Oates that the bill could not be passed in the morning hour, and Mr. Oates withdrew it. On motion of Mr. Oates a bill was passed disqualifying Judges, Justices, or Commissioners of the United States from sitting as courts in the hearing of cases of which they are interested. On motion of Mr. Oates a bill was passed placing the Secretary of Agriculture in the line of the Presidential succession.

The Election Bill Comes Up.

The election bill then came up for consideration and brought forth Mr. Murray's speech. Mr. Russell (Dem., Ga.) was the next speaker, and his argument was in favor of repeal. Referring to Mr. Murray's speech he said it was proper and fitting that the requiem gun of the Republican party should be fired by a son of Ham.

Money (Dem., Miss.) resented the reflection made upon his State in the minority report, denominating those reflections as infamous and iniquitous. There was no ground for the accusations made against it, and he declared its elections were fairly conducted. He proceeded to make an argument in favor of an educational qualification, which brought Mr. Blair (Rep., N. H.) to his feet with a few cursory remarks in support of his pet hobby, the educational bill.

Referring to the Constitution of Ohio in the course of his remarks Mr. Money was interrupted by Mr. Grosvenor (Rep., O.) correcting one of his statements. Mr. Grosvenor said, in correction of an assertion made, that the Government of Ohio had no legislative power.

Mr. Mooney inquired whether that could be said of the President of the United States. Mr. Grosvenor replied that he did not wish to say so. Mr. Money then went on to review the Constitutions of the various States as they existed after the war to show that no State could throw the first stone at Mississippi. As each State was mentioned a champion arose and there was a good deal of merriment. Mr. Money bore himself admirably and was ready for all questions, and the greatest good humor prevailed. After a few remarks by Mr. Haines (Rep., O.), who opposed the measure, the House adjourned.

Proposed Solution of Hawiian Troubles.

An executive message on Hawaiian affairs has been prepared for some weeks, ready for transmission to the Senate whenever action on the silver question permits. Its contents have been carefully guarded, but it is authoritatively stated that it embodied the recommendations of Minister and Special Commissioner Blount to the effect that the question of establishing a protectorate over the islands by the United States should be submitted to a plebiscite, in which the natives and the foreign-born residents should have equal rights of voting. It is inferred that if this course should be adopted the inevitable result would be the reëstablishment of the supremacy of the monarchy, as the ex-Queen is understood to retain all her popularity among the natives.

Seeks a Public Building for Joliet.

Joliet should have a public building, in the opinion of Representative Childs, and he has submitted a bill which has been referred to the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds. It provides for an appropriation of $200,000 for the purchase of a site and the construction of a building according to the plans, specifications, and estimates made and approved according to law before work is commenced. Fireproof vaults are to be constructed to protect customhouse and postoffice records from destruction by fire.

Democratic Caucus on Election Bill.

The Democratic members of Congress will meet in caucus next Monday to consider the Federal election bill. Its principal object will be to determine whether it is part of the policy to send the bill to the Senate pending a disposition of the Sherman repeal bill by that body.

Washington Brevities.

Carroll D. Wright took active charge of the Census Department today and about sixty dismissals were made from the clerical force.

Mr. Burrows of Michigan introduced in the House yesterday a bill appropriating $100,000 for a public building at Battle Creek, Mich.

The House Committee on Military Affairs will report favorably tomorrow the bill increasing to 110 the number of army officers detailed to colleges.

Josiah Quincy, late Assistant Secretary of State, has returned to Washington to assist Mr. Cleveland in selecting suitable men for the Consular offices.

The receipts from internal revenue today were $485,409; from customs, $647,753; and miscellaneous, $13,585. The national bank notes received today for redemption amount to $323,090.

BIMETALLISTS REJECT LAND CURRENCY

After a Contest Over Resolutions Their Convention Adjourns—St. Louis News.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 5.—At the Pan-American Bimetallic convention today Gen. A. C. Fisk was chosen presiding officer. Gov. Tillman from the Committee on Resolutions, to which was referred the resolution calling for the removal of the United States Capital from Washington, recommended the rejection of the resolution. J. B. Follett of St. Louis moved the adoption of the majority report of the Committee on Resolutions. Delegate Waterbury of Kansas moved as an amendment to add the minority report of H. Taylor of Minnesota for the coinage of land values equally with bullion values. The speechmaking of the day was started by State Senator Cockran, of St. Joseph, Mo., and consisted mainly of a tirade against the administration and the bankers. In response to loud cries Gov. Tillman took the floor to explain why the Committee on Resolutions had not taken up the land currency scheme. He said he did not believe the convention would do itself any good by advocating land currency or any Subtreasury scheme. Gov. Waite of Colorado then spoke against the propriety of introducing a land currency resolution in a bimetallic convention. Following Gov. Waite a number of short addresses were made. The minority resolutions were withdrawn and the majority adopted. Adjournment was had, subject to call from the Pan-American Silver League.

The annual convention of the State Federation of Labor has been in session for the last three days and each day has been productive of wild scenes of turbulency. This afternoon the climax was reached when a clique proceeded to the election of officers, which in the established order of business should be done on the last day. The convention passed a resolution commending Gov. Altgeld of Illinois for pardoning the Haymarket Anarchists and Judge Leed of Wichita, Kas., was denounced for declaring the eight-hour law unconstitutional.

An attachment suit was brought in the Circuit Court at noon for H. H. Cook, a New York capitalist, against the Birdsall company, No. 316 South Eighth street, and the Sheriff took charge of the place. The Birdsall company are manufacturers of farm machinery. The suit is brought to collect $22,000 alleged to be due on notes.

There was a successful jail delivery at the House of Refuge this morning, nine of the toughest youths in the institution effecting their escape from the dormitory and getting over the wall surrounding the institution without discovery. The escape of the boys is said to be due to the negligence of the dormitory watchman.

SOUTHERN VIEW ON STATE BANK TAX.

Col. Orr of Paris, Tenn., Says a Local Currency Will Afford Great Relief.

"The South is in earnest in its demands for the repeal of the tax on State bank issues," said Col. J. A. Orr of Paris, Tenn., at the Great Northern yesterday. "We have been suffering for years from the lack of circulation with which to transact business. We feel that free silver alone is not sufficient to give us relief and we demand the privilege of issuing a local currency. It is a mistake to call it a wildcat scheme. As we propose to issue it our money will be as sound as that of the national government and circulate as freely in the North as in the South."

Judge N. E. Cleary of Prescott, Ari., is in Chicago, and thinks there are great things in store for that territory. "Our gold mines are all doing well," he said, "and we have large accessions lately from Colorado of the mining people, who are prospecting through our mountains. But it is not in the mining alone that we are developing rapidly, but in agriculture. The application of scientific irrigation is reclaiming thousands of acres in the southern portion of the State."

Ex-Senator Stephen Dorsey of Colorado arrived at the Grand Pacific yesterday from New York City. Mr. Dorsey is full of enthusiasm over the indications of a rich output of gold in the Cripple Creek region. He said:

We shall mine $10,000,000 of gold there this coming year, which will be one-third of the total gold output of the United States. The slump in silver and the repeal agitation have done Colorado great injury, but it has had the effect of accelerating the gold mining, and as the quantity of gold increases silver will depreciate.

J. S. Frelinghuysen of New York is at the Leland. Three of Pennsylvania's prominent politicians were among the hotel arrivals yesterday. Lieut.-Gov. Louis A. Watres is at the Victoria, ex-United States Senator Henry W. Oliver is at the Auditorium, and Col. B. Frank Eshleman is at the Great Northern.

Gov. Altgeld Issues Requisitions.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—The Governor today issued requisitions as follows: On the Governor of Ohio for the extradition of Monroe Tompkins, alias "Cheeky Monroe," wanted in Chicago for burglary and under arrest in Cincinnati; on the Governor of Michigan for John Phelps, wanted in Chicago for larceny as bailee, and now under surveillance at Flat Rock, Mich.; and on the Governor of Utah for Laura Junkerman, wanted at Centralia for forgery and now at Salt Lake City.

LIST OF DEAD GROWS.

FROM 1,500 TO 2,100 LIVES LOST IN THE GULF COAST STORM.

Word Received from Chandeleur and Ship Islands Adds 100 to the Total—Between 800 and 1,250 Victims on Cheniere Island—Hundreds of Ships and Their Crews Lost—New Orleans Sets About the Work of Relief—Desolation Marks the Path of the Hurricane.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—Father Grimaux of the Roman Catholic Church at Cheniere reports the exact number of loss on that island is 779. Other information is the number of dead there is 1,250. At Grand Isle twenty-five negroes were lost. Various reports place the total loss of life on the gulf coast between 1,500 and 2,100.

Until this morning no news was received from the Chandeleur and Ship Islands, but the intelligence that has come is in keeping with the awful story of the storm's work at other places. These islands are from ten to twelve miles from the mainland of the South Mississippi coast, and were fully exposed to the fury of the hurricane. On Chandeleur is the National Quarantine Station and the Marine Hospital in charge of Surgeon G. M. Guiteras. Every building on the island was destroyed and 100 lives lost. The whole quarantine system was wrecked and is a total loss. Hospital Steward L. A. Duckart of this city, Nurse McKenzie, Seaman Muller of Amsterdam and two patients, George B. Salmes of the bark Rebecca Goddard and a sailor named Lazen of the steamship Ravensdale, the last two patients, are among the missing from the government station. Drs. Guiteras and Pelaez were saved. The damage to the quarantine station will amount to $10,000.

Yesterday a sailor made his way to the Chandeleur station from the fishing sloop Laura B. of New Orleans, which was wrecked in Grand Pass. Out of a crew of seven men he is the only survivor, and when found on the island was in an unconscious and perfectly nude condition, having been in the water over ten hours. The bark Rebecca Goddard was dismantled to a large extent. The Austrian bark Nikita, which was at quarantine, has disappeared and is believed to have been lost with all on board. It had a crew of twelve. A number of other large vessels were dismasted and badly used.

Miles of Chandeleur Island have been washed away, and what little remains is liable to be submerged with a little more than ordinary high tide. Dr. Guiteras has notified the department at Washington that the island is no longer habitable and recommended the transfer of the quarantine station to Ship Island, and Dr. Pelaez has been transferred to that point.

Not a House Left Whole.

In the country between quarantine and the court-house there is not a house that is whole. Between the points mentioned twenty-three lives were lost. Most of them were white people, the negroes being a party of seven who were killed in one place. Some of the lost met death by drowning, while others came to a more violent end in the destruction of their homes. At Pass Christian not a wharf or bathhouse is left standing. The loss will reach $35,000.

The hero of the hour around the French market is Capt. Rudolph Terrebonne, commander of the lugger Good Mother. During the height of the cyclone at Cheniere he risked his life half a dozen times in saving the lives of men, women, and children. Some distance from his house was a two-story house, and to this place the Captain made his way with his family. In the house he found several people crouching in fear on the lower floor. The Captain then left in search of those who were in need of assistance. At almost every step he found some unfortunate. He would convey them back to the house where his family was. He continued doing this for over an hour, and during that time managed to save sixty-four people who were on the point of giving up when he came to their aid. After the sixty-four people had been safely landed in the lower portion of the house the building began to sway to and fro. Those in the house became panic-stricken and would have dashed out into the storm had not the Captain placed his burly form in the doorway and prevented them. He requested everybody to go up-stairs, knowing that if the house went in those on the second floor would have a better chance of escape than those on the ground floor, who would be crushed to death by falling timbers. All but three obeyed the Captain's orders. As soon as the majority reached the upper floor the building collapsed. The sixty-two people on the second floor escaped injury, while those below were crushed to death.

Unable to Give Assistance.

Last night the Henry T. Gregg took two Italian fishermen from a raft as they were drifting to sea. Another raft also passed the vessel with three men on board, but the Gregg's small boats were so badly wrecked that they could lend no assistance to the unfortunates and nothing has been heard from them since.

At Handsboro the mills of H. Leinhard and the J. T. Liddle company have been damaged considerably, but to what extent is not known. The roadbed on the Louisville and Nashville road from Pearl River to Waveland is washed away and west of Lookout it is nearly as bad.

At Biloxi the canning interests suffered severely. The three companies, the Barataria, George W. Dunbars, and Gorenfle & Co., lost $25,000. Much damage was caused at the Back Bay of Biloxi by a section of a railway bridge 100 feet long being swept against the factory buildings, which were crushed. Three hundred wharves and bath-houses were destroyed; loss, $60,000. The British bark Rosella Smith, 509 tons, was found near Chandeleur bottom upward. The mate, carpenter, and cook were drowned. The Austrian bark Annie E. from Santos is a loss. It was valued at $20,000. The Captain, three sailors, and two stevedores were drowned. A hundred vessels were wrecked at Biloxi.

At Deer Island, just opposite Biloxi, over forty head of cattle were drowned. When the storm came up there were many Biloxi boats in the Louisiana marsh oyster-fishing, and it is almost certain that in many cases a number if not all of the boats have gone down with all on board. Of eight schooners known to be there Sunday evening three have been picked up bottom up, with masts and rigging all gone and not a soul on board.

The schooners Alice McGuigin and Angeline have been discovered bottom upwards three or four miles from the mouth of Pearl River. Twenty-three men who were on these vessels were lost.

The island of St. Malo was depopulated by the storm, or at least no trace can be found of the six or eight people who were known to have been on the place when the storm burst. St. Malo is one of the small islands situated directly out in the gulf from Shell Beach.

The reports from Point a la Hache and its vicinity put the death list up to eighty persons. Yesterday the searching parties in the vicinity of Grand Prairie found fifty-seven bodies. They were nearly all Austrian colonists, who had a large settlement at this point. The men were engaged in the oyster industry. Many of the bodies were torn and mutilated. The local Austrian and Slavonic societies have sent committees into the section. The dead were buried five or six in a trench.

Relief for the Needy.

At a meeting of citizens at noon Mayor Fitzpatrick subscribed $2,500 for relief on behalf of the city while money poured in from other sources. Scores of boats laden with water, food, and clothing left today without waiting for an organized movement and more will leave for the different scenes of disaster tonight.

Appeals for aid have come in so swiftly from the stricken section that it is impossible to render the necessary assistance. The Red Cross Society has taken the matter in hand and issued the following call:

To the Public: The Red Cross Society of Louisiana, of which Miss Clara Barton is the national executive, does hereby issue a call upon the public generally for subscriptions and contributions in aid of the sufferers from the recent storm in Southeast Louisiana, who are at present without food or shelter. The society requests that all subscriptions and contributions be made to John M. Coos, Treasurer, at No. 2 Tchoupitoulas street. J. B. VINET, President.

The appeal for aid from the storm-stricken country has met with a ready response, and large shipments of supplies went by rail today to Point a la Hache and Bellaire. John Dymond, one of the largest sugar planters in the unfortunate section, sent the steamer Neptune to the above points loaded to the guards with flour, meats, and other supplies.

The crops are not as badly injured as the first reports indicated. A conservative estimate places the loss to the rice crop at 10 per cent, while the sugar cane suffered slightly. The heaviest loss will be on the orange crop. It is estimated fully 50 per cent of the fruit has been blown from the trees and is lying on the ground, too green to ship and unfit for use.

MOBILE, Ala., Oct. 5.—At Pascogoula nine vessels are ashore, two of them on the railroad tracks. The damage in Scranton and Pascogoula is estimated at $250,000. Portersville, a summer resort, is wiped out and the oyster plant of the Booth Packing company of Chicago is destroyed. Nearly every house in the vicinity is demolished and every vessel in the bay is ashore and wrecked. Loss, $100,000.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 5.—Damage to the railroads by the recent storm along the gulf coast is being rapidly repaired, pending which the Louisville and Nashville railroad has arranged to handle the mails and through cars from Montgomery via Selma and Meridian, thus causing no serious detention in the transportation of through mails and passengers.

NEEDS OF SEA ISLANDS SUFFERERS.

Miss Clara Barton's Report of Conditions on South Carolina Coast.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 5.—Miss Clara Barton has made an official report to the executive officers of the Red Cross of the progress of the relief movement undertaken by the association at the request of the Governor and State officers in South Carolina. Miss Barton says:

After carefully surveying the ground over for two weeks and fully investigating the needs of the suffering people and the resources of the local committees we have come to the conclusion that it is the duty of the Red Cross to comply with the Governor's request and take responsible charge of the "Sea Islands relief." This, without doubt, will involve upon us the heaviest and longest continued work yet carried on in this country. With winter approaching, with all crops destroyed over a space of forty by a hundred miles in extent, with 30,000 inhabitants, one-fourth of them homeless, houses, cattle, fowls, tools, and all accumulations swept into the sea, their little boats, which would enable them to fish, also swept away, and eight months of this destitution to face, the situation is indeed serious. It is not alone charitable work, it is sharp business work that is called for.

All the funds and material which the committees have to turn over to us will not carry the people through the month of October, and that is by far the best month they will see before next May. They can now glean a little from the ground. The weather is warm, and even without their houses they do not suffer for lack of shelter. But November will begin to nip them and then follows the long winter months, with nothing to depend upon but the little charities of an already depressed people. There is no work here, and no prospect of any that will employ any part of the men. They need at once tools, hatchets, saws, and nails to fit up their broken houses and build their boats in order to enable them to fish. It is not probable meat can be issued to them much longer. Hominy will be about all they can have, and they will need the fish to use with it.

It is a harder field than Johnstown; more people to care for; more destitute and helpless, spread over hundreds of square miles of territory, cut up by streams from ocean size to rivulets, subject to tides and full of malaria and fever. At Johnstown there was $6,000,000 to back up the work; this present work, all told today, could not show $30,000 in funds.

The headquarters of the association are at Beaufort, S. C., to which point, or to Charleston, S. C., all aid can be sent.

Will Carry Relief Gratis.

Charles Fargo, Second Vice-President of the American Express company, yesterday sent the following telegram to the Mayor of New Orleans: "We tender to you or to any reliable committee of citizens of your city, in behalf of the sufferers from the great storm in its vicinity, the services of this company for the free transportation of donations of money, clothing, provisions, etc."

ILLINOIS BANK SUPERVISION A SUCCESS.

So It Is Denominated by Supt. H. B. Prentice in a Letter.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—In response to a request for information concerning the operation of the State banking law of Illinois H. B. Prentice, Superintendent of the Banking Department of the State Auditor's Office, has addressed a letter to the Treasury Department at Washington. There are at present 126 banks operating under the State banking law. Of this number twenty-three, at the time of the adoption of the law in 1888, were operating under special charters, but by the law were placed under its provisions. The other 103 have voluntarily organized under the law. Mr. Prentice says that State supervision has served to correct many irregular and objectionable methods of doing business. He further says:

That the supervision under the law has been beneficial and had a healthful influence upon the State banking system is certainly evidenced by the fact that they have withstood the prolonged monetary stringency without a failure. June 5 last there was a run on one in eight of the twenty-seven Chicago State banks, not because they were State banks, but because they were savings banks. The department was satisfied of the sound condition of the banks under its supervision, and when Auditor Gore learned of the run being made he immediately issued a call on all Chicago State banks to furnish sworn statements of their condition on the morning of June 5, when the run began. The prompt action of the Auditor in making this call right in the face of the run which was then on proved to be a timely act. The banks made immediate responses to the call, their published statements in the papers showing an average cash reserve of 28 per cent, and as much more of convertible assets, and plainly indicating that the alarm was without foundation. The people seeing this the feeling of distrust was allayed and confidence restored almost at once without the loss of a bank, and the Auditor received assurances that his action had much to do in bringing about this happy termination of what might have resulted in disaster, not only to the banks directly involved, but to the entire banking interests of the Northwest. The last call issued by the Auditor was made July 25, 1893, and was responded to by all the bankz in the State operating under the State banking law. The reports showed an average cash reserve of 33 per cent.

PRINCETON STUDENTS TO BE EXPELLED.

Four Identified as Taking Part in the Hazing of Freshman R. L. Leopold.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—R. L. Leopold, the freshman who was reported to have drowned while being hazed by sophomores, was found at his quarters in town today and gave the following version of the affair:

Last Saturday I provoked a lot of sophomores by language used on the 'varsity football field. Monday night a gang called on me and insisted on my going to the canal to be purified of all stains of freshness. I accompanied them and no violence was offered. When near the canal I got scared and plunged in to escape my pursuers, landing on the other side. I spent the night in a farm-house and returned to college next morning.

A special meeting of the faculty was called today and a number of sophomores examined. Four were implicated in hazing Leopold, and the sentence of expulsion will be preferred at the next meeting of the faculty. Three out of the four are football players. The authorities have asked that their names be withheld until tomorrow's action. Dean Murray said tonight that evidence had been secured against other members of the class.

GOOD RACING AT KANSAS CITY.

Areline Goes Lame at the Post and Is Excused.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 5.—Day and track were perfect at Exposition Park today and the sport was good. In the third race Areline was a 4 to 1 favorite, but during a long delay at the post she went lame and was excused.

The summaries follow:

SHOOTER GRIM'S PLUM

HE GAMELY WINS THE WORLD'S FAIR LIVE BIRD CONTEST.

The Marksman from Clear Lake Takes the Lead Early in the Struggle, and Keeping It Won $600 and the Trophy with a Score of 96 Out of 100 Birds—Elliott and George Kleinman Have a Hard Fight for Second Place—Elliott Wins by a Good Finish.

Seldom in the history of pigeon shooting was such an aggregation of crack shots and notabilities in the shooting world gathered together as yesterday at Watson's Park, Burnside, Ill. For the better part of two days the great World's Fair contest at live birds had been in progress. The race was at 100 live birds each man, $125 entrance, divided in three moneys. The winner, besides one-half of the entrance money, was to take the beautiful championship trophy. There were twelve entries, representing the best talent ever brought together in a similar struggle. They came from all parts of the country. The list comprised: A. L. Bennett of Kansas City, J. A. R. Elliott of Kansas City, Frank Parmalee of Omaha, George Work of New York, Charles Budd of Des Moines, Charles Grim of Clear Lake, Ia., George Kleinman of Chicago, R. Welch of Philadelphia, who shoots under the name of Armstrong, Capt. A. W. Money of New York, John Ruble of Chicago, C. Robinson of San Francisco, and Harvey McMurchey of Fulton, N. Y.

It was a veritable race of giants. Each of the competitors has made grand records in the past. From the moment the first gun was fired it was apparent that the contest would be a memorable one and those who predicted a hard race had their predictions verified.

The conditions imposed were those governing the American Shooting Association, except that guns were limited to twelve gauge and the boundary was what is known among shooters as the "horseshoe," adopted by the Illinois State Sportsmen's Association, which differs from the American Shooting Association boundary only this much: At a point fifty yards from the shooter's score on each side along the dead line the boundary runs at right angles with the dead line until it intersects the circle. King traps were used.

The Birds a Difficult Lot.

As a rule the birds were of an excellent quality, being what is known as selected. When the sun went down Wednesday McMurchey, Grim, Kleinman, and Welch were tied at 47 each out of 50. The rest were fairly well up. Elliott had the misfortune to get hold of a lot of badly primed German shells and lost six out of his first ten birds. He then made a beneficial change in his ammunition at the suggestion of friends.

When the struggle was resumed yesterday there were upwards of 300 spectators on the grounds. Among the shooting celebrities present were: Judge Thomas Logan of Cincinnati, Edgar Murphy of New York, C. W. Dimick of Boston, W. Barton Perley of Columbus, champion of Ohio; J. H. Robbins of Chicago, champion of Illinois and editor of the Sportsmen's Review; Dr. George M. Waters, H. W. Miller, and J. E. Pumptney of Columbus; Wolfred N. Low, W. P. Mussey, R. B. Organ, and R. O. Heikes, all of Chicago; W. P. Bruff of New York, Col. Munson of Savanna, Ga.; G. W. Rexroat of Virginia, Ill.; F. D. Alkin of Woodlyn, O.; Thomas Laflin of Milan, Ill.; Thomas Kellar of Plainfield, N. J.; A. G. Courtney of Syracuse, N. Y.; O. R. Dickey of Boston, Milton Linsley of Hoboken, N. J.; H. A. Penrose of New London, Conn.; Allan Wiley of Hartford, Conn.; and Charles Young of Springfield, O.

Grim, who is the pride of the camp-meeting Town of Clear Lake, began to forge ahead early in the race yesterday, Kleinman, McMurchey, and Welch having the misfortune to drop several birds. They were nearly all hit hard, and some fell dead out of bounds. McMurchey missed connection with his ammunition, and through a lack of confidence did not continue the beautiful work he displayed during the previous day. Grim shot like a machine. Some of his kills were marvelous and were loudly applauded. Bennett also did remarkable shooting. He seemed to be unfortunate enough to draw a majority of the hardest birds. One bird he lost was fairly riddled with shot, but the wind carried it out of bounds. Aside from Grim's almost perfect work, the feature of yesterday's race was the game uphill work of Elliott. He never appeared in better form. Drivers, twisters, tailers, and other hard birds were grassed alike. Every bird was killed nicely. When he overtook George Kleinman and slipped into second place the onlookers gave a wild cheer.

Grim Could Not Be Overtaken.

Grim continued his splendid work to the finish, killing 96. He took first money, $600, and the trophy; Elliott took second money, $360, with 92. Kleinman, third money, $240, with 91. The other scores were: Bennett, 89; Robinson, 89; Money, 70; Budd, 88; Parmalee, 88; Ruble, 86; Welch, 88; McMurchey, 89; Work withdrew at 50. John Watson's efforts as referee were appreciated. The birds were retrieved with dogs.

The tournament will continue today with a 25 live bird contest, $25 entrance. Tomorrow afternoon the great sectional contest between the East and the West will take place. Massachusetts has her best team to compete against the famous team of the Sherman Rod and Gun club of Columbus. The race will be at targets, 50 singles, and 25 pairs. The prize is a purse of $750. A magnificent race will undoubtedly be seen.

Telegraphic Notes of Sport.

QUINCY, Ill., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—The Bostons defeated the All Americas here today by a score of 4 to 1.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—At the Belmont track today Hamlin's Ayers P., with a running mate, trotted a mile in 2:10½.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—President George Wagner of the Washington Baseball club was married today to Miss Sallie Reese of West Philadelphia.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—John Hambrick says he, John Payne, Frank Shaw, and unnamed Chicago men are considering the reopening of Madison track and extension of street car system to provide transportation.

FACTS FOR THE TRAVELING PUBLIC.

Emigrants, commercial men, tourists, mariners, and miners, relating to the preservation of health under conditions unfavorable to it, may be gleaned with profit from the oft published testimony of such persons relating to the protective and remedial qualities of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a very valuable remedy to those who traverse "the briny deep," or are subjected to malarial influences or outdoor exposure. With as much certainty as Dr. Koch's celebrated lymph destroys the organic microbe, the Bitters counteracts unhealthful germs in malaria-tainted air and brackish water. It prevents and removes disorders caused by poor and unaccustomed food, and restores tranquillity to worn out nerves and weary brains. Rheumatism, kidney and liver complaint, cramps, colic, and dyspepsia are among the ailments that it subdues.

A Brief Chat with World's Fair Visitors.

Chicago has spent millions to attract you here, and is giving at the World's Fair the grandest half-dollar's worth ever conceived. You'll never regret that fifty cents.

In our way we give equally good value. Ask the train conductor who brings you to town—ask your hotel-keeper—inquire of people on the street cars—find out from "one of the finest" who gives information and guidance about Wilde's, and they'll prove unanimous in their opinion—"all right." Call on us—you'll not be importuned to buy—and you'll say so, too.

LAZZARONE IS KING.

SPENDTHRIFT'S GREAT SON TAKES THE SUPERIOR STAKES.

With 128 Pounds Up the Great Colt Comes Through the Hawthorne Stretch with a Fine Burst of Speed and Wins—Moses Solomon Wins a Race and Is Disqualified for Fouling Vassal—Piccolo at Odds On Is Beaten by Rook Laidley—Other Winners.

Eugene Leigh's half brother to Strideway, Lazzarone, had previously demonstrated that he is the best colt in training in the West. Yesterday at Hawthorne he confirmed his previous form by taking up 128 pounds and showing his heels to the best of the Western youngsters.

The race, the Superior Stakes, at three-quarters of a mile, brought nine to the post, Tilsit and May Thompson being scratched and Rosalie and Housatonic Jr. added.

Lazzarone, with the top weight, was a consistent favorite throughout. Libertine, with Cass Sloan up, was a false second choice. Speed under light weight is his forte, and why he should have been a 3 to 1 shot, and Motor, who the last time they met beat him at the same weights, at 8 to 1, is a mystery. In that race 115 pounds stopped Libertine, yesterday 120 anchored him. Senator Irby and Minnie Mackin, coupled, and the Corrigan pair, Despot and Tonganoxie, had some following. Motor was well played in the place and one-two-three books, but the others were absolutely friendless.

The flag fell to a perfect start, Covington making it by breaking from behind with Motor.

Senator Irby was in front but Madison took him back at once and Minnie Mackin, his stable companion, shot to the front and set a merry pace up the backstretch. Passing the half she was half a length in front of Libertine. The latter was clear of Rosalie, at whose throat latch Tonganoxie was lying. Around the turn Minnie Mackin raced clear of Libertine. Motor, back in the bunch, was coming up rapidly, but was bumped and fell back out of it again. Lazzarone lay well back as was also Senator Irby.

Lazzarone Comes Through in a Drive.

Rounding to for home Minnie Mackin had had enough of it, and fell back into the bunch beaten. Libertine was in command straightening out, but he soon retired. Lazzarone and Senator Irby were threading their way through from the rear, and an eighth out had everything in hopeless difficulties and beaten. Lazzarone had the foot of McCafferty's colt, and, drawing away on the end, was just clear at the finish. Senator Irby was three lengths in front of Motor, who made up a lot of ground in the stretch and got up just in time to snatch third place from Despot.

In the opening race, for 2-year-olds, five furlongs, Vassal was a 1 to 5 shot. He led into the stretch, but Moses Solomon, at 20 to 1, got him an eighth out. Madison laid the outsider up against Vassal, and, bumping him the last sixteenth of a mile, managed to win by a nose. He was disqualified and the race given to Vassal.

The second race, at seven furlongs, brought six to the post. Piccolo was a hot favorite at 2 to 5 in the opening betting. It steadily receded to 7 to 10. He led into the stretch and failed badly on the end, Rook Laidley winning handily. Sept. 27 Piccolo had 112 pounds up and, after making a dead heat at a mile run in 1:42¾ with Glee Boy, galloped over the latter in the run-off.

"Lakeland" O'Brien had a big bet on him that day which the horse's owners shared. Piccolo seems to be a racehorse when the money is down, a "dog" when unbacked. Judicial action might make Piccolo run truer.

The fourth race, at five furlongs, brought out a lot of dogs. It was a huge scramble, Marcellina winning in a drive from Enterprise. Flitter, the favorite, was third.

The fifth race, at seven furlongs, produced an exciting finish. Pennyroyal, the favorite, made all the running, and, just stalling off Red Root's rush at the end, won by a neck. Bijou was only a head back, with Hy Dy a head back of him.

The sixth race, a split of the fourth, produced a great betting event. Barney Schreiber bet well on Grafton, "Lakeland" O'Brien went "down the line" on Eli Kindig, and the Kenwood Stable backed Dod Bill from 8 to 4 to 1. With the public on Bill Howard it made stirring times in the small ring. Doctor Bill looked all over a winner an eighth out, but in the hard drive Grafton just got up in time to win by a head. Lulu was third.

FRAULEIN'S EDGEWATER HANDICAP.

The Avondale Filly Runs Away with Latonia's Stake—Gascon's Tight Fit.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—Today's card was a particularly good one and betting was heavy. There was an even break between favorites and fielders, but all the winners were well played except G. B. Cox in the last race. The track was heavy and holding. An unwieldly field of fifteen started in the stake, and the ones carrying the bulk of the money were Amelia May, Buckwa, Rey El Santa Anita, and the winner Fraulein. Tony Williams on Buckwa indulged in his customary tactics of laying back and delaying the start, and for his pains he was finally virtually left. Amelia May cut out the running to the far turn where she had to give way to Fraulein. The latter, by Farandole—Fidele, is in the Avondale Stables, and today's win was her fourth start and third win at the meeting. The stake was worth $2,160 to the winner.

A couple of days ago Orville West and Johnny Payne bought Eyelet from Secretary Hopper for $600, and today the gelding won in a walk, his new owners winning him out and more too.

Four good ones started in the all-aged handicap, and the decision of the judges awarding Gascon the race created a good deal of dissatisfaction, numbers claiming Santa Anna had won. It is safe to say, however, that Gascon won by a nose.

Bonnie Lassie carried big money in the second race at odds on, but she ran a miserable race and was beaten away off.

The last race furnished the biggest surprise of the day in the victory of Jake Marklein's G. B. Cox, an indifferent performer in previous races. Clayton rode two winners. None of the Scoggan horses go to Chicago. They go hence to Louisville and after that to Nashville. The summaries follow:

First race, seven furlongs—Miss Dixie (Thorpe), 9 to 10, won in a gallop by three lengths; Henry Jenkins (Freeman), 10 to 1, the same distance before Fancy (Graham), 6 to 1. Little Annie (Meux), 4 to 1, Eireno, Deceit, Dolly Nobles, Hinton, and Banner unplaced. Time, 1:35.

Second race, one mile—Eyelet, 2 to 1, won in a walk by three lengths; Golden Hope (H. Williams), 20 to 1, two lengths before Ocean H. (McLain), 10 to 1. Bonnie Lassie (Perkins), 9 to 10, Vanzant, Merry Eyes, and Marie K. unplaced. Time, 1:48¾.

Third race, one mile and seventy yards, handicap—Gascon (Clayton), 7 to 5, won by a nose in a fierce drive, Santa Anna (Morris), 13 to 5, a length before Somersault (Perkins), 7 to 1. Anna (Thorpe), 13 to 5, unplaced. Time, 1:52.

Fourth race, Edgewater Handicap, for 2-year-olds, six furlongs—Fraulein (Perkins), 6 to 1, went to the front on the far turn and taking a lead of nearly two lengths retained that advantage to the end, winning without much urging; Ganelon (Porter), 10 to 1, was second, two lengths before Amelia May (Ray), 1; Buckwa (R. Williams), 4½ to 1; Rey El Santa Anita (Morris), 7 to 1; Himyara, 8 to 1; Anthem, 8 to 1; Strathrol, Connie C., Probasco, Alethea, Allen, George Beck, Philopena, and Lat Damrow unplaced. Time, 1:18¾.

Fifth race, five furlongs, for 2-year-olds—Domingo (Ray), 2 to 1, led all the way and won handily by a length from King David (Costello), 8 to 1; Miss Mamie (Perkins), 5 to 1, three lengths away. Martinet (Clayton), 5 to 1, Tip, Davey, Montrose, Mary Belle, Little Cripple, Tiddlewink, and Frontman unplaced. Time, 1:06.

Sixth race, five furlongs, for 2-year-olds—G. B. Cox (H. Williams), 15 to 1, led all the way and won in a gallop by two lengths, Gallatin (Carr), 6 to 1, three lengths before Winfield (Clayton), 6 to 1; Volt (Perkins), 2½ to 1; Dwight (Thorpe), 2½ to 1; Emma S., G. P. B., and Mary Moore unplaced. Time, 1:05.

Capt. Sam Brown to Retire.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 5.—Capt. S. S. Brown of Pittsburg, the coal king and noted turf man, will sell out his entire racing stable. Late last night he consigned the string to the Tattersall sale for November. The lot consists of the following race horses: Bob Speed, Parapet, Portugal, Afternoon, and her full sister, Two O'Clock, and twenty-three 2-year-olds in training. Capt. Brown is the owner of the large combination stock farm near La Grange of which Troubadour is the star.

Jake Schaefer Plays Well.

Jake Schaefer commenced his practice for his games with Ives last night at 77 Clark street. Spinks was his opponent. The wizard was in fine form and Spinks also played remarkably well. The score:

Last Tuesday a Westchester, N. Y., grocery man attached Domino, Hyderabad, Hornpipe, and St. Leonards because his $54 account was not paid by the Keenes.

Palo Jim, Starter Caldwell's assistant, whipped Jockey Ransom at the post last Wednesday at Guttenberg. After the race Ransom stabbed Jim several times in the face.

Roberts and De Oro have at last agreed on a pool match to begin Monday, Oct. 16, at New York. The experts play 1,200 points, in blocks of 200 points a night for six nights.

The Midwinter Indoor Baseball League held a meeting yesterday in the First National Bank Building. B. L. Moulton was chosen President and C. L. Reed Secretary and Treasurer. The Prairie club was elected to membership to succeed the Kenwoods.

Sure enough Chris Smith has engaged Lew Marion of the Bedford Stable to train his horses. John Huffman, however, holds and will not give them up until a settlement is effected. Huffman is to have Yo El Rey and perhaps the yearling brother to Yo Tambien to train.

C. P. Wheelwright of Cincinnati, the man who could not collect the bets of Kinscem he won from Joe Ullman at Hawthorne because Joe suspected that he had been the victim of a "flash" signal after the race was run, has been quarreling over the spoils with his confederates at Cincinnati and the papers there declare that Wheelwright worked the game Ullman suspected. The tickets were paid.

The City League exhibition games for Sunday are: South Side, Crystals and West Ends; North Side, Whitings and Lake Views. Young Donnelly of the Chicago club will pitch for the Lake Views, while Willie McGill, Anson's star twirler, will pitch five innings for the Whitings. The Rivals and Brands will play the deciding game of their series for the City League pennant at the West Side National League Park.

DUNMOW FOR DOBBINS

BOSS CROKER'S GREAT COLT WINS THE STAKE WITH EASE.

Mike Dwyer Plunges on His Friend's Colt, Stonenell, and Raceland, and Thus Had a Good Day—Lizetta Defeats Wah Jim and Roy Lochiel—"Old Bones" Hard Driven to Win His Race—Beansey Beats Little Billy, and Kentigerna Wins the 2-Year-Old Sweepstakes.

New York, Oct. 5.—[Special.]—If Dobbins had been beaten in the rich Dunmow Stakes at Morris Park today there might have been some feature to the racing, but as he won there was really no surprise during the afternoon. Dobbins was, of course, a tremendous favorite for the event in which he started, closing at 2 to 5 after "Mike" Dwyer had sent a lot of money into the ring. Richard Croker, the colt's owner, was at the Democratic convention at Saratoga. They all ran in a close bunch for the first three furlongs, with Rubicon, Prig, and Rama showing most prominent. This brought them to the dip, where Simms cut loose with Dobbins, and he soon had the result safe, but seeing Assignee and Ben Lomond still holding their ground he continued to persevere to the end, where it was Dobbins first, Assignee second, and Ben Lomond third.

The Consolation Stakes, a sprint of seven furlongs for all ages, also helped to put a golden lining to "Mike" Dwyer's purse, as he bet heavily on Stonenell, sending him to the post a redhot favorite at 1 to 2. Tulla Blackburn and Roller, the only other starters, were practically friendless. Tulla Blackburn shot away at the start to make every post a winning one. She succeeded in doing it for half a mile, then died away, leaving Stonenell to go on and win as he pleased. Roller was second.

Lizetta Defeats Wah Jim.

The welterweight handicap at five furlongs looked to be a real good thing for Wah Jim. He closed favorite at 3 to 5. Lizetta was the first to show and she was soon clear of the bunch, with Roy Lochiel and Tormentor her nearest attendants. The favorite got away well but the others seemed to outrun him and he never got near enough to be dangerous. Lizetta won easily, with Roy Lochiel a head in front of Tormentor.

"Mike" Dwyer made a great plunge on Raceland in the handicap at a mile and a furlong, backing him down to 2 to 5. He won, but hardly in the way expecting by his admirers, as Simms was hard at him with both hands and heels before half the journey had been covered.

McCafferty & Wishard's Little Billy was a strong favorite at even money for the mile selling race, but the best he could do was to run second to Beansey, whom some of the talent backed quite freely at 11 to 5.

Kentigerna was a strong favorite for the five furlong sweepstakes for 2-year olds, and she rewarded the talent by winning, with Trinculo second and Frog Dance third.

ROBERT J. BEATS FLYING JIB.

The Californian Champion Was Outfooted and Lost in Three Straight Heats.

Evansville, Ind., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—For the first time since the circuit meeting began here there was a profitable patronage. The card was the most attractive of the week. It contained six classes besides some specials, and an early start was made.

The 4-year-olds came first. Trevillian won two of the three heats trotted yesterday. The big colt from Lexington was better than ever today, and a mile in 2:16½ was only good exercise for him.

Then the 2-year-old trotters followed, beginning with a sensation when Director's Flower, booked at 3 to 1 over the field, was distanced in the first heat. She went away lapped on Cutglass, but made a break before getting to the half. She had thrown a shoe, but recovered quickly, only to get more tangled than ever. She failed to beat the flag after running from the third quarter. Baron Dillon shared the same fate, while Cutglass, with only Norvin G. to defeat, did this as she pleased in 2:20¼. This reduced the filly's mark made at Providence two weeks ago, and another heat in 2:30 gave her an easy victory.

The 2:15 trot was conceded to Pixley and she had no trouble after letting Greenlander get a heat in slow time. Wardwell should have had the decision, as he finished in front, making a jump or two when near the wire, for which he was set back.

The greatest interest was in the free-for-all pace, as the old rivals of 1892, Flying Jib and Robert J., were to meet for the first time this season. The betting was $100 to $70 in favor of Flying Jib, but the speedy little crack from Buffalo beat in straight heats. The Californian was not at his best, getting off his feet in the scoring, and going to pieces before he was around the turn in the first heat. Geers slowed up and let Flying Jib get to Robert J.'s wheel coming home, and then outfooted the big gelding in 2:13. The second heat was closer, as the two went lapped from the first quarter, but Robert J. was not headed, going to the half in 1:04¼, and, under a drive, finished in 2:06¾, a reduction of three seconds in his record. Flying Jib fell back from the distance and was a length behind at the wire. Just after they were sent off in the third heat Robert J. lost his stride and Jib opened a gap of ten lengths. The stout grandson of Harold overhauled him rapidly from the half, and when he made his challenge in the last furlong Flying Jib could not respond except by a tired break, which gave the other gelding the victory in 2:08½.

It required six heats to develop the winner in the 2:23 trot. The favorite, Gypsy Queen, was unable to get one of them. Harry Wade should have won, but he was pumped in every mile, and May Morgan outlasted the other three heat winners.

The 2:15 pace was not reached, and after the regular events were over Hal Pointer was brought out for an exhibition. He was in no shape to go fast, and, with a bad break on the homestretch, finished in 2:21. Nancy Hanks has not been moving well, and Doble has sent instructions not to start her this week. Hadley Jr. Pulled at Baltimore.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—The crowd was slim, the weather uncertain, and the track only in fair condition at Pimlico today. The events were those set for yesterday but postponed on account of rain. The 2:55 trot was a gift to Daylight, who won in the fourth heat after dropping the first to Overholt, who was a favorite. The 2:20 pace was postponed at the end of the fifth heat. Cook, who rode behind Hadley Jr., was taken out at the end of the third heat and Frank Barnes put in his place. The judges were of the opinion that Cook pulled the horse. W. Andrews of Buffalo charged that he had been asked to drive and pull him. The summary:

2:35 class, trotting, purse $1,000:

INTERNATIONAL COURSING RACES.

English Dogs Are Out of the Events Owing to Sore Feet.

Huron, S. D., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—The crowd attending the international coursing meeting in progress here is the largest that ever assembled on a similar occasion on American soil in spite of drizzling rain in the early morning.

In the contest for the Columbian Cup and $2,000 these dogs are winners of today's coursing and will decide the contest in four races tomorrow morning: Dr. Van Hummel of Indianapolis, Nancy; F. C. Coyne of Huron, Willis H. and Laplander; and H. C. Lowe of Lawrence, Kas., Prince Charley. Upon the result of this contest depends the ownership of stakes aggregating nearly $6,000.

English dogs are out of this contest and but few will again be put in the field, as most of them are suffering with sore feet. Their owners admit the superiority of American greyhounds in coursing matches on the open prairie.

The contest for the Columbian plate and the purse of $1,000 will take place tomorrow afternoon between J. Herbert Watson of Brooklyn, Royal Crest and Dry Time; Nelson of New York, Greenshine; Van Hummel of Indianapolis, Viola and Vanspeten; Allen & Rew of Mitchell, S. D., Dellsarte; M. P. Whiting of Minneapolis, Touchwood III.; and H. C. Lowe of Lawrence, Kas., Princess May.

ZIMMERMAN RIDES OVER BANKER.

A Big Crowd Witnesses Fair Racing at Freehold.

Freehold, N. J., Oct. 5—The first meet of the Freehold cyclers was attended by 4,000 people here today. Among the riders were Zimmerman, Hoyland, and George Smith, Grosch, and others.

Zimmerman beat Banker 100 yards in the one-half mile open race. W. A. Hankinson Jr. of the Freehold Cyclers showed good speed in the two mile race, open to Monmouth County only. The best race was the two mile handicap, with Zimmerman scratch. Banker tried hard to win, but was distanced by twenty yards on the homestretch by an excellent spurt.

In the novice race Rappleyea rode a wheel geared on both wheels, the front being worked by his hands.

The summary follows:

Mile, novice—George Rappleyea won, V. Cloke second. Time, 2:43 4-5.

Half mile, open—A. A. Zimmerman won, George A. Banker second, E. C. Bald third. Time, 1:17 1-5.

One mile tandem—E. L. Blauvelt and Fred Boyce won. Time, 2:20.

One mile, 3:00 class—Harry L. Maddox won, Fred Shafto second. Time, 2:45½.

Mile, open—Banker won, Bald second, Blauvelt third. Time, 2:35.

Two mile 5:20 class—Bald won, G. C. Smith, second; Royce, third. Time, 5:23 4-5.

One mile handicap—Banker (80 yards) won, Raymond MacDonald (100 yards), second; Paul Grosch (70 yards), third. Time, 2:19 2-5.

Two mile, open for Monmouth County only—Maddox won, W. A. Hankinson Jr., second. Time, 5:53.

Tyler's Standing Start Mile in 2:01 3-5.

Springfield, Mass., Oct. 5.—Harry C. Tyler lowered the world's record for a mile, standing start, at Hampden Park this afternoon, making it in 2:01 3-5, which is 3 4-5 seconds faster than Windle's record made on the same track Oct. 8, 1892. The quarters were :32, 1:02, 1:30 3-5, 2:01 3-5. This also breaks the three-fourths-mile record. Tyler was paced by W. W. Windle, E. A. Nelson, E. A. McDuffe, and James Clark, the two latter on a tandem. After this trial McDuffe and Clark reduced the tandem record, flying start, from 2:05 3-5 to 2:01 1-5, Olmstead, Measure, and Broadhead, on a triplet, and Harry Arnold set the pace. E. A. Nelson followed, making a mile, flying start, in 2:01 2-5.

Australians and New Yorks Draw.

New York, Oct. 5.—In the Australia-All New York cricket game today the Australians ended their inning with 255 runs to their credit. Trumble carried his bat for a score of 59 and was cheered heartily when he came to the clubhouse. With two hours to play the home team had to make 113 runs in order to save a single inning defeat. The first batsmen for the All New Yorks were A. Durant and H. Coyne, in the second inning, with McLeod and Giffen as the Australian bowlers. Durant was the dangerous man and he made the whole nine runs before he was bowled by McLeod. Score, 9 runs for one wicket. Hurdich took his place, but this ended his career, as he was well taken at short leg by Gregory off Giffen. After a series of excellent playing the match ended in a draw greatly in favor of the Australians.

Games Scheduled for the Yale Eleven.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—Following are the games scheduled for the Yale football team to date: Oct. 7, Crescent A. C., Brooklyn; Oct. 14, Dartmouth, New Haven; Oct. 18, Amherst, New Haven; Oct. 21, Orange A. C., Orange; Oct. 25, Williams, New Haven; Oct. 28, West Point, West Point; Nov. 1, Tufts, New Haven; Nov. 7, New York A. C., New York.

Carletons, 10; Ashlands, 7.

In the World's Fair Stock Pavilion last night the Carleton and Ashland clubs played an exceedingly interesting game of indoor baseball. The Ashlands won. The score at the end of the ninth inning was 10 to 7 in their favor. Brilliant plays were numerous during the evening. The battery work of Jantzen and Newsome of the Carletons and Hancock and Dart of the Ashlands was fine. Jantzen's batting was good. He secured two home runs. The score:

Carleton	0	0	0	4	3	1	0	1	1	—10

Cleveland Beats the Cincinnatis.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 5.—The weather was perfect today and 800 persons saw the fourth game of the series between Cincinnati and Cleveland. Cleveland won easily. The score:

Cincinnati	4	0	0	0	0	2	0	0	0	—6

Batteries—Clarkson and Zimmer; Mullane and Vaughn. Base hits—Cleveland, 7; Cincinnati, 8. Errors—Cleveland, 2; Cincinnati, 9. Umpire—Googan.

Hard-ware, and a good deal of it, comes to the clothes that are washed without Pearline. It's spelled differently, but it gets there just the same. Not with Pearline, though. The rub, rub, rub that makes all the hard wear and the hard work is left out. Pearline washes without it. Practically, it washes without you, and without any of the troubles, drawbacks and losses that you want to avoid. But you can always depend upon three things that Pearline washes with. These are ease, safety and profit.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, if your grocer sends you an imitation, be honest—send it back. 326 JAMES PYLE, New York.

"Worth Its Weight in Gold!"

AUGUSTA, GA.
Dr. Radway: I have tried all the various kinds of remedies that they have on the market without effect, when finally I grew worse, and a friend advised me to try your Ready Relief. I did so, applying to my ankle and knee, and, to my surprise, was able to resume my duties next morning. My trouble was rheumatism of long standing. I shall never be without R. R. R. for its weight in gold. My mother was cured by R. R. R. in two hours of rheumatism in her shoulder.

BEST LINE TO KANSAS CITY

Sanitary District of Chicago.

TO CONTRACTORS.

Sealed proposals addressed to the Board of Trustees of the Sanitary District of Chicago and indorsed:

"Proposal for excavating a portion of the main drainage channel," will be received by the Clerk of the said Sanitary District at Room H, Rialto Building, Chicago, Ill., until 12 m. (standard time) of Wednesday, the 29th day of November, 1893, and will be publicly opened by the said Board of Trustees at the regular meeting held that day, or at a special meeting called for that purpose.

The work for which the said tenders are invited is the excavation of that portion of the main drainage channel for the said Sanitary District between the east line of Range No. 12, east of 3d P. M., and Corwith, Ill., known as contract sections G, H, I, K, L, and M, and consists in all of about 6,534,000 cubic yards of earth.

Each of said sections will be treated as a separate contract in canvassing the proposals and making awards. As all awards will be made by individual sections each bidder must make prices for each section separate and distinct from every other.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check or cash to an amount equal to $5,000 multiplied by the number of sections bid upon.

All certified checks must be drawn on some responsible bank doing business in the City of Chicago, and be made payable to the order of the clerk of the Sanitary District of Chicago. Said amount of $5,000 for each section will be held by the Sanitary District until all of said proposals have been canvassed and contracts awarded and signed, the return of said check or cash being conditioned upon any bidder, to whom an award of any portion of said work may be made, appearing within ten days after notice of such award being given, with bondsmen, and executing a contract with the Sanitary District for the section or sections of said work so awarded and giving a bond satisfactory to the said Board of Trustees for the fulfillment of the same in the amount of $75,000 for each section of the work awarded him.

All proposals must be made upon blank forms furnished by the Sanitary District, and must give the price for each separate item of work.

The bids will be compared on the basis of the Engineer's approximate estimate of quantities, which will be furnished with copies of the specifications.

No proposal will be considered unless the party making it shall furnish evidence satisfactory to the Board of Trustees of his ability to do the work, and that he has the necessary pecuniary resources to fulfill the conditions of the contract, provided such contract shall be awarded him.

Specifications and plans may be seen at the office of the Chief Engineer, Rialto building, Chicago, Ill.

The said Board of Trustees reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

MEN IN GORGEOUS RAIMENT IN CHICAGO-DAY PARADE OF FLOATS.

Twenty-seven Mammoth Representations Will Be in Line—Probability That the Kansas City Contribution May Not Be Had—Sale of Tickets in Twenty-four Hours Is 15,000, One Unknown Man Buying 600 in a Lump—Retail Clerks Want the Whole Day for a Holiday.

The Council committee is congratulating itself that all the preliminary work for Chicago day has been cleared up. The designs for all the floats except those of the Norwegians are in the hands of the builders, the cast of characters for each of the floats has been settled upon, the route of the parade has been definitely settled, and the vast work of organizing and rehearsing is almost finished. All those who will take part in the afternoon exercises next Monday are requested to assemble at Fifty-sixth street and East End avenue promptly at 1 p. m. Those who are to take part in the night pageant must be at the same place at 5 p. m.

A new feature of the parade was announced yesterday. Each float will be preceded by a herald in gorgeous medieval costume carrying a banner on which will be the name of the float. David Henderson will furnish the costumes and the persons who will wear them. On either side of the float will be an attendant carrying a torch, which will constantly change colors. Altogether there will be twenty-seven floats in line if none come from Kansas City, and it is now doubtful if transportation can be had which will get them here in time. The trouble is due to the immense size of the floats and the difficulty of handling them.

Sales of the Day Are 15,000.

The sale of souvenir tickets still increases, and yesterday the office at No. 100 Washington street sold out its stock before 5 o'clock. The number of tickets sold during the day was over 15,000. In the afternoon a man entered and pulling out $300 in bills asked for 600 tickets. His name could not be learned. Among the larger amounts of tickets sold were the following:

600—Unknown man.
250—Chicago Brewing company.
200—Phœnix Insurance company, Hyde Park Club, Fuller & Fuller, McAvoy Brewing company, Wacker & Birk Brewing company.
175—The Hub, Cameron, Amberg & Co.
170—Blakely Printing company.
150—L. H. Prentis & Co., Jones & Stiles Packing company, The Office Toilet Supply company, Fairbanks, Morse & Co.
109—James B Clow.
100—Sackey & Peterson, Anglo-American Provision company, Morrisson, Plummer & Co.
75—Anchor Line.
70—Sharp & Smith.
60—Bates' Office Supply company, Continental National Bank, Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance company.
45—West Pullman Lumber company, Western Refrigerating company.
40—Prairie State National Bank, M. W. Powell company, Simmons Manufacturing company.
30—Cottage Grove Manufacturing company, Grear, Mills & Co., Fulton laundry, W. L. Hoffman, Vanderpoel & Co.

15—Leonard, Adkinson & Co., McGie Brothers, George H. Foster & Co.
Members of the Real Estate Board subscribed for 618 tickets.

The Grand Cloak company has purchased 1,800 tickets which it will distribute among customers.

Will Ask for the Whole Day.

At a meeting of the retail clerks held at No. 116 Fifth avenue a resolution was adopted asking all clothing and other stores to close all day Monday instead of at 12 m. It is claimed that if clerks are compelled to work until that hour they will be unable to get to the Fair in time to see part of the ceremonies. Owing to the crowded condition of all traffic lines it will take considerable time to reach the grounds, thus depriving them of a good share of the proceedings.

Excursion trains from all directions are beginning to reach the city already, heavily laden with passengers who are coming thus early for the "Chicago day" demonstration. On the Erie three trains came in last night, one from Columbus, O., with 720 passengers, another from points in Ohio and Pennsylvania with 1,200, and a third from Western New York with 800 passengers. Today the Erie will run an excursion train from New York City and Eastern New York in six sections which will carry from 300 to 350 a section. Saturday and Sunday all trains will be run in four sections each or upward. One fare will be charged for the round trip, and empty coaches will be bunched at all principal points, to be attached to trains as fast as needed.

At the Union Depot all incoming trains were packed yesterday. The Pennsylvania road brought in a train in three sections with 2,000 passengers.

"The Baltimore and Ohio road is bringing in the people rapidly," said Depot Master C. Z. Magnan of the Grand Central Passenger Station. "Of today's excursion trains on that line train No. 5 ran in two sections, carrying 1,100 people. Train No. 17 brought in 300. Train No. 7 in two sections landed 800. Train No. 9 brought 300, and the second and third sections of No. 9 will bring in 300 more. The Wisconsin Central has extra cars on all trains."

The Lake Shore ran one train in ten sections, carrying over 5,000 people. One section handled 950 passengers. The heavy trains from the far East for Chicago day are not in yet. The Wabash and Grand Trunk brought in hundreds of excursionists yesterday.

Make It a Holiday on State Street.

The following State street stores have signed an agreement to close at noon Chicago day:

Gold Medal Clothing company, John Ritter, H. Starr, E. Kosksk, Stein, M. D. Markheim, Burt Hall Shoe company, Atlantic and Pacific Tea company, Sinclair Bros., D. Simon, J. Gawosky, J. Bernstein, A. Sachs, J. C. Noot, H. Darron, Guswillig Bros., T. Livingston, H. Jackson, Madam Maurice, George Marcy, C. H. Fest, Famous Clothing company, Hubert Essers, H. Andrews, Sol Marcus & Son, A. B. Dorr & Co., S. Swartz, Strelitz Bros., John D. Bangs & Co., Diploma Furnishing company, Walker, The Hatter, Kelley Bros., J. N. Wolfstein, Harry Arnold, L. Bock, M. Born & Co., M. Griesheimer & Co., Gus Ullman & Co., B. Williamsdorf.

H. M. Marks, Fred Kauffman, W. G. Jerrenis, L. Arnheim, The American Tailors, J. L. Gatzert & Co., Nicoll, The Tailor, H. J. Franks & Co., Fass Bros., D. Ancona & Son, Rose & Co., R. Arnheim, Murphy & Fox, D. Ragensburg.

The Chicago Clearing-House Association announces that all banks will close Monday.

Prof. Tomlins of the Apollo club requests the presence of the members of the club in Washington Hall, Art Institute, at 8 p. m. today for the purpose of preparing a program for Chicago day at the Fair.

Employés of many of the large retail houses on the South Side say they will be unable to attend the Fair Chicago day owing to the fact that they get paid later in the week. The majority of the clerks and others get paid only twice a month and their funds are exhausted just before each pay day. It has been suggested by these employés that firms that pay later in the week should make an exception this time and pay tomorrow.

Acting upon the resolution passed by the retail clerks of Chicago several of the leading clothing dealers have expressed a willingness to close all day Oct. 9 providing other stores will do the same. An active canvass among the clothing stores reveals the fact that nearly all are willing to close and that all they desire is unanimity of action. It is probable this will be secured and all stores be closed.

The following candymakers have agreed to close Chicago day, and they suggest that others in the same business close also:

Confectioners' and Bakers' Supply company, W. M. Lowney company, Hayward, Windsor & Co., Apgor & Co.

Adjutant-General Orendorff yesterday wired from Springfield to the members of the Governor's staff requesting them to report to the Governor at Chicago Monday morning to participate in the parade.

The Venice Murano Glass company on the Midway Plaisance has made an offer to Prof. Putnam that Chicago day the entire force of artist glassblowers of the company will be employed in the reproduction of noted specimens of the glassware of antiquity. The company has models of these treasures secured from the museums of Europe, and proposes to give the reproductions which it will make to the Chicago Museum. They will be fac similies of the notable pieces found in Etruria, Pompeii, and Rome. "This is an unusual offer," said Prof. Putnam, "and I have lost no time in accepting it. I stood myself the other day for two hours and watched these artists reproduce a Roman vase. It was a perfect fac simile when completed by the glassblower."

KILLS ONE WOMAN, SHOOTS ANOTHER.

In a Family Quarrel W. K. Hill Fires Some Fatal Shots.

WAVERLY, O., Oct. 5.—W. K. Hill killed his mother-in-law and shot his wife yesterday. He and his wife separated recently, he going north to a farm while she returned to her parents. He retained possession of their only child, a girl, but during his absence her mother took her away. Hill returned yesterday and going to his wife's home tried to get her to live with him again. She refused and a quarrel resulted. His mother-in-law, Mrs. Samuel Blake, took part. Hill finally drew a revolver and shot her, killing her instantly, and then fired at his wife, the bullet entering her right ear. She fell fatally wounded. The murderer escaped and up to noon today was still at large.

LAKE SHIPPING NEWS.

Around the Lakes.

DETROIT, MICH., Oct. 5.—The steamer Toledo damaged the gate of Lock 25 at Welland Canal this morning. It is expected that the repairs will be completed and navigation resumed tomorrow morning.

DETROIT, MICH., Oct. 5.—The repair bill on the steamer Susan E. Peck will amount to nearly $15,000. It will require nearly an entire new keel and garboard strakes, besides a great deal of planking. Fifty-four frames will have to be replaced.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 5.—The receipts of flour today were immense. The Centurion brought 34,000 barrels, the Selwyn Eddy 31,000, and the Livingstone 23,000. These loads arrived in one, two, three order this morning. There are liners enough in to make the total flour receipts at least 125,000 barrels. Suit was begun here yesterday by owners of the burned steamer Northerner against the insurance companies, who refuse to pay on its marine policies. The trial was set for December.

KINGSTON, ONT., Oct. 5.—Although no word has come today from the steamer Colonial, which stranded on Pigeon Island Reef yesterday morning, the gale subsided during the night, and her crew are believed to be saved. The wrecking tug Petrel left for the wreck this morning with a steam pump and an elevator to pump its grain into the lake. The Captain went to Cape Vincent for further aid. The stranded steamer is owned by Moore & Barlow of Cleveland, and Capt. John Moore is on his way here. She was worth $85,000, and was insured for $50,000 in companies represented by David Vance of Milwaukee, Elphicke & Co. and George L. McCurdy and Worthington & Sill of Buffalo. Its cargo was 85,000 bushels of corn and 24,000 bushels of oats, shipped by W. P. Harvey & Co. to Ogdensburg. It is insured for $30,600 in the following companies: British and Foreign, $8,100; London Assurance, $2,500; Detroit Fire and Marine, $5,000; Michigan Fire and Marine, $5,000; Chicago, $5,000; Ætna, $5,000.

Freights and Charters.

CHICAGO—The notice that the Grand Trunk would take grain for New England at Port Huron only for a few days longer has resulted in enormous shipments of corn before the embargo goes into effect. The business was done at 1¾ cents, while the Buffalo corn rate held firm at 2 cents. Charters—To Port Huron—Arnmold, Sawyer, H. Johnson, Minnehaha, Ohio, Elfin-Mere, G. J. Boyce, corn. To Buffalo—J. Emory Owen, Nicholson, Michigan, R. M. Forbes, wheat; McLachlan, Vail, Schuck, Fairbank, Aztec, Zapotec, corn: Manchester, wheat and oats; John W. Moore, corn and oats. To Kingston—Columbia, corn at 3½ cents.

Marine Notes.

The most grain ever carried out of Chicago River by a pair of two boats was that of the whaleback steamer Pathfinder and the whaleback barge Sagamore yesterday. The Pathfinder had 98,850 bushels of corn and 22,200 bushels of wheat, while the Sagamore went a little better, having 130,381 bushels of corn. The two cargoes aggregate 7,576 tons, or as much as the shipments by rail to the seaboard by all the railroads from Chicago to the East yesterday.

The tug Welcome left Milwaukee yesterday with two steam pumps for the relief of the stranded schooner Stafford at Sheboygan. The damages to the boat are confined to the after part, where the hood has been started. The deck-load of lumber has been removed. The schooner Trowbridge has gone to Kewaunee from the place where she anchored below Two Rivers to ride out the recent southeaster. The vessel sprung a leak and could not ride out the gale at anchor, but was compelled to throw off the deck-load of wood and run into port. Vessels arriving report a large amount of high grade lumber and several thousand cedar posts adrift between Sheboygan and Fort Washington.

GAINS OF THE CHURCH

SECOND DAY OF ROCK RIVER METHODIST CONFERENCE.

Opened with a Rousing Prayer Meeting—Additional Attendance of Ministers—Reports from Various Districts Show the Church to Be in a Prosperous Condition—Need of Methodism in the South—Dr. Cranston Talks of the Book Concern and Duties of Brethren Toward It.

DIXON, Ill., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—The second day of the Rock River conference opened with a rousing prayer meeting led by Elder Hardin, the Bishop and his cabinet being present. More than a score of ministers came in on the night trains and appeared at roll call. Dr. John Williamson reported that over 700 had united with the churches where he had labored the last year. Dr. Earl Cranston, Cincinnati; J. C. Hartzell and Dr. Beiler, Washington; Elder Creighton, Milwaukee; Brother McLane, O. P. Shaw, W. A. Spencer, Lewis Curts, and others were introduced.

Elder G. R. Van Horne's report of the work in Dixon District showed the average pastors' salaries were $950, thirty-six charges, twenty-seven parsonages, and many improvements. Dixon reports a new church and parsonage worth $35,000, in which the conference is being held. Elder M. E. Cady reported the Joliet District prosperous despite the stringency which has affected Joliet City. Some of the charges had suffered heavily by removals and the incoming of a foreign population. At La Salle the last Protestant teacher had been displaced from the public schools. At Spring Valley the teachers in the parochial schools and the janitor received a part of their pay from the public funds. The elder reports church debts paid, one new church built, a grand camp-meeting held, resulting in many accessions, and the Epworth Leagues very prosperous. Three ministers have married. Four deaths have occurred. The elder believes cream and strawberry festival financiering is passing away and legitimate church collections taking their places.

Bishop Joyce introduced Samuel L. Beiler, who represents, as agent, the American University at Washington. Prosperity is the steady report. Sixty thousand dollars has been raised to build Asbury Hall, and $1,000,000 will certainly be in sight before January, 1894.

Methodist Book Concern.

Dr. Cranston addressed the conference in the interests of the book concern, showing the necessity of the brethren taking hold and spreading the books and papers published by the great house; if they expected dividends they must meet their individual obligations to the house.

The Rev. J. C. Hartzell was called to represent the M. E. Church in the South. He said the question of why this church should be working in the South should cease. It was there to stay and help the freedmen as no other church has ever done or can do; $3,000,000 had been spent on buildings and the schools and churches were prospering. The work must be carried on both among the colored and white population. In one section there are over 2,000,000 of white people who have been degraded and sunken in ignorance but are now rising because of the schools planted by this society. The Southern States must have the influence of good education, for negroes as well as whites may be men. Even Bishop Joyce had been soundly abused by the Southern press because he had been entertained at colored Methodist ministers' houses while attending to his episcopal duties.

Elder H. G. Jackson reported the North Chicago district. All the ministers had been at their posts and attended faithfully to their duties. Two deaths had occurred. Dr. W. S. Studley and S. M. Dairs, and several times death entered the homes of the ministers and carried off their brightest jewels. The spiritual work of the district had been satisfactory. Revivals and two good camp-meetings had helped wonderfully. At Garfield Park $20,000 had been raised towards a new church, which has a completed basement, a growing congregation, and a Sunday-school of 400 scholars. Churches had been dedicated at Lake Villa, Hermosa, and Elsmere. At Wheaton a lot had been purchased and $20,000 raised towards a new church. The benevolent collections would fall but little short of last year.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society has shown commendable activity in collections and heroic zeal. The Home Missionary Society had good success despite hard times. Wesley Hospital received a bequest of $5,000 from Mrs. M. A. Packard, and also from her the family residence given to the Superannuates' Relief Society, worth $14,000. Within this district is the Northwestern University, the best endowed school in all Methodism. On the same campus is the Garrett Biblical Institute, which has had a prosperous year, and which has just welcomed back its President, Dr. Ridgeway, from his trip around the globe.

The missionary sermon was preached at 2:30 o'clock by the Rev. W. O. Sheppard.

The Rev. W. A. Spencer, D. D., of Philadelphia was the principal speaker this evening at the anniversary of the Church Extension Society, of which he is chief Secretary.

Income Taxation Convention.

TOPEKA, Kas., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—A meeting of the friends of Lieut.-Gov. Daniels' graduated State tax scheme was held here today and a call issued was for a convention to be held in Topeka on Nov. 15. All who believe that millionaires should bear nearly, if not quite all, the burdens of taxation are invited to participate.

Black Weevil Is Abroad.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—The dreaded black weevil is being distributed in this city through a lot of rice sold by a North Side grocery. The specimens were shown to members of the Chamber of Commerce this morning and every person who had seen the weevil said the insects were undoubtedly of the dreaded family.

CONVERT THE WORLD.

COMMITTEE TO ARRANGE FOR A GRAND MISSIONARY MEETING.

Plans for Evangelizing Humanity Along the Policy of "Christ and Brotherly Love" the Probable Outcome—Thomas Kane Tells How to Give for Missions and Dr. Griffis Outlines the Citizen Rights of Missionaries—Missionary Congress Ends—Papers on Patents.

Today's Program—10 a. m.—Congress of Patents and Trade-Marks, Hall 7. "Needed Changes in Patent Laws," James Buchanan, ex-member of Congress, N. J.; "The Necessity for Conservatism in the Administration of Patent Law," Prof. William C. Robinson, Yale University; "The Legal Protection of Patented Property," John L. Boone, Cal.; "Influence of Electrical Inventions," Thomas D. Lockwood, Massachusetts. 2 p. m.—"Trade-Mark Law in Its International Aspects," William Henry Brown, Washington, D. C.; "The Wheel an Index of Civilization," Prof. J. Elforth Watkins, Washington, D. C.; "Unlawful Competition," Carl Pieper, Germany; "One Woman's Experience," Mrs. B. Franklin Ceston, Washington, D. C.; "Reforms in Our Patent System," Thomas Ewing Jr., New York.

10 a. m.—Young Men's Christian Association Congress, Halls III. and IV.; introductory address by President Charles C. Bonney; devotional exercises; "Association Work in American Colleges," President John H. Coulter, Lake Forest University; "The Physical Department of Association Work," a paper by Luther Gulick, M. D., Springfield, Mass., to be read by A. A. Stagg, University of Chicago; "The Educational Department of Association Work," E. L. Shuey, Dayton, O. 8 p. m.—"The Progress and Development of the Young Men's Christian Association," Cephas Brainerd, New York; "Greeting from Associations in Great Britain," Lord Kinnaird, London; "Greetings from Associations in France," M. Jules Siegfried, Paris; "Association Work on American Railroads," C. M. Hobbs, Denver, Colo.

The United Congress of Missions brought its session to a close last evening. The entire session has been marked by brilliant and scholarly papers ably presented to large audiences, of whose earnestness in the mission work there could be no mistaking. Missionaries of many and diverse denominations have appeared each day and the differences in creed have been buried in the accomplishment of the congress' purpose—the spreading of Christianity and the uplifting of mankind. Many missionaries spoke strongly in denouncing the attempts to spread sectarianism among people who did not understand the first principles of the Christian faith. They urged that all denominations continue to send abroad missionaries, but let the watchword of each and every one be: "Christ and Brotherly Love."

A paper was presented yesterday morning by Thomas Kane of Chicago, in which a scheme was worked out whereby every person could give to missions a yearly sum proportionate to his income; also a table for proportionate giving by the church to the various home and foreign missions.

Citizen Rights of Missionaries.

The Rev. Dr. W. Elliott Griffis of Boston contributed a paper on "The Citizen Rights of Missionaries," which was read by the Rev. Dr. E. M. Wherry, Secretary of the congress. The paper opened with quotations from Edward Everett at the time he was Secretary of State and from James G. Blaine, both of whom in effect said all American missionaries in foreign lands were entitled to the protection of the United States Government without discrimination. The paper continued, saying:

When a missionary's life or property is endangered the government is as fully bound to protect him as in the case of the merchant or traveler, and, in the case of loss or destruction of property, to seek to obtain redress. As the government knows not nor inquires into the religion of its citizens, so it knows not nor inquires into his opinions regarding Christianity. The government knows only citizens, not traders or missionaries. If American missionaries are imprisoned and their property confiscated, and little or no notice taken of it at Washington, when a whole squadron was sent to Naples to collect money for Baltimore insurance companies, then something is wrong, and the policy of the United States Government has fallen away from a high standard. [Applause.] If a war be begun with Corea and 400 natives are slaughtered by Dahlgren howitzers and Bridgeport rifles because certain American marauders in the schooner Gen. Sherman have been attacked, while the Turks are allowed to burn mission premises and assault American women, then we cannot help thinking there is either inconsistency or weakness at Washington. Does the government say it can make absolutely no discrimination between its citizens abroad? Then let us have interpretations and manifestations showing that it makes no discriminations between the great countries like Spain and the Ottoman Empire and little ones like Naples and Corea, and that its pleasure is equal, whether in acting as the dun or as the protector.

Thomas Kane said, in the course of his paper:

It is a scientific principle that all missionary work should be carried on on the same basis adopted by other undertakings where there is a division of labor and where much of the work has to be done by proxy. Thus the man who devotes himself to earning money and conscientiously gives a certain proportion of it for mission work is just as much a missionary as the man who gives his life to carrying the gospel to heathen lands. Proportionate giving—or, a much better term, proportionate payment from an income—as a practical recognition of our stewardship is the only practical recognition we laymen can give. If we adopt it as a rule of life, you can assure us that we are practical partners with you in your life work, you doing our preaching and teaching for us, and we doing our share towards your support. You can assure us that we just as surely help to build churches in destitute places, if, in this way, we help to pay for the building, as if we personally laid the bricks and drove the nails. You can also assure us that, if we do this, we can have and do have a personal interest in the salvation of every soul brought to Christ through the efforts of missionaries in every land where we contribute to their support.

Peter Sinclair of Scotland followed with an address on the same subject illustrated by a large chart. He said the wealth of the evangelical churches of the United States at the present time was $13,000,000,000 and the wealth of the country was increasing at the rate of $2,500,000,000 a year, yet the subscriptions to missions was steadily falling off in comparison with this enormous increase of wealth. He showed by his chart how systematic giving could be carried out and a proportionate amount appropriated for each object within the scope of church and missionary effort. A brief address from Pastor Charles Faithful of Spain followed.

The committee to which was referred the resolution of Secretary Wherry providing for a committee to arrange an international missionary conference between the representatives of all the evangelical churches, looking to the evangelization of the world, announced the following committee:

Dr. John Henry Barrows of Chicago, Presbyterian; Dr. James B. Angell of Michigan, Congregational; Archdeacon McKay-Smith of Washington, Protestant Episcopal; Bishop Cheney of Chicago, Reformed Episcopal; Dr. Townsend of Boston, Methodist Episcopal; Dr. A. J. Gordon of Boston, Baptist; Dr. John Brown of Bedford, Eng., Independent; Dr. Oswald of Chicago, Evangelical Lutheran; the Rev. J. Summerville of Lewisburg, Pa., Christian; the Rev. David Burrill of New York, Reformed Church of America.

Chairman Barrows introduced Prince Momolu Massaquoi, who spoke briefly on the work of the missionaries in his own country. Mrs. Brierly, the Christian missionary who converted the Prince, also made a few remarks. The Rev. J. T. Gracey, President of the Missionary Union, Rochester, N. Y., read a paper on "Native Agencies, the Chief Hope of National Evangelization." He strongly advocated the organization of schools in foreign lands, in which the native converts will be schooled, after which they shall go out and act as missionaries. He said the American missionary was the only interpreter of the West to the East, and that more work was done by native Christians than by the missionaries themselves. In India alone there were enough native Christians to evangelize the entire empire. He prophesied that some day out of the ranks of the native missionaries there will rise a man who will topple over the governments of the East and will demolish forever the old pagan religions and put up in their place Christianity.

The Rev. Arthur T. Pierson, late pastor of the Metropolitan Tabernacle, London, spoke on "Thy Kingdom Come." He inveighed against any tendency towards the union of Church and State and deplored anything that would bring the sublimity of the church into contact with such an institution. His paper was a labored one, written in polysyllables, and did not find much favor with the audience. After singing the doxology the meeting adjourned.

The closing session last evening was devoted principally to an address by Dwight L. Moody upon "The Power of the Spirit."

HOKE SMITH TO SPEAK TOMORROW.

He Is to Address the Congress on Patents and Trade Marks—Papers Read.

Many persons attended yesterday morning's session of the Congress on Patents and Trade Marks expecting to hear a paper of Secretary of the Interior Hoke Smith. He did not appear. A telegram from him said he had been unavoidably detained but hoped to be able to address the congress Saturday. Benjamin Butterworth was also on the program to speak, but failed to appear. Many able papers were read at both sessions, and the audience was much larger than on previous days.

Carroll D. Wright, Commissioner of Labor Statistics at Washington, read a paper on the effect of inventive genius on labor. He said in substance:

To arrive at just conclusions we should study the division of labor and the diversity of employment which arises from the use of mechanical appliances. The influence of machinery on wages, the diffusion of knowledge of modern methods, the better application of art which goes with improved conditions, the influence of inventions in raising low grades of labor to the places occupied by educated labor, the constant promotion of luxuries to the grade of necessities of life—all these should be considered in the reckoning. In the manufacture of agricultural implements new machinery has displaced fully 50 per cent of the muscular labor formerly employed. In the manufacture of shoes also it would require 500 men, working by the methods in vogue a hundred years ago, to make as many shoes in a day as 100 men provided with improved machinery can make today. In the manufacture of cotton cloth muscular labor has been reduced over 50 per cent. But there is cumulative evidence that expansion of labor through inventions has been equal or superior to any displacement that has taken place; that in those countries given to the development and use of machinery there is found the greatest proportion of employed persons, and that in those countries where machinery has been developed to little or no purpose poverty reigns, ignorance is the prevailing condition, and civilization consequently far in the rear. Yet, if the question be asked: "Has the wage earner received his just and equitable share of the economic benefits derived from the introduction of machinery?" the answer must be "No." I mean by his relative share, compared with that going to capital. In the struggle for supremacy in the great countries devoted to mechanical productions, it probably has been impossible for him to share equitably in such benefits. Notwithstanding this, his share has been enormous, and the gain to him such as to change his whole relation to society and the State.

A paper upon "Invention, Unconscious and Mental," was contributed by Benton J. Hall, ex-Commissioner of Patents. He traced an organized inventive force at work in every atom of the universe, and in every thought and purpose of mankind, showing that there was unconscious as well as mental and physical invention.

Benjamin F. Lee of New York gave a treatise upon "What Constitutes a Patentable Subject Matter." He went into detail upon the great variety of divers opinions rendered by the Judges of the United States Circuit and Supreme Courts in regard to the various conditions which must be contained in an article to justify the issuing of a patent.

He said there had been a marked departure by the Supreme Court of the United States from the law laid down by Storey, as to what constituted novelty in invention. The trend of the argument was to the effect that the current decisions of the highest Federal tribunals were more hostile to inventors than the attitude assumed by the highest courts of England.

L. L. Bond, James Buchanan, Francis Forbes, J. M. Thatcher, and Dr. Gatling were appointed a committee to formulate the views of the congress and report some scheme looking to the establishment of Federal and International laws for the protection of inventors.

John S. Seymour, United States Commissioner of Patents, delivered an address on the "Future Development of Our Patent System." He said the Patent Office is more than the repository of inventions or a mint where incorporeal values are assayed and stamped. It is a vast laboratory for ideas, in which inventors submit to trained officials their intellectual product and there work them out into merchantable forms. The reasonably effective administration of the Patent Office in this country is retarded and perplexed by the difficulties of examination and research, both in the records of invention and in the arts to which they are related, and the conditions of the healthful growth of the system must be found in overcoming these difficulties. There must be provided an auxiliary philosophical classification of all this material, based upon structure and mode of operation, in order that the office may, on the one hand, properly assist every applicant who is found to have invented or discovered an improvement to obtain his patent, and, on the other hand, in the interests of the public to prevent the issue of duplicate or otherwise invalid patents. He told of the magnitude of this work, and said he had had an interview with the Secretary of the Interior which indicated that within another year the movement for a suitable building and the necessary expense attending the project might be undertaken. He brought from the Secretary of the Interior the assurance of sympathy and coöperation in the objects of the congress.

Dr. Snyder de Wissenkerke, Director-General of Industrial Property in Holland, contributed the paper on "Industrial Property in the Netherlands." It was read by Mr. Forbes. "Article IV. of the International Convention of 1883" was the subject of a paper by Col. F. A. Seely, Examiner of the United States Patent Office, and Mrs. Mary S. Lockwood of Washington, D. C., discussed the subject of "Women in the Field of Invention."

LADY HENRY SOMERSET IS COMING.

She Sails for America on the Paris Tomorrow to Do Congress Work.

Lady Henry Somerset will sail from Southampton tomorrow on the American liner Paris, to preside over the second biennial convention of the World's Woman's Christian Temperance Union, to be held in the Art Palace Oct. 16 and 17, and to attend the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union convention which immediately follows, preaching the annual sermon for that society Oct. 22. Miss Willard will remain in England, where she is said to be slowly regaining her health. Sir Benjamin Ward Richardson, after a most careful examination, says, while Miss Willard has no organic disease, the intensely hard work of a life-time renders it important that she should take an interval of one year's rest from public speaking. He gives his assurance of her complete recovery, and says he believes she has the best ten years of her life work before her. He does not prohibit her from dictating to a stenographer during part of the day, but emphatically advises against public work of any kind. Miss Willard and Lady Henry Somerset urged Sir Benjamin to permit Miss Willard to come over to the conventions, but he forbade it on account of the stress of the voyage and the laborious work connected with the meetings. Miss Willard, it is believed, will return to America next June.

Want Ex-President Harrison to Speak.

Secretary Young of the World's Congress Auxiliary, acting for the Real Estate Association, wrote a letter yesterday to ex-President Harrison asking him to make the principal address at the Real Estate Congress Oct. 23. Macolm McNeill, Chairman of the Executive committee, William A. Giles, and several others of the committee, left last night for Indianapolis to urge ex-President Harrison to accept the invitation.

Funeral Directors Elect Officers.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 5.—The twelfth annual international convention of the Funeral Directors of America was brought to a close today. The following officers were elected: President, S. Merrit Hook of New York City; First Vice-President, Will P. Hohenschuh of Iowa; Secretary, John H. Sharer of Alliance, O.; Treasurer, Charles A. Miller of Cincinnati. St. Louis will be the next place of meeting.

That Joyful Feeling

With the exhilarating sense of renewed health and strength and internal cleanliness which follows the use of Syrup of Figs is unknown to the few who have not progressed beyond the old-time medicines and the cheap substitutes sometimes offered but never accepted by the well informed.

MANHATTAN DAY AT THE FAIR.

New York Preparing to Come and See the Most Beautiful Creations of Man.

N. Y. Post: The movement for a "Manhattan day" at the World's Fair is to be heartily commended. Of course there is not a day when many New Yorkers are not to be found on the grounds, but it is altogether proper that special efforts should be made to secure a large attendance on some particular occasion. The 21st of October has been selected as the time, and the management has been put in the hands of men who are accustomed to success in their enterprises. The railroads have already assured their coöperation by agreeing to carry passengers from New York to Chicago and return from Oct. 18 to 24 for only $15.

It is peculiarly fitting that New York City should have a special day at the Fair. It was the chief rival of Chicago as the site of the Exposition, and it should pay a generous tribute of admiration for the success achieved by a great popular outpouring. The highest New York authorities in art have all along been unrestrained in their praise of Chicago's wonderful achievements in Jackson Park, and the masses ought to make their indorsement as emphatic by their general observance of the appointed day.

Whether one plans to be on the grounds Manhattan day or not we cannot too strongly urge upon everybody who has not yet gone the duty of going to Chicago some time between now and the end of the month. We say duty because it is really a moral obligation that every one should enjoy this extraordinary display of beauty who can possibly spare the time and raise the money. To miss it is to miss out of one's life something that can never be replaced. There will be other World's Fairs in the future, and they will have their special features; but many people who can go to Chicago this month will never be able to attend such another exposition, and no other can possess the unique charms of this one.

The remarkable success with which a truly ideal conception has been worked out on Jackson Park grows upon every observer day by day, and has impressed the country more and more each month since the opening. It is difficult to avoid language which seems extravagant in describing it, and the highest encomium which it receives is the fact that people who have read the warmest praise of its features find that they are not disappointed when they view the scene. We do not believe that the modern world has produced a great spectacle which so fully satisfied the highest anticipations of beholders.

Every student of democracy should observe for himself this object-lesson in democracy, viewed both in its aspect of the daily crowd and in its embodiment in architectural form. It is a wonderful sight, that of about 200,000 human beings, mainly the "plain people," as Lincoln used to call them, and well worthy of careful study. The spectator cannot fail to be impressed with their orderliness and temperance, a case of drunkenness or breach of the peace being so rare that few persons who stay a week ever see one. For the most part they are people who have made sacrifices to take this outing, and they are eager to see and to profit by what they see.

That they should be able to see such a spectacle is the wonder. That out of Chicago—a city supposed to be given over to materialism—should have come such a dream of beauty as the Court of Honor is as surprising as it is creditable. The more intelligent, cultivated, and traveled the observer, the more is he impressed with this aspect of the Fair. It revives one's faith in the capacity of democracy to achieve high results on the spiritual as well as the material side of life to make the round of Jackson Park and view from various standpoints the beauty and symmetry of the whole.

It is the duty of everybody who can possibly accomplish it to enjoy this scene. Happily it can be done, if need be, at comparatively small expenditure of either time or money. While a month could be profitably employed, and have been by a few fortunate individuals, one can get an excellent idea of the Fair in a week's time, and should not be deterred from going if he cannot have more than three or four days on the grounds. Indeed, we are quite ready to indorse the suggestion of the Century, that the journey to Chicago is well worth making if one could be in Jackson Park but a single day.

Large as the attendance has been it must be remembered that almost everyone goes several days, so that the number of separate individuals who have yet entered Jackson Park is but a very small fraction of the American people. Only four weeks remain and they ought to be improved to the full. It is the opportunity of a lifetime and nobody who can possibly get to Chicago before the 1st of November can afford to miss it.

Weather at the Fair.

The automatic instruments in operation at the Weather Bureau exhibit recorded weather conditions at the World's Fair up to 5 p. m. yesterday as follows: The minimum temperature was 51°, at 6 a. m.; maximum, 70°, at 3 p. m. The temperature was 65° at 10 a. m. and 67 at 5 p. m. The direction of the wind was southeasterly. The velocity increased during the forenoon and was between fifteen and twenty miles an hour during the afternoon. Sunshine was recorded from 6:35 a. m.

MILES OF TRACK LAID.

RAILWAY CONSTRUCTION FOR FIRST FIVE MONTHS OF 1893.

Work Done in Every State and Territory Except Six—Henry C. Payne Says Branch Lines of the Northern Pacific Will Be Placed in the Hands of Separate Receivers—Report of Inter-State Commerce Commission for the Year Ending June 30, 1892—Railway Notes.

The forthcoming number of the Railway Age will contain an elaborate article on railway construction in 1893, giving statistics of work done by the railroads in this country for the first nine months of this year. It says that in spite of bank failures, commercial insolvencies, the closing of manufactories, and unparalleled distrust and stringency in the money markets of the world, and notwithstanding the added troubles in various sections of the country from floods, pestilences, partial crop failures, etc., railway construction in the United States has continued to go on, and still the demand for steam transportation facilities is far from being satisfied. Of course, the financial panic from which the country is yet suffering has been felt very severely by railway builders and many enterprises that would have been developed under ordinary conditions of the market have been postponed, while in not a few cases work actually under way has been stopped because money was not to be had on securities involving any possible risk. The wonder is that construction did not altogether cease for the time, and yet since last July over 1,000 miles of new track have been laid, and in the first nine months of 1893 over 2,000 miles have been added. Track-laying has been done during the last nine months on a total of 182 lines, and the only States and Territories in which no work was done were Vermont, Connecticut, Delaware, Maryland, Nevada, and the Indian Territory. Pennsylvania has added 365 miles on the surprising number of forty-three lines, North Dakota 195 miles on two lines, Texas 141 miles on six lines, Missouri 140 miles on seven lines, Ohio 135 miles on five lines, Florida 103 miles on seven lines. It is estimated that the total length of new track for 1893 will be at least 3,000 miles.

WILL HAVE SEPARATE RECEIVERS.

What Will Be Done with Northern Pacific Properties Explained.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 5.—Receiver Henry C. Payne of the Northern Pacific railroad arrived home this afternoon from a week's business trip to New York. Of affairs in connection with the Northern Pacific properties Mr. Payne says:

All of the twenty-seven branch lines in the Northwest, the stock of which is held by the Northern Pacific company, will be placed in the hands of receivers except, perhaps, three or four. Those lines are the Little Falls and Dakota, Northern Pacific, Fergus and Manitoba, Duluth, Crookston and Northern Pacific, Fargo and Southwestern, Northern Pacific, La Moure and Missouri River, James River Valley, Turtle Mountain, Jamestown and Northern, Jamestown and Northern extension, Southeastern Dakota, Rocky Fork and Cooke City, Rocky Mountain of Montana, Cokedale Spur, Northern Pacific and Montana, Helena and Jefferson, Helena and Red Mountain, Spokane and Idaho, Cœur d'Alene Railway and Navigation company, Spokane and Palouse, Central Washington, Northern Pacific and Puget Sound Shore, Greene River and Northern, Northern Pacific and Cascade, Tacoma, Orting and Southeastern, United Railroads of Washington. These branch properties will be in the hands of separate receivers, except that Henry Stanton of New York will be the Eastern receiver for all of them, and additional receivers will be selected from the States through which the roads run. The receivers of the main property will have nothing to do with the branches. Mr. Stanton was one of the attorneys for the Northern Pacific receivers, but recently resigned. There are no changes in the situation on the main property, and as to the reported resignation of Mr. Odell from the General Managership of the Baltimore and Ohio to accept a position on the Northern Pacific I know nothing, and I think it a mistake.

INTER-STATE COMMISSION REPORT.

Year Ending June 30, 1892, Shows Large Increase in Mileage.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 5.—The fifth statistical report of the Inter-State Commerce Commission has just been submitted for the year ended June 30, 1892. It shows the following:

Total railway mileage, 171,563.52 miles, increase of 3,160.78 miles; railways added to class operating a mileage in excess of 1,000 miles are Philadelphia and Reading, Atlantic Coast Line Association, Union Pacific, Denver and Gulf; total number of employés, 821,415, an increase of 37,130; capitalization of 162,397.30 miles covered by report, $10,226,748,134; total passengers carried, 560,958,211; gross earnings, $1,171,407,343; operating expenses, $780,997,996; employés killed, 2,554; employés injured, 28,267; passengers killed, 376, as against 293 in 1891; passengers injured, 3,227 in 1892, as against 2,972 in 1891.

Boycott Is Declared Off.

The boycott instituted by the Western Passenger Association against the Jacksonville Southeastern and the Sioux City and Northern railroad a short time ago will be declared off today and interchange of traffic between the Western association lines and those roads will be resumed. Both roads have conceded all the demands made of them by the Western Passenger Association. They gave written guarantee that they would hereafter maintain rates and conform to all requirements of the Western association agreement.

Railway Notes.

Contracts have recently been made for between 500 and 1,000 cars in Nebraska for exportation of last year's corn and hay crop.

Last year's corn is being exported from Nebraska to Europe. Hay is also being shipped via the gulf. Contracts have been recently made for 500 cars.

E. J. Seymour has been appointed Assistant General Freight Agent of the Chicago and Northwestern, vice C. L. Wellington, resigned. He was formerly Mr. Wellington's assistant.

The contract of Wells, Fargo & Co. with the Southern Pacific Express company will expire in about a month and a half. Half a dozen express companies are preparing bids for the contract, among them the Adams Express company. The Wells-Fargo company has for nearly half a century had the control of the business on the Pacific coast.

Commissioner Donald issued a call yesterday for a special meeting of the passenger department of the Central Traffic Association, to be held in this city Wednesday, Oct. 11. The object of the meeting is to consider applications for reduced rates for a number of events and to fix winter tourist rates for the season, also to discuss the feasibility of establishing Trans-Pacific steamship agencies.

The Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad has been giving the Western Passenger Association considerable trouble lately. Charges against it have been of frequent occurrence, and on several occasions feeling has run so high as to almost cause a rate war. All efforts to induce the road to join the association have failed, and now a boycott against it is likely to be instituted before long. A hearing of the charges against the road will be had at Chairman Caldwell's office today. General Passenger Agent Barker of the road is expected to be present and defend his company's cause.

LOUISVILLE WHISKY HOUSE SUSPENDS.

One of the Oldest in Kentucky Involved by Two Bank Failures.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 5.—Bartley, Johnson & Co., one of the oldest whisky houses in the State, suspended this morning. The cause was due to the closeness of the money market and to the recent bank suspensions, with two of which the firm did business. Creditors will meet Oct. 20, when an extension of time will be asked.

WEST CHESTER, Pa., Oct. 5.—The American Road Machine company of Kennet Square, employing 150 hands, closed its works today owing to lack of orders.

WEYMOUTH, Mass., Oct. 5.—W. H. Clapp & Co., boot and shoe manufacturers, have assigned. Liabilities, $50,000; assets, about $8,000.

WACO, Tex., Oct. 5.—Whiting, Hill, Jones & Goodloe, dry goods and clothing merchants, assigned today. The total liabilities are about $100,000, with assets of $125,000.

"CHICAGO DAY" ATTENDANCE

Prize Contest Open to All Readers of "The Chicago Tribune."

Chicago day at the World's Fair will be Monday, Oct. 9. The people of this city are determined to make this event notable in the history of the great Exposition. On the anniversary of the great fire which laid Chicago in ashes twenty-two years ago the people of this city will show themselves in force at the wonderful Fair, for the building of which they are entitled to the chief credit. The attendance will be enormous. No one, probably, can estimate it exactly, but every reader of THE TRIBUNE will have an opportunity to make a guess, and to stimulate close figuring the best guessers will be well rewarded. Here is the proposition:

THE TRIBUNE will give to the person making the best guess on the paid attendance at the World's Fair Chicago day, Monday, Oct. 9, 1893, a present of $15 in gold.

To the person making the second best guess $10 in gold will be given.

To each of the persons making the fifty next best guesses will be given a full admission ticket to the World's Columbian Exposition.

Guesses will be considered only when written on the coupon printed in THE TRIBUNE. These coupons will be printed only week days. Contestants will be allowed any number of guesses, provided each be on a coupon.

Coupons will be printed every day, except Sunday, up to and including Saturday, Oct. 7. No guesses will be considered which do not reach this office before midnight of Sunday, Oct. 8.

In considering the result prizes will be awarded only on the official report of the total paid attendance at the Fair, including both full and children's tickets.

The figures given out each night to the press are always subject to revision, so that prizes will be awarded only on the official report, after all returns are in.

Coupons which are mutilated or are in any way informal or irregular will be thrown out.

Write the number in figures, and give the name and address fully and completely. Address to "THE TRIBUNE, Chicago," and indorse the envelope "Chicago Day."

Prize Guessing Contest

—FOR—

Chicago Day, Oct. 9, 1893.

I guess that the paid attendance (official) at the World's Columbian Exposition, Chicago Day, Oct. 9, 1893, will be ______

Name ______

Town ______

Street ______

TRIM TO THIS LINE.

For the benefit of competitors the paid attendance on a few of the red-letter days at the World's Fair is given below:

May 1 (opening day)	128,965
July 4 (American day)	283,273
Aug. 24 (Illinois day)	243,951
Sept. 7 (Pennsylvania day)	208,460

The closing week of the guessing contest burdens the mails with thousands of letters, and in the volume of guesses received it promises to be one of the greatest contests on record. The letters received yesterday were sufficient to fill a number of large size mail-sacks and was an increase of about 30 per cent over the previous day. During the last week each day has noted a marked increase in the number of guessers, and as a result the clerical force engaged in receiving them in THE TRIBUNE has been doubled and is now employed both night and day. Not only does the number of letters increase but also the number of coupons in them, showing in some cases the accumulation of several weeks of successive issues, while in others will be found from forty to ninety coupons, all taken from papers printed during one week.

The coupon will appear in the issue of Saturday morning of this week for the last time, and all guesses, in order to be considered, must reach THE TRIBUNE office by midnight Sunday night.

South Chicago: Guesses will be received at THE TRIBUNE office up to midnight Sunday, Oct. 8.

HIS WHISKERS GET HIM INTO TROUBLE.

City Physician Warren Ordered to Leave Insane Court from Fear of Contagion.

Assistant City Physician Warren got into trouble yesterday when he appeared in the insane court. As soon as he appeared all the other doctors present arose and objected to his remaining. Dr Warren is the physician in charge of the pesthouse and had come direct from there to the insane court, as Dr. McGrath said, without taking precautions to prevent spreading contagion. Dr. McGrath told the court he understood that Dr. Reynolds, the Health Commissioner, had requested Dr. Warren to remove his whiskers to prevent his carrying away contagious germs, but that Dr. Warren neglected to do so. Judge Brown ordered Dr. Warren to leave the court-room immediately and not return. He considered that Dr. Warren's actions were almost criminal.

Dr. Reynolds said later that his order to Dr. Warren was given in a joke. "There is no reason," he explained, "why a doctor's beard should be removed because he is attending smallpox patients. I do not think the disease would be scattered in that way."

Dr. Warren declared that he did not go direct from the pesthouse to the insane court as alleged. "On the contrary," he said, "I went first to my home, and it was four hours before I went to the pesthouse. I always use every precaution against carrying contagion."

In the routine business of the insane court Mrs. Elbina White was found insane and ordered sent to Kankakee. Mrs. White is the wife of a grocer at No. 383 North Clark street.

When the case of Henry Mann was called the witnesses who had been summoned were absent. The court ordered attachments issued for them returnable Saturday morning.

Bishop Lawrence Consecrated.

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 5.—In Trinity Church today, in the presence of the highest dignitaries of the Protestant Episcopal Church of this country and of many distinguished civic and ecclesiastical notabilities, the Rev. William Lawrence, D. D., was consecrated as seventh Bishop of Massachusetts. The Rt. Rev. John Williams, D. D., LL. D., of Connecticut, was the consecrator and Bishop Whipple of Minnesota preached the sermon.

DEMOCRATS SHOULD SUPPORT GARY.

Some of the Reasons Why—An Eastern View of the Matter.

New York Sun (Dem.): The Democratic county convention of Cook County will be held next Wednesday. The Republican ticket will have at its head the name of Judge Gary, the good Judge and good citizen who presided at the trial of the Anarchists and whom the ineffable crank, John Pardon Altgeld, elected by the Illinois Democracy for its sins Governor of Illinois, has pursued with vehement wind and fury. Gov. Altgeld's ill-judged clemency to the Anarchists and his hysterical denunciation of the officers of the law who did their duty in meting out justice to the enemies of law have done great harm to the Democracy of Illinois, and may do irretrievable harm if the Chicago Democrats make the mistake—commit the crime, we were about to say—of not nominating Judge Gary. Judge Gary is the representative of order. Every man in the United States who is not an Anarchist or a criminal should desire to have Judge Gary renominated. His candidacy is, in fact, a national interest. He stands for the supremacy of law over lawlessness. All the wild beasts and savages howl against him.

Judge Gary has been indorsed by the Bar Association, and he will be indorsed by the voters of Chicago. It would be a great misfortune to the Democrats of Illinois if the Democrats of Chicago should fail to show that, in spite of the ineffable crank, Altgeld, they believe in the reign of law and have no tenderness for the murderous ruffians whose blind and ignorant fanatical hatred of all the restraints and decencies of civilization makes them public enemies. Gov. Altgeld believes in petting these obscene birds. The Democratic party of Illinois cannot afford to lose its reputation by yielding in the slightest degree to the forces hostile to law and order.

Many subterranean intrigues, many compromises and dickers about other local nominations, many obscure arrangements in regard to the Democratic candidate for the Senator's shoes at present occupied by the sensible and practical feet of the Hon. Shelby M. Cullom, can be detected by him who has the talent for observing the springs of political action in Cook County. We expect that the Democrats of Cook County will remove far from them all these temptations of the devil. If they yield to these temptations, if they allow any personal or political bargains to keep them away from their plain duty of ranging themselves on the side of law and civilization and against the ineffable crank, Altgeld, they will degrade themselves and the Democratic party; and they will deserve to be miserably beaten.

WALL STREET WAITS ON WASHINGTON.

The Stock Market Is Entirely Featureless—Brokers All Go Yachting.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—[Special.]—Wall street went to the yacht race today and the manipulation of stock market quotations did not develop any features of interest. Prices drifted around in a market that was wholly inactive. Some passing vigor was infused into what there was of the market by a renewal of Washington rumors suggesting arrangements for compromises of silver repeal. But not much effect was shown. Nothing new has developed in the loan market. Sterling exchange quotations make unimportant variations. The only pronounced news of any consequence has to do with the railroad earnings and they are not cheerful. A canvass of commercial trade circles shows that business is almost at a standstill. Everybody seems to be waiting for something to turn up. If only action of some sort is taken at Washington something like activity may be infused into the stock market. Without that, however, the prospect for any change for better things is not encouraging.

FOR THE UNEMPLOYED

COMMISSIONER JONES HAS THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS TO SPEND.

Hundreds of Men to Be Cared For Cleaning Catch-Basins, Building Sewers, and Removing Snow When Cold Weather Comes—The Relief Committee to Make a Thorough Canvass for Funds—A Complete System of Subcommittees—Other News Gleaned from City Departments.

The Public Relief committee yesterday concluded negotiations with Commissioner of Public Works Jones that it hoped will give work to between 700 and 800 unemployed men. He has in his department fund nearly $250,000 that will soon be available.

"I have $75,000 now in the sewer fund," he said, "and I propose to use it at once. Catch basins and drains must be cleaned. This will give employment to 300 or 400 men. In addition, $175,000 will soon be available, and I am willing and ready to use it to good advantage to the city and those who have no work. It will all be used in public improvements and be applied in paving contracts. These I have ordered already, and the work will go forward at once. The money will be ready in good time and 350 men at least will be needed by the contractors who will be given work. This means work for between 700 and 800 men, and I shall see that they get it. I think this work will help out this number of men until Dec. 1. After that and when this money is expended I shall have more, and then I shall put men at work on the streets to remove snow. The committee will have my earnest coöperation.

"We have decided also to push the construction of several sewers this fall. Improvements of this sort amounting in value to $250,000 would ordinarily have been postponed until next spring, but in a consultation with Mr. Cheney, Superintendent of Sewers, we decided to go ahead with the work immediately in view of the great number of unemployed now in the city. The contractors have declared themselves ready to proceed at once. This will give work to between 400 and 500 men and will be begun as soon as the preliminary work is done."

The committee yesterday sent the following to Mayor Harrison:

To the Mayor and Citizens of Chicago: A thorough and permanent organization has now been effected of over 200 subcommittees from the various professions and lines of business for systematic charitable work for the coming winter. Each committee has on the average over five members; thus in this direction alone over 1,000 professional and business men are willing to perform a certain amount of extra labor to assist in handling one of the most urgent and serious problems that have ever been presented to the citizens of Chicago. The names of the members of the various committees will be published later in the daily papers. The prompt action of the Executive committee in temporarily furnishing work to those most destitute has quieted all disturbances, the exaggerated reports of which seriously threatened to prevent the hoped-for attendance at the World's Fair. This alone is worth many fold more than what it cost, but more important than this, we know from a thorough investigation by our committee on house visitors that great destitution and want have been relieved, and we also know that at the same time our streets and alleys have been put in better condition. The Chairman of each subcommittee has or will divide up the names of individuals or firms in his line of business and assign a certain number to each member of his committee for a personal canvass, communicating by letter with those not convenient to be called upon. A prompt and thorough canvass for funds will be made of every line of business before other very important matters are taken up. The result of the canvass will be reported at general meetings of the Finance committee and the names and amounts subscribed published in the daily papers. These weekly meetings will be held hereafter every Tuesday afternoon in the Council Chamber at 2:30 o'clock until this matter has been disposed of. It is confidently hoped that each committee will be able to raise the amount expected from it and that the $300,000 will be secured, as the needs of the work will only increase as the winter approaches. Respectfully submitted.

EXECUTIVE FINANCE COMMITTEE.

EXPLAINS APPARENT DISCREPANCIES.

Supt. Randolph Supplements the Report as to Drainage Canal Finances.

In the report of the Assistant Superintendent of Construction of the Sanitary District printed yesterday two items appeared showing the number of employés paid by the Treasurer of the board thus:

Sanitary District employés....227
Sanitary District employés....863

The total number of men engaged on the work was placed at 8,788. When questioned as to the meaning of the report Superintendent of Construction Randolph explained that the last item should have read "Men with teams, 863." He said:

The report shows 7,321 contractors' men together in sections 1, 2, and 4 in the river diversion district. The emergency force varies from day to day, but will average about 2,400. These are paid at the rate of 15 cents an hour by this board. Now, then, you must add again to this 863 men with teams, 178 of whom are in the sections named, and who are paid $4 per day each. This amount includes the time of the men and their teams. These men and teams are working for William Harley and McArthur Bros., the contractors who were unable to fill their contracts. To avoid delay consequent upon litigation the board agreed to appoint these two contractors agents of the board and allow them to continue their work, for which the board would pay them 15 per cent over the actual cost of the work. They, of course, are to supply tools and machinery, but we are to keep them in repair. I think these two contractors made a good bargain with the board, as they are certain of a fair profit without further responsibility. Their work was to be completed by Nov. 1, but they can't possibly finish up. This doesn't matter to them, but I understand the Guarantee company on their bond is getting decidedly nervous.

TO TRAIN TEACHERS FOR SCHOOLS.

New System to Be Inaugurated Next Tuesday That Promises Good Results.

A training cadet school for teachers will be put in operation next Tuesday in the Thomas Hoyne School at Cass and Illinois streets. Indications now are that the school will be started with 140 students, although Supt. Lane believes that number will be greatly increased after everything gets to running smoothly. The supervision of the work of training teachers for the city's schools will be under the direction of Mrs. Agnes M. Harding, who has taught in the public schools of the city for twenty-five years, and Miss Theresa McGuire, a graduate of the schools. Twice a week Prof. Lane and the Assistant Superintendents will give lectures. The sessions will continue from 9 o'clock to 11:30 o'clock each morning except Saturdays and Sundays and in the afternoon students will be given actual practice in teaching in the various schools. The line of study differs largely from the normal school work in that no text books will be used, and the work will be wholly practical and in the line of fitting students for teachers.

Municipal Notes.

Officials of the Fire Department will meet this evening in the house of Engine Company 13, No. 19 Dearborn street, to arrange a program for the entertainment of the California Fire Veterans. They are expected to be in the city next Sunday to remain until Oct. 15.

Railroad facilities are so taxed with passenger traffic they are refusing to carry any but perishable freight in large quantities. This has caused 1,200 tons of pipe that is to be used in the water pipe extensions to West Pullman and Humboldt Park to be sidetracked out of the city which City Engineer Artingstall says will prevent the completion of that work probably before next spring.

The Rev. J. T. James Obstreperous.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 5.—The Rev. John T. James, who got himself into notoriety by smashing liquor exhibits at the World's Fair, was brought up in the Washington Police Court this morning, charged with throwing a brick through a $300 plate-glass window and destroying about $150 of stock in the wholesale and retail liquor establishment of Charles Kraemer on Seventh street, nearly inflicting serious injury upon Kraemer's wife and child. He explained he threw the brick because he wanted to break up the rum traffic and that he did not recognize whisky as property. He was committed to the workhouse for mental examination.

Stomach out of sorts. Can be promptly Toned with Bromo-Seltzer.

FOR SALE—QUIT WHILE YOU CAN—
For over two hundred years the people of England and France have quit taking business risks as soon as they acquired sufficient property to establish a self-supporting income. Americans should be equally sagacious. The business methods of this country are undergoing such changes that the incentive to make large fortunes no longer exists. Take time by the forelock and secure an estate now. I can fit you out with one in Chicago with fine residence and income paying realty which will afford an income of $12,000 per annum. This estate was especially created after the plan adopted by foreigners and cannot very well be improved upon. Apply for particulars to SPECIAL AGENT, Room 66, No. 175 Dearborn-st.

LEGAL NOTICES AND PROPOSALS.

I HEREBY GIVE NOTICE THAT I WILL NOT be responsible for any bills contracted by my wife, Katherine R. Smoot. FRENCH SMOOT.

NOTICE OF FINAL PAYMENT—CHICAGO, Sept. 29, 1893—To the holders of the World's Columbian Exposition 6 per cent registered debenture bonds:

At the regular meeting of the Executive committee of the Board of Directors of the World's Columbian Exposition, held Sept. 27, it was ordered that the remaining thirty per cent (30 per cent) of the face value of the World's Columbian Exposition 6 per cent registered debenture bonds, issued Nov. 1, 1892, and Jan. 2, 1893, to the aggregate amount of four million four hundred and forty-four thousand five hundred dollars ($4,444,500) be paid on Oct. 9, 1893, together with the interest accrued upon said bonds up to said date, including the interest upon the various installments which have heretofore been paid upon said bonds to the dates of the payment of said installments.

In accordance with the above action a final and full payment of all indebtedness on account of said bonds for interest and principal will be made at the Illinois Trust and Savings Bank in the City of Chicago and State of Illinois on Oct. 9, 1893, interest upon said bonds to cease upon that date. The holders of the bonds will receive the amounts due thereupon at the said time and place and surrender their bonds for cancellation.

The books of transfer will be closed Oct. 5.

Very respectfully, H. O. EDMONDS, Secretary.

RECEIVER'S SALE— Public notice is hereby given that in pursuance of a decretal order made and entered of record in the Superior Court of Cook County on the 4th day of October, 1893, in cause number 150,914, wherein Emma L. S. Rice is complainant and the Rice & Whitacre Manufacturing company et al. are defendants, I will as receiver of said Rice & Whitacre Manufacturing company receive bids for the purchase of all the stock, machinery, tools, fixtures, office furniture, woodcuts, electrotypes, patterns, drawings, patents, copyright trade mark, equity in patents, copyright, and trademark, interest in leasehold and insurance policies, more particularly described in the inventory filed by receiver in said cause. That bids will be received separately for each lot, as said goods have been separated by said order of court, each lot to be sold in bulk—to wit, for all stock, being all the property set forth in schedule A of said receiver's inventory as one lot; for all machinery, tools, fixtures, office furniture, electrotypes, wood cuts, patterns, and drawings, being all the property set forth in schedules B and C of said receiver's inventory as one lot; for the equity in certain patents, trade mark, copyright, and contracts described in said inventory as assigned as collateral security for notes of company at a bank, for all company's rights under patents, copyright, interest in the insurance policies and fire insurance policies, leasehold estate, more particularly described in said order of court directing the sale, to be sold in one lot in bulk.

Said bids will be received by the receiver at 43 to 47 South Canal-st., Chicago, at any time prior to 12 o'clock noon of Oct. 12, 1893, said sales to be for cash upon approval of sale by court, all bids to be reported to court for acceptance or rejection. F. B. DYCHE, Receiver.

RECEIVER'S SALE—PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREby given that in pursuance of a decree entered September 28, 1893, by the Circuit Court of Cook County, Illinois, in the cause of The American Exchange National Bank of Chicago against Leroy Payne et al., General Number 116,862, pending in said court, the undersigned will, at 170 Michigan avenue, Chicago, Illinois, up to and including October 16, 1893, receive bids in writing for the following property, to-wit: 39 carriages, 2 tally-ho coaches, 1 drag, 8 four-wheel cabs, 19 two-wheel cabs, 2 solid-top cabs, 8 broughams, 8 Victorias, 1 T-cart, 2 park phaetons, 3 three-seat top phaetons, 1 two-seat top phaeton, 1 spider phaeton, 3 phaetons, 11 surreys, 54 buggies, 1 omnibus, 2 express wagons, 11 sleighs, 217 horses and mares, 50 livery coats, 27 sets single harness, 14 sets pole harness, 8 sets victoria harness, 2 sets four-in-hand harness, 6 sets coupe harness, 22 sets single cab harness, 39 sets carriage harness, 2 sets express harness, 1 lot blankets, 1 lot robes, 1 lot whips, boarding-house furniture and utensils, paint shop, harness shop, blacksmith shop, and tools and supplies for same, and all other personal property and tools used in connection with the Palmer House Livery Stable, formerly carried on by Leroy Payne, at 167 to 174 Michigan-av., Chicago, Ill. Terms of sale cash. The property can be seen at 167 to 174 Michigan-av., Chicago, Ill. Any bids received will be reported by the undersigned to the court for rejection or approval. SAMUEL BAKER, Receiver.

SALE OF ILLINOIS BUILDING— AT JACKSON PARK.

Public notice is hereby given that the Illinois Board of World's Fair Commissioners will, at the Illinois Building, in the Agricultural room, upon Thursday, the 28th day of December, 1893, at the hour of 12 o'clock, noon, receive sealed proposals containing propositions to purchase and remove the Illinois Building, situate in Jackson Park, City of Chicago, together with the fixtures and improvements thereon, excepting the electric installation, beating apparatus, filters, furniture, and exhibits, whether attached or fixed to the building or not.

On the aforesaid day, and at the said hour, and place the proposals will be opened, in the presence of the said Commissioners and all persons interested, and the proposition most favorable to the State of Illinois will be accepted. Said board, nevertheless, reserving the right to reject any and all bids.

The successful bidder must remove the said building by the first day of August, 1894, and must execute a good and sufficient bond in the sum of five thousand dollars to be filed with the proposal—or upon such further date if bid is accepted as the Commissioners may fix, conditioned that the said building shall be removed to the satisfaction of said Commissioners by said day, said person to whom said building shall be sold will be required to deposit the purchase price thereof in the State Treasury of Illinois before removing any part of the same, pursuant to act approved June 17, 1891.

By order of the Illinois Board of World's Fair Commissioners, September 28, 1893.

W. C. GARRARD, Secretary. LAFAYETTE FUNK, President.

STATE OF ILLINOIS, County of Cook, ss. In the Circuit Court of Cook County. H. W. Mahan vs. Illinois Alloy Company. Bill, Gen. No. 119,272.

To the Creditors of the Illinois Alloy Company:

You are hereby notified that on the 4th day of October, 1893, there was entered in the above entitled cause in said Court the following order to-wit:

"On motion of complainant it is hereby ordered "that each and every of the creditors of the said de"fendant, the Illinois Alloy company, file their claims "verified by affidavit with George Mills Rogers, one "of the Masters in Chancery of this Court, at his "office, Room 1310, No. 100 Washington street, Chi"cago, Cook County, Illinois, on or before the fourth "day of November, A. D., 1893, and that all creditors "failing to so file their claims with said Master in "Chancery as herein provided be forever barred "from participating in the proceeds of the assets of "the said defendant, the Illinois Alloy Company."

"It is further ordered that the receiver herein "give notice to all the creditors of said defendant, "the Illinois Alloy Company, to so file their claims "as herein provided and of the entry of this order by "mailing to each of said creditors, within five days "from the date of the entry hereof a written or "printed notice of the entry of this order containing "a copy hereof, and by advertising in The Chicago "Daily Tribune for three days."

Pursuant to this order you are therefore notified to file your claim with George Mills Rogers, Master in Chancery of the Circuit Court of Cook County, Illinois, at his office, Room 1310, No. 100 Washington street, Chicago, Illinois, on or before the fourth day of November, A. D., 1893. F. H. LONG, Receiver of the Illinois Alloy Company.

ACTIVE CABLE STOCK.

HEAVY SELLING FROM A SINGLE QUARTER THE FEATURE.

Wheat Market Was Soft, with Closing Prices the Lowest for the Day—Weak Support and Selling by Tired Longs Are Responsible—Corn Is Raided and Other Markets Suffer—May Corn Rests at 43c—Provisions Rule Firm—Business in Other Cities.

One might imagine that West Side stock grew jealous of the speculative prominence of the elevated securities for the last few days, for yesterday it jumped into public interest again in a way that has seldom been equaled in its varied career. The market was almost entirely given up to transactions in that stock, and they were on a most most liberal scale. The sales aggregated 3,343 shares. The particular feature of the market, however, was the character of this selling. The selling brokers were Meyer and Spencer & MacDonald, the former selling nearly 2,000 shares and the latter firm 750. The entire fraternity translated this as being operations in the interest of what is known as a certain national bank crowd. Two of the directors of the West Side road are directors of this particular national bank, and that fact certainly adds interest to the character of the selling.

There was some talk to the effect that there must have been a big loan called, but there is little plausibility about such a theory. This is not the time when big loans are called. The banks just now prefer to make loans rather than call them. Any one who will study the statements being made in answer to yesterday's call of the Controller will put aside any theory that yesterday's selling in the stock market was the result of called loans.

Another theory and one much more generally accepted was that this selling was of a character which indicated that the sellers knew some good reason why the stock should be sold at just this time. If the theories are correct as to the source of this selling the sellers are certainly in position to have quite advanced information and so this theory that yesterday's heavy selling had behind it some intimate inside knowledge is at least a plausible one.

The buying was scattered. It was quite largely made up of shorts who had again put out stock above 130. There was perhaps a little taking on of long stock, but there is nothing like general investment buying yet. The sharp decline tends to frighten more and more legitimate investors and to hold them back, even if they may think the stock is cheap.

The opening was a decline of 1¼ points, the first sale being at 126¼. From that it sold off steadily until 123¾ was touched. Before the close it rallied some and the last sale was at 125¼. That part of the crowd which is not distinctly bearish seems afraid for the present to buy. They recognized that the market is in the hands of good men, and they see that when 2,500 shares of stock can be thrown over from a single quarter in a day it is a good time to be careful about getting in the way of such operations. North Side stock was neglected, but remained fairly firm.

In the activity in West Side, Lake Street and its much-talked of quo warranto proceedings were almost forgotten. The quo warranto talk, however, turns out to be something more than the stock jobbing gossip which the Lake Street bulls characterized it. The suit was filed yesterday afternoon. The Lake Street people declare that it has behind it Mr. Yerkes, a charge which he will unquestionably disclaim. If it has Mr. Yerkes behind it, however, it makes it none the less likely to be embarrassing, for with his other accomplishments he is pretty generally admitted to be a good fighter. The filing of the bill was not known on the exchange during business hours, and the market this morning will feel the first effect of it. Up to the close yesterday there was still being made some strong statements to the effect that the whole thing was but a stock jobbing rumor, and that no bill would be filed. Full particulars regarding the suit will be found elsewhere in this issue. The course of Lake Street yesterday indicated that the traders had put no credence in the rumor that the bill was to be filed. The stock opened at 20 and sold up to 20½. The close was at 20¼.

Alley Elevated securities continue to work lower. The second section bonds sold down to 72½. The first mortgage 5s sold at 87, both quotations being the lowest reached on the present decline. There were but a few small sales of the stock, and 45 was maintained. The settlement price, however, was fixed at 40. Strawboard continues heavy and sold yesterday at 30, with one sale at 30½. Diamond Match declined from 116 to 115½. The breweries were lifeless.

New York exchange was quoted as follows: Chicago, 80c premium; Boston, 15@20c discount per $1,000.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—[Special.]—Nothing could better illustrate the narrowness of the present market than its course today. The greater part of professional Wall street made a holiday of it to see the international yacht race in the bay and as professional Wall street has of late been almost the only promoter of stock market activity prices barely moved. A considerable proportion of the stocks on the list were not quoted at all during the forenoon and business was confined almost wholly to the industrial group. In some of these stocks—notably General Electric—the stay at homes seemed to be indulging in a moderate covering movement; in distilling certificates there was some early selling to take profits, apparently from out of town. Reading alone among the railroad stocks showed actual strength, a result largely attributable to the fact the Philadelphia was not indulging in a yacht race. The afternoon market was all but a blank. In some quarters an effort was made to force down prices, but it was confined to a few stocks and had no influence on the general list. The day's business as a whole was quite devoid of significance.

Money on call has been easy, ranging from 2 to 2½; last loan at 2, and closing offered at 2. Prime mercantile paper 7@8 per cent. Bar silver 73¾; Mexican dollars, 58½. Sterling exchange is firmer with actual business in bankers' bills at 483¼ for sixty days and 485½ for demand. Posted rates 484@486. Commercial bills sixty days 481½@482, and demand 483¾@484¼.

Government bonds strong; State bonds dull.

Railway and miscellaneous bonds were firmer. The sales were $645,000. B. and O. 5s rose 1¼, to 108¾; St. Paul, I. and D. firsts 2, to 116; Burlington, Cedar Rapids and Northern fives 1, to 102; Reading second preferences 2, to 22@22½; do thirds 1, to 17, and West Shore coupon fours ¾, to 99¾; Alton and Terre Haute firsts fell 2, to 100; Hocking Valley 5s 1, to 84; Oregon Navigation seconds 2, to 102; and St. Paul, C. and M. 5s 1, to 98. Missouri Pacific consol 5s brought 85, seller 30, against 99½ the last sale.

WHAT TRADE GOSSIPS WERE SAYING.

Interesting Bits of Information Picked Up on the Floor of the Exchange.

The markets opened a trifle heavy all around, with prices steady to a shade lower. Late in the day there was a general decline in grains which started in the corn pit. Provisions, however, ruled firm and a trifle higher. The wheat market held fairly steady until near the close, when there was a pretty general scramble to unload, and the closing price was the lowest for the day. There is some disappointment that so little contract wheat is taken here for export. An explanation of that which is offered is that the wheat in the Northwest this year grades extraordinarily high and a decided preference is being shown for the Duluth grades for export as against the corresponding grades here. The feeling after the close was a trifle easy. Puts on December wheat sold at 66⅝@66¾c and calls at 67⅝@67¾c. Puts on May corn at 43⅛@43¼c and calls at 43⅝@43¾c.

Estimated receipts for today: Wheat, 167 cars; corn, 375 cars; oats, 236 cars; and 18,000 hogs.

It was reported that a cargo of barley was being loaded to aggregate when finished nearly 116,000 bu, the largest cargo ever clearing this port.

The Cincinnati Price Current reports the packing of the West for the week at 180,000 hogs, against 165,000 for the corresponding week last year and 155,000 for the corresponding week in 1891. The total packing since March 1 is 6,025,000 hogs, against 6,955,000 to date last year.

F. G. Logan & Co. received the following from a Minneapolis correspondent: "Have talked with a number of firms here as well as elevator people. They all seem to think that farmers will not ship more wheat than they are compelled to at present, although receipts may keep up for awhile on account of shipments by elevator people."

Minneapolis and Duluth receipts of wheat were again heavy, the former reporting 472 cars and the latter 447 cars, making together 919, compared with 904 cars a year ago.

In its weekly crop summary the Price Current says: "Favorable week for autumn seeding, the rains facilitating operations where delayed and helping grain already sown and brightening the general outlook. There is little inclination yet to sell wheat in the winter grain regions. Corn is yielding up to previous indications or better."

The oats market here was relatively stronger than in the East, with the weakness at New York due to heavy receipts. The demand from the interior was good.

Seaboard advices were to the effect that foreign buying of wheat for shipment was encouraging, and that purchases of the last two days at New York and Baltimore constituted the first new business of that kind of any consequence for nearly three months.

The National Stockman and Farmer of Oct. 5 regarding the cloverseed crop said: "Reports from all parts of the country indicate an average crop. In some sections the yield has been much better than it was a year ago, while in other places a light crop has been harvested. The high prices for seed which prevailed last season are making those who have to invest this year a little anxious about the price which will be placed upon the new crop. A correspondent from West Virginia states that sellers there are asking from $10 to $11 per bu. The crop in Ohio is being picked up by dealers at about $5 per bu.

A BEAR DAY ON 'CHANGE.

Wheat Receives Poor Support—A Slump in Corn—Provisions Firm.

It was a heavy wheat market. The net decline for the day was ⅜c. Curb prices indicated a lower market before the opening and the first sale was off ⅛c for December, the opening being 67¾c. The selling was made up partly of some belated longs who did not get the news of the break Wednesday in time to get out. A good many shorts were satisfied with the profits they had and took in wheat. The trading was largely local. It was a holiday in St. Louis and New York forgot the wheat market in its interest in the yacht race. The news was again of a rather bearish character. Cables were a shade heavier and receipts continued large. After the first rally, which came as the result of considerable short covering and carried the price up to 68⅛c, the market sagged steadily and just before the close it was the weakest. The heaviness in the coarser grains contributed considerably to this final weakness and the closing price of 67¼c was the lowest for the day. Chicago receipts were 151,000 bu, against 358,000 a year ago and shipments were 281,000, against 245,000 a year ago. Flour receipts here were 19,000 brls, and shipments only 5,109, against 15,378 last year. The receipts at Duluth continue heavy, being 447 cars, against 362 last year. At Minneapolis 472 cars were received, against 542 last year. The total receipts at Western primary points were 827,000 bu. Export clearances of wheat and flour brought some cheer to the bulls, they being 595,000 bu. Baltimore reported particularly heavy exports of flour, as well as considerable wheat. Logan was probably the chief buyer, but Schwartz-Dupee and Condon were also heavy buyers. Gifford, Baldwin-Farnham, and Kennett-Hopkins were among the sellers. Partridge was credited with covering some shorts, but he was a seller after the close. Sales to go to store were at 65@65⅛c for No. 2 red winter, 59@60c for No. 3 do, and 57½@63½c for No. 3 spring. Free on board sales were at 58@65c for No. 3 spring, and 61@62c for No. 3 red winter.

Corn was devoid of special interest till the last half hour of the session, when decided weakness was developed under a sudden impulse to sell on the part of tired longs. The deferred futures rested ⅞@1c lower. Prices began the downward movement on heavy selling credited to Schwartz-Dupee, and immediately the firm feeling appearing about the middle of the session vanished under large offerings from all sides. The market opened a shade easier, but when wheat showed firmness later corn followed suit. Receipts were 31 cars under the light estimate of 350 cars, at 319 cars, while shipments were large at 541,957 bu with the out-inspection also encouraging to the bulls at 437,000 bu. On the other hand, the Price Current reported the corn yield up to and possibly better than expectations, with a heavy falling off in the demand for corn for feeding, due to a marked improvement in pasturage. Although charters were reported for 520,000 bu and the estimate for today was moderate at 236 cars, there was a latent weak feeling which rendered the market in poor condition to meet the persistent selling toward the close. Armour and Harvey bought October and May early. Outside markets were steady to firm, and cables came in with spot firm and futures steady at ¼d lower. Exports were fair at 83,607 bu. Receipts in the West were 458,797 bu, and shipments 594,697 bu. May closed 1c lower, at 43c, the lowest for the day, after selling at 44c. December rested at 39⅞c bid, or ⅞c lower, and October at 39⅝c, with cash steady under a good demand and moderate offerings. Sales to go to store were at 40⅜@40⅝c for No. 2 grades, and 40@40⅛c for No. 3 grades. Free on board sales were at 39½@40c for No. 4, 40¼@41c for No. 3, and 40½@40¾c for do white.

In the oats market business was fair, while an easier feeling prevailed, owing to increased offerings. The slump in corn affected this market late in the day, causing a decline of ⅜@½c, with offerings heavy. At the close prices were ¼@½c lower. Although receipts were less than expected and moderate at 226 cars, exports were light, and withdrawals from store less than 150,000 bu. November closed ⅜c lower at 28⅛c, and December declined ¼c, resting at 28⅜c. May sold at 31⅞@31¾c, and closed ⅜c lower at the inside. There was a fair demand for carlots in store and to go there, with prices a shade higher. Samples were in good demand for shipment, and the market was firmer, owing to moderate offerings. Free on board sales were at 28¾@29¼c for No. 3 white, 26⅝@28⅞c for No. 2, and 30⅛@30¾c for do white.

Rye ruled steady but quiet. While the demand for cash was only fair, arrivals were light at 6 cars. No. 2 in store sold sparingly at 46c, a former price, and by sample at 47c. Futures were dull. In exchange October went at 47c and December at 50c. The barley market was somewhat improved in tone. The demand was fair and the offerings lighter. Medium grades were in better demand and sold at prices a shade higher. The out-inspection was 57,314 bu. Common grade sold at 35@40c. Fair to good sold at 41@48c, and choice at 50@55c.

Millstuffs were dull with the demand light and prices lower. Sales of bran were at $10.00@11.75, and middlings at $12.50@13.25.

Provisions were more active, and prices advanced to a lighter run of hogs at the yards than was expected with prices higher. However, the volume of business was restricted on account of light offerings. The Price Current reported the packing in the West at 180,000 hogs, against 165,000 for the corresponding week last year. The market improved to a moderate degree owing to buying orders from the outside for the January product, while the packers sold at the advance, but bid up prices at the same time. The Chicago Packing company, Roloson, and Wolff bid the stuff up. Later on there was a slight reaction, with prices steady at the close. Foreign markets ruled easy on a tame demand. The export inquiry was moderate, and the inquiry for shipment was fair. October ribs rested at $8.80, a former price, after selling at $8.95, with January 10@12½c higher, at $7.37½@7.40, and cash nominally $9.45@9.50. January lard closed 10c higher, at $8.30 sellers, and October closed with a similar advance at $9.50 bid, cash closing about 10@12½c over this. January pork sold at $14.00@14.25, and closed 22½c higher, at $14.17½, with October 25c higher, at $16.50, and cash quotably $16.95@17.00. Cash sales included 200 brls mess pork part at $17.00, 55,000 lbs and 100 tcs lard, part at $9.50@9.70, and 50,000 lbs short clear sides at $10.50.

The flaxseed market was firm, and cash advanced ¼@½c under a good demand, especially on local account. The inquiry for shipment was fair, and charters were eventually made for 90,000 bu. No. 1 on track went at $1.03@1.03½, the outside being for cars in special location. In speculative trading December alone was active, with sales at $1.05¾, and $1.05¼ bid at the close. Receipts were 120 cars; shipments, 3,117 bu. Timothy was steady, with a ready demand for cash, and although offerings were increased former prices prevailed. Fair to good ranged at $3.10@3.22½, and choice at $3.30. Nothing was done in futures, with October nominally $3.35. Clover seed ruled dull and easy. Cash sold at $8.60@9.00. October was quotably $9.30, with December and January $9.45.

In lake freights there was a good demand for tonnage, with offerings moderate on the basis of 2¼c for wheat and 2c for corn to Buffalo. Charters were made for 122,000 bu wheat, 520,000 bu corn, 100,000 bu oats, and 90,000 bu flaxseed.

SOUTH WATER STREET MARKETS.

Peaches, Grapes, and Poultry Plentiful—Business in Product Moderate.

Receipts of peaches and grapes were large and a moderate business was transacted at lower prices.

Consignments of early Florida oranges were received. The havoc worked by the recent storms among the Louisiana orange groves is said to have been immense. Commission merchants estimate that 80 per cent of the crop was destroyed. A few of these oranges boxed in Florida style were received, but they were declared to be unmerchantable. Receipts of vegetables were fair. Complaints were made that business was slow. Prices weakened for some varieties. Receipts of butter were large and the inquiry was moderate. Eggs were firmer.

The following quotations are for round lots of merchantable quality and usually from first hands:

Today's receipts are estimated at 18,000 hogs, 7,000 cattle, and 6,000 sheep, against 21,573 hogs, 6,791 cattle, and 7,218 sheep one week ago, and 22,618 hogs, 11,320 cattle, and 6,813 sheep one year ago.

CATTLE—Choice native cattle sold generally 10c higher, medium ruled slow, and thin steers with any quality sold readily to feeders if too thin for beef. There was a class of 1,250 and 1,500-lb cattle selling around $4.40@5.15, which sold poorest of anything on the list. The reason was that they were not any better for making beef than Western rangers worth $3.90@4.25. There were liberal offers of these medium to pretty good cattle. The choicest beeves and those bordering on the feeder style were in better demand. Some fancy cattle sold at $5.75@5.90, the highest since June 1 last, when $6.00 was reached. Quotations:

Fancy native steers, 1,550@1,750 lbs	$5.60@5.90
Good to choice steers, 1,200@1,400 lbs	4.60@5.30

Bank of England Reserves Decreased—Prices of Provisions at Liverpool.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—The Bank of England reserve decreased this week £1,193,000, of which £215,000 was in gold exported, the details being £103 in bar gold, and £61,000 in German coin sold, £40,000 exported to Bucharest, £50,000 to Germany, £25,000 to Egypt. Fifty-two thousand pounds imported from Australia, £6,000 from Paris, and £6,000 from Portugal. There is a large increase in government securities in order to pay the dividend on consols today. Silver was unchanged and steady; rupee paper was down to 65½ on a slight decline in the Indian price. The new South Wales loan was applied for nearly three times over and it is quoted at 2½ premium. It is a genuine success. The stock markets have been steady today. Americans close dull.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 5.—PROVISIONS—Closing—Pork—Demand moderate. Lard—Spot, demand moderate; futures, no demand. BREADSTUFFS—Wheat—Demand poor. Flour—Demand poor. Corn—Spot, steady, fair demand; futures steady, fair demand; October, 4s 1¾d; November, 4s 2¼d; December, 4s 3d.

PRODUCE MARKETS EAST AND WEST.

Cotton, Coffee, and Grain Movements, Together with Closing Quotations.

New York, Oct. 5.—[Special.]—COTTON—Advanced 2 points on November, but the other months opened lower. The list declined 10 to 11 points, recovered fully half of this, and then reacted and closed steady at a net decline of 9 to 11 points, with sales of 19,500 bales. Liverpool advanced 4 to 5 points, closing quiet at a net rise of 2½ to 3 points, with spot sales of 12,000 bales at 1 1-16d advance. Manchester yarns were in moderate demand and cloths steady. New Orleans advanced 4 points, but lost this and declined 9 points, sales there 52,200 bales. October closed there at 7.78c and December 7.94c. Marion, S. C., Oct. 2.—"This section will not get over half of last year's cotton crop. The fields are bare of cotton—in fact they look like the dead of winter. I am 56 years old and I have never seen such a failure." Rome, Ga., Oct. 2.—"The first killing frost will have a good deal to do with the size of the crop. Crop reports coming in indicate a crop not larger than last year's, but as they have always been exaggerated in the past at this season of the year we hope they are so now. It does not look possible now that we shall have an average crop." The receipts of the ports were 32,185, against 22,726 this day last week and 25,650 last year. Total thus far this week, 184,087 bales, against 133,563 during the same time last week. Spot prices were 1-16c lower. Middling uplands, 8 3-5c. Sales of 270 bales for spinning and 300 on speculation. New crop offered at ⅛c under old. The exports from the ports today were 5,873 bales to the continent and 13,346 to Great Britain. Memphis received 1,757, against 1,038 this day last week and 853 last year, and St. Louis 463, against 201 this day last week and 10 last year. There was an advance of ⅛c at Galveston and Wilmington, 3-16c at Savannah, 1-16c to ⅛c, at Charleston, and 1-16c at Memphis, Augusta, and Norfolk. New Orleans was easier but without quotable change. Galveston sold 5,036 bales; New Orleans, 3,850; Augusta, 2,801; and Savannah, 2,175. Today's sales:

COFFEE—Advanced 5 to 20 points, closing steady, with sales of 7,750 bags. It is reported that Rio Janeiro is still being bombarded. Quantity afloat from Brazil is said to be 227,000 bags. If this is true the United States visible supply is 322,390 bags, against 570,000 bags a year ago. It is said that firm offers have been made for shipment in November and December at easier prices and of afloat coffee at 17c cost and freight. The world's visible supply is 2,811,000 bags, a falling off of 405,000 bags during September. Havre ¼f higher. Hamburg advanced ¼@¾ pfennig. Santos quiet and unchanged. Receipts, 9,000 bags. United States warehouse deliveries were 8,942 bags. Rio Janeiro, Oct. 4.—"Receipts at Rio since September, 586,155 bags; stock in Rio Oct. 1, 182,210 bags; shipments from Rio to United States during September, 162,702 bags; to Europe during September, 86,700 bags." A private cable from Rio received here this afternoon says: "All banks are closed and business suspended." Rio on the spot was steady. No. 7, 18¾c. Sales of 500 bags No. 7 at 18¾c; 5,000 bags Nos. 6, 7, and 8 to arrive at 17¾c, and 17⅛c for No. 7; also 500 bags Central American on private terms. Today's sales:

SUGAR—Raw firm but dull; 96 test, 3⅛c. Refined firm and fairly active.

Cotton seed oil quiet, firm; crude, 34@36c; yellow, 40c.

DRY GOODS—Demand seems to decline more than to improve, at least as regards the interests of jobbers. Exporters and some of the manufacturing trade are buying fairly well certain descriptions of brown and bleached goods which, with deliveries on certain transactions in general, makes up a relatively fair business for this period. It is apparent, however, that, as a rule, buyers are again more cautious in placing orders ahead of actual needs. The tone of the market is not weak, but rather dull, and nothing definite pertains to the future. At the same time prices were so low, below the cost of manufacture in many instances, that a fairly steady market seems assured. Little is yet doing in white goods or other articles for the spring season.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 5.—WHEAT—The opening this morning was weak, but there was demand sufficient to put a little spirit into the early trading, as some of the shorts were suspicious that a reaction might set in and leave them out in the cold. Their buying helped matters for the first hour, and the price held around the close of yesterday. There was also some buying against puts. The general situation had not changed over night. There is no speculation in the crowd at the moment, and with liberal receipts, an increasing visible, lower cables, and good weather in the winter wheat States there was not a thing to tie to for the holder of wheat. The tendency is downward, and this drift is somewhat hastened by the short selling of Pardridge, who has apparently taken up his old hand for another season's play. After the rally from the opening had spent itself there was a steady decline until near the close, when the break was more pronounced and scalpers hastened to throw their holdings onto the market. The close was weak and somewhat excited. December opened at 61c and closed at 60⅛c. On the rally the price was run up to 61⅞c. The close was lowest. May opened at 68⅜c and closed at 68⅛c after selling up to 69½c. Scalping shorts were the principal traders all through. Cash wheat was lower and there was no disposition on the part of the millers or the elevators to crowd buying except at concessions, as it was evident that while the weakness prevailed it was useless to hurry purchases. There were 157 cars of No. 1 Northern sold at 59¾c. Coarse grains were slow and not in as heavy supply as yesterday. Flour—First patents, $3.60@4.05; bakers', $1.95@2.30; low grades, $1.20@1.45. Bran and shorts—Bran, $10.00; shorts, $10.75@11.25. The market is firm and demand is good. Corn—The market is steady; receipts are light. No. 3, 37@37½c; No. 3 yellow, 37½c. Oats—New No. 3 white, 26@26½c; No. 3, 25@26c. Barley—Nominal; No. 3, 36@43c.

Duluth, Minn., Oct. 5.—WHEAT—The market opened weak this morning, nominally ⅛c to ⅜c lower than last night's close, but the first trading in cash wheat was at unchanged figures, while both December and May started at ⅛c down. The early market ruled active, with advancing tendencies. There were large sales of cash wheat and of wheat to arrive, the latter at 1c below December delivery. Trading in futures was mainly for December and May, and fairly active at steadily advancing prices up to noon, when ⅛c advance had been secured. The afternoon was weak and lower. Cash wheat lost ⅜c. There was considerable trading in December at rapidly declining prices. The close was ⅜c lower than yesterday for cash and October, ⅛c lower for December, and ⅜@⅛c lower for May. Following were the closing prices: No. 1 hard, cash, 62⅛c; October, 62⅛c; December, 64c; May, 71⅛c. No. 1 Northern, cash, 61⅛c; October, 61⅛c; December, 63c; May, 70⅛c. No. 2 Northern, cash, 58⅛c; No. 3, 53⅛c; rejected, 45⅛c. On track: No. 1 Northern, to arrive, 61⅛c; rye, 42c; No. 3 barley, 36c. Car inspection today, 40 cars, of which 21 graded No. 1 hard. Receipts—Wheat, 215,537 bu; barley, 2,138 bu; flax, 3,217 bu. Shipments—Wheat, 262,663 bu; flax, 14,887 bu. Cars on track—447; last year, 362.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 5.—GRAIN—Wheat sold by sample generally at yesterday's prices. Most of the No. 2 hard was perhaps ½c lower. There was a good demand and the offerings were quite moderate. Shipping demand was poor. For No. 2 hard out of store 58c was bid. A few small sales at a better price than that were reported. Corn was firm as a rule, though Memphis prices were ½c lower. The offerings were light. Demand for oats continues good. There were fair offerings today. Receipts of grain today were 115 cars wheat, 28 cars corn, 15 cars oats, 2 cars rye, 1 car flax, and 8 cars hay. The elevators took in today 64,964 bu wheat, 2,441 bu corn, and 1,225 bu rye; loaded out 71,536 bu wheat, leaving in store 443,191 bu wheat, 13,517 bu corn, 16,504 bu oats, and 6,718 bu rye.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 5.—GRAIN—Wheat steady; No. 2 red, spot and October, 68½@68⅝c; December, 71⅛@71⅜c; May, 78⅞@79c asked; steamer No. 2 red, 65⅛@65⅜c; receipts, 21,175 bu; shipments, 16,000 bu; stock, 248,438 bu; sales, 305,000 bu; milling wheat, by sample, 68@69c. Corn quiet; mixed, spot, 48⅛@48⅛c; October, 48@48⅛c; year, 46⅛@47c; receipts, 37,629 bu; shipments, 17,143 bu; stock, 241,804 bu; sales, 6,000 bu; white corn, by sample, 53@55c; yellow do, 52@53c. Oats quiet and steady; No. 2 white Western, 36½@37c; No. 3 do, 34@36c; receipts, 9,983 bu; stock, 168,504 bu. Rye neglected; No. 2, 52@53c; receipts, 3,079 bu; stock, 29,146 bu. Grain freights dull and unchanged.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 5.—GRAIN—Wheat—Closed weak and ⅛c lower; No. 2 red October, 68⅛c bid, 68⅛c asked; November, 69⅛c bid, 70c asked; December, 71⅛c bid, 71⅛c asked; January, 73c bid, 73⅛c asked. Corn—Half cent lower; No. 2 mixed October, 48c bid, 48⅛c asked; November, 47⅛c bid, 48⅛c asked; December and January, 47c bid, 47⅛c asked. Oats—Quiet but firm; No. 2 white, October, 36@36⅛c; November, 36⅛@36⅜c; December and January, 36⅛@37c. Receipts—Wheat, 2,700 bu; corn, 3,300 bu; oats, 5,900 bu. Shipments—Wheat, 1,100 bu; corn, 23,200 bu; oats, 12,300 bu.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 5.—GRAIN—Spring wheat dull; No. 1 hard, 70⅛c; No. 1 Northern, 68c; winter wheat weak; No. 2 red, 68⅛c; No. 1 white, 76c. Corn easier; No. 2 yellow, 45⅛c; No. 2 corn, 44⅛c. Oats scarce; No. 2 white, 35⅛c; No. 3 white, 34⅛c; No. 2 mixed, 33⅛c. Barley strong; Western, 48@67c; State, 68@70c. Rye strong; No. 2, 54c. Receipts—Wheat, 214,000 bu; corn, 25,000 bu. Shipments—Wheat, 240,000 bu; corn, 100,000 bu.

Toledo, O., Oct. 5.—GRAIN—Wheat—Receipts, 35,000 bu; shipments, 45,000; dull, weak; cash and October, 64⅛c; December, 67⅛c; May, 75⅛c. Corn—Receipts, 15,000 bu; shipments, 37,000 bu; dull, no trading. Oats—Receipts, 5,000 bu; shipments, 1,000 bu; steady; cash, 29⅛c. Rye—Nominal. CLOVERSEED—Firm; cash and October, $5.60; November, $5.70; January, $5.90; February, $5.97½; March, $6.07½.

WHISKY—Market steady on basis of $1.12 for high wines; receipts, none; shipments, 912 brls.

AFFAIRS IN THE INSURANCE WORLD.

People's of New Hampshire in Bad Shape—Likely to Reinsure.

The local representatives of the People's Insurance company of Manchester, N. H., are still without any official information regarding the company's affairs. There is no prospect of the company continuing in business. The only question is regarding its ability to reinsure. The Illinois business could be reinsured readily if there is enough money to pay for it. Half a dozen companies represented locally are figuring on the possibilities of getting it, but it is not at all likely the business of a single State will be reinsured by itself. The good business of Illinois would be expected to carry business of a poorer character in a reinsurance deal.

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—There has been quite a scramble among insurance companies during the last twenty-four hours for business in New Hampshire. The moment the news went out that the People's was hopelessly gone representatives of the different companies were dispatched to pick up their share of the large number of risks which will have to be reinsured in some solvent company. In Massachusetts there are policies of the People's in force aggregating over $4,000,000 and over $2,000,000 in Boston. The Boston agents have notified the holders of policies to take out new insurance in other companies immediately, as in case of fire the result to the policyholders would be disastrous.

Loss and Insurance at Fulton, Ark.

FULTON, Ark., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—The losses and insurance in the fire Tuesday night are: Taylor Store company, on building and stock, $12,000; insurance, $3,000; William Fried, dealer in general merchandise, $5,000; insurance, $2,000; Charles Schwartz, general merchandise, $8,000; insurance, $5,000; John Tyler, residence, $700; no insurance; John Paxton, groceries, $800; no insurance; Thompson & Wilson, saloon, $800; no insurance; J. E. Johnson, on building, $500; no insurance; J. Williamson, groceries, $2,500; no insurance; Rosenberg & Goldsmith, about $4,000; insured; William Temple, plantation supplies, $10,000; thought to be fully insured; Bryant & Brothers, druggists, $800; no insurance; Dr. W. A. Bryant, residence, $600; no insurance.

Anti-Rebate Law Sustained.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 5.—[Special.]—The validity of the State law prohibiting foreign insurance companies in Maryland from making rebates in premiums to get business was sustained by Judge Harlan today. It had been wrongly supposed that the law was in conflict with a United States statute and a year ago an indictment against an agent was quashed on that ground. The Baltimore Life Underwriters' Association, as a test case, proceeded against J. H. Fry Grimmel, agent of the Mutual Life of New York, who pleaded guilty.

General Insurance News.

The old Chicago Board of Underwriters, under which the fire patrol of the city is managed, held its quarterly meeting yesterday.

The New York Sun says: "Lawyer Eugene Frazer has, at the instance of certain stockholders, been investigating the accounts of the American Steam Boiler Insurance company, and said yesterday he had discovered a deficit of $511,257." The officers of the American Casualty, successor to the American Steam Boiler, deny the existence of the alleged deficit.
